THREE CLUBS JOIN IN SHOOT

Baker, Enterprise and La Grande clubs have accepted the invitation to join in the Portland Oregonian's telegraphic shoot, commencing in an hour and a half by Secretary Klusdy, of the Wing, Pin and Fleetfoot club of La Grande.

In connection with the shoot the district organizations plan a tournament in Eastern Oregon and will meet here tomorrow morning to arrange the schedule and participate in a practice shoot at the Long Tree traps.

Portland and Hamilton shooters are also expected to be in attendance.

The club invites all local shooters, who are or will become members of the Wing, Pin and Fleetfoot club to the tryout tomorrow.

JEW'S SMARTER, FORD DECLARES

NEW YORK, (AP)—Henry Ford says in a copyrighted interview to Barnet A. Phillips that the Jews are a good influence and because they are so much smarter than "the boob Gentiles," it makes the latter "hustle to keep up."

"The Jews are not a menace, on the whole they are a good influence," Mr. Ford told Andrew Wing, managing editor of the magazine, "They are so much smarter than the boob Gentiles that it makes them hustle to keep up. That is where the good comes in. It serves people right if they let the Jews work them."

Opposes Money Power

Mr. Ford opposes most in "the international Jewish money power that is met in every war," which he says, is "the chief element in the Jewish question, because the international money power is Jewish."

"No matter what happens to the nation in a war, the money power always wins," asserts the manufacturer. "No war starts without it and every war stops when it says so. That is what I oppose—a power that has no country and can order young men of all countries out to death."

"Most people who talk about world peace never penetrate to the cause of war. The pacific organizations and others are just dabbling about the surface. As long as the international money power constitutes the invisible government of the backward nations and as long as it has so strong a hand upon the politics of the greater nationalities, peace is impossible."

The Chief Element

"The profits of the international money power are not produced by peaceful industry, but by war; and until we dig these influences out and expose them and neutralize them, world peace cannot be hoped for. That is a nutshell in the chief element in the Jewish question, for the international money power is Jewish."

"They have overplayed their hand, as they always do. It is destined, it seems, that such influences should always overplay their hands at a critical moment. Their success in Great Britain and the United States occurred just as they thought they were sitting on top of the world."

Mr. Ford adds that "the Jewish question is large and too many people are afraid to study it."

"Neither the Jews nor the others benefit by concealment," he concludes.

Diet Figures in Trade to

HEALTHY FOOD BEYOND CAUSES BALTIMORE, (AP)—Johns Hopkins specialists are conducting experiments which they believe will have a "profound influence on the breakfast table of the nation."

They are seeking the cause of decay of the teeth. Through the feeding of rats in a laboratory, Dr. Charles J. Gricover already has determined that diet is one of the chief factors of decay but the fundamental reason still is unknown.

No one knows what is the chemical or other agency which first breaks through the enamel and starts the trouble. If it is a chemical it is not known whether it is taken into the mouth from the outside, produced by a germ, or is a product of the body itself.

EGENE, Ore.—The new state highway bridge over the McKenzie river a short distance below the old Hendricks bridge near Watersville was opened Wednesday and will continue to be used according to members of the Lane county court. The Union Bridge company of Portland had the contract and work was started early last summer. The structure was paid for jointly by Lane county and the state.

PITCHERS GET MORE BINGLES

CHICAGO (AP)—About this time of year there is always some genius who bobs his head over a big wood burner and points out why the rules of baseball should be changed so as to relieve the pitcher of his burn at bat.

The thought is not always to save the pitcher, but is based on the belief that when the twirler steps to the plate he usually takes three swings or pops out.

The records of the last season, however, reveal numerous instances in which the pitcher's bat was considered potent enough to be called on in a pinch.

Walter Johnson, veteran twirler of the Washington Senators, frequently was called upon to pinch hit and in one game he smashed out a homer which won the game. Possibly the most striking example of a pitcher's effectiveness, however, is that of Burleigh Grimes of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who in a game September 22 against the Chicago Cubs, hit into seven outs, causing two double plays and a triple killing.

On the other hand Grimes, two weeks previously, actually drove in every run his team made and won his game.

Darry Vance also drove in all the runs his club made in a game last season which went into Brooklyn's winning column.

Two pitchers, Chester Falk, of the St. Louis Browns, and Johnson battled above 400 in 1925. Falk hit 625 in eight times at bat, making five hits. Johnson went to bat 97 times in 24 games.

As a pinch hitter on April 23, Johnson socked a double. On May 19, again pinch hitting, he won the game by pounding out a homer with a man on base. It was Johnson who deprived Joe Bush of a no-hit game on August 27. Walter got the only blow of the day off "Bullet Joe" and it was a double.

Wallowa River at Lake To Be Open to Anglers

A message to John C. MacPherson from State Game Warden K. F. Averill states that despite the report in the newspapers recently that the Wallowa river from Wallowa lake to the falls would be closed to fishing for 10 years, such is not the case.

The warden says that the river will be open as heretofore. This proposition does not affect other streams named in the report.

The husband of Mrs. Anthony Raffi (left) and the wife of Abraham Uthrow (right) trailed their mates from New York to Philadelphia, where they had them arrested on Mann act charges. Uthrow was permitted by Raffi in the court corridor. Mrs. Raffi preferred jail to bail offered by her husband.

IMBLER TEAMS WIN TWO TILTS

The Imbler high school basketball teams scored a double victory over Haines high school last night at Imbler when the boys won 13 to 12 and the girls were victorious by a 27 to 4 score.

The boys' game was hard fought throughout and during the first half, the visitors had the better of it. At the beginning of the second half, with the score Haines 9, Imbler 7, the home team pulled and scored six points while Haines could score but three. Jimmy Rosenbaum, of La Grande, referred.

Sunday is no longer the Lord's day. It's the Ford's day.

That is now labor.

A bill player is worth all he can get. If holding out enables him to do any way increase his compensation he has profited thereby. That's that.

It cost him something like $200,000 to sign the club up for the season of 1912. That was quite an increase.

As is often the case, the world champs of 1912 didn't do so well in 1913. The attendance fell off considerably and the club didn't make any money.

"When I signed the team up for 1912 all the boys had as their talking point the money we made the previous year. However, none suggested taking a cut in 1913 on the theory we didn't make any money in 1912," laughingly explained Jimmie.

No, sir! This thing of winning a big league pennant isn't all that it is cracked up to be. If in doubt, interview club presidents that have won one or more.

WINTER AFFAIR.

The holdout proposition is largely a winter affair. When reporting time rolls around a majority of the athletes lose the determination to retire unless their terms are granted.

It is much easier to sign up any one contacted with baseball just before training time or the opening of the season than it is with the snow on the ground.

Incidentally the major leagues have tightened up the strings by refusing to let a player report for spring training who has failed to sign.

In the old days they used to drop in at the training camps and talk it over at the club's expense.

Billy Evans Says:

Winning a major league pennant carries with it plenty of woes.

Greene Clark Griffith of the Washington club, champion of the American league, is already experiencing some of it.

According to wire reports Manager Harris is still among those un-signed. Likewise several of the star players are not satisfied with the terms offered.

Winning a pennant is all very fine but there is a reaction that makes it rather costly from several angles.

When a club finishes first, it has nothing to shoot at. It must repeat to satisfy fandom. Finishing in any other position you always have one or more positions to shoot at to better your previous showing.

The fans quit much quicker on a championship club that suddenly goes to pieces than a team that isn't going anywhere. The case of the New York Yanks of last season is a proof of it.

The question of finances often has something to do with a club's showing. A dissatisfied player seldom gives his best, for he lacks the winning spirit.

ANNUAL HOLDOUTS.

Back in 1912 the Boston Red Sox, then presided over by Jimmy McAleer, won the American league pennant and the world series from the New York Giants.

In those days salaries had not reached the big figures that the stars now draw. As I recall it, Jimmy McAleer told me that the salary list of his club was around $100,000 in 1912.

After winning the world championship, players who had been easy to sign the year previous were the most determined sort of hold-outs.

It cost him something like $200,000 to sign the club up for the season of 1913. That was quite an increase.

As is often the case, the world champs of 1912 didn't do so well in 1913. The attendance fell off considerably and the club didn't make any money.

Two-Sport Star

Harry Wilson is one of those two-sport stars you hear about every now and then. In the fall he shines on the West Coast football eleven, playing halfback. During the winter months he plays guard with the basketball quintet. But whether it be as a fiddler or cager, Wilson rates one of the best in the east.

Some of the steepest mountains are found on the "load curve." This is a chart kept by electric light and power companies to record the ups and downs in the use of service. For example: It is mid-afternoon. A storm breaks. Darkness spreads. Suddenly you and everyone else turn on the lights. That means we must be ready to jump from small load to full load, from a valley to a mountain peak, and have the capacity to serve all without interruption. Men and machines click to attention at the click of your switch. It's service.
