ROSEBURG, Ore. — David W. James, 14, son of Mrs. Dora James of this city, was shot accidentally while playing with a shotgun at his mother's home. The full lead struck him in the head, killing him instantly.

The boy was born in Texas and came to Roseburg with his parents about six years ago. His father died two years ago. Besides his mother, three brothers and a sister survive.

You Poor Kid, Why Are You So Skinny?
Don't you mother know that Cod Liver Oil will put pounds of good healthy flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar-coated tablet form now so that you won't have to take the nasty, fishy-tasting oil that is apt to upset your delicate stomach.

Tell her that McCoys' Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are chock-full of vitalizing vitamins and are the greatest flesh producer and health builder she can find.

One sickly thin kid, aged 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months. She must ask Red Cross Drug Store, Glass Drugs, or any druggist for McCoys' Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents—as pleasant to take as candy—and if at the end of 30 days if she isn't glad she bought them your druggist is authorized to return her money.—Adv.

Morgan Broke Consecutive Hit Record of Tris Speaker
CHICAGO (AP)—Charley Morgan, a catcher on the Macon team in the South Atlantic League, put himself in a class with the best of them last season when he smashed the record for consecutive hitting which Tris Speaker hung up in 1920. Speaker's record was eleven straight and Morgan turned in an even dozen in a row.

The Macon backstop started his run in a game on May 31, when he hit safely in his last two trips to the plate. In his next game he got four hits out of four at-bats, duplicated the stunt in the next game, made a hit in his one time up in a fourth contest and then poked one on his first time up in the fifth game.

La Grande Theatres

Valentino Here In Romantic Comedy At Sherrys
English Valentino, "The Eagle" his Best United Artists Corporation production, opened at the Sherry theatre today.

The first and most important thing to say about "The Eagle" is that it is great entertainment. It is a fast moving compound of comedy, thrills and romance.

Valentino makes his first appearance as a Cossack Lieutenant. Believe it or not, he runs away when the gorgeous and multi-talented Carmen tries to make advances to him. She signs his death warrant, and a great struggle to his father, cause the young man to try to win a girl who earns the title of the Eagle because of his wife and mysterious movements. Interest in the romance is heightened by the fact that the hero's sweetheart is the daughter of his mortal enemy.

"The Eagle" is a decided departure for Valentino. The story has more action and more comedy than any of his previous vehicles. It will take rank with his best pictures. The star plays his role with zest and artistry. And he never looked handsomer!

Rudy is to be congratulated on having Clarence Brown for director and Hans Kray for scenarist. They have built a photoplay that moves and entertains.

Vilma Hanky, the Hungarian beauty, who Samuel Goldwyn discovered in Europe and loaned for this production, is not only lovely but has real talent. Louise Dresser is excellent as the Cossack. Other parts are capably played by Albert Conti, a newcomer, James Marcus, Carrie Clark Ward and a host of other well-known performers.

Officers Find Big Still Running
MAHESHFIELD, Ore. — County officers and a federal agent found a large still when they raided a plant on the Fairview road north of Coquille. The plant was running but the operators escaped. A large quantity of liquor was seized and the plant was demolished.

Very few stockings have any cotton in them these days as far as we can see.

WOMAN NOTED FOR WRITINGS

DUBLIN (AP)—The dominant passion for her native country of Mrs. Alice Sophia Stouford Green, distinguished woman of the Irish Free State, has led her to do more than any living writer to revive its historic past.

Notwithstanding her advanced years—she is described as "seventy-seven years young"—Mrs. Green is active and prominent in the senate, of which she is one of the original members. Within the last year she has made her most notable contribution to the study of Irish history—"The Foundation of the Irish State."

Mrs. Green speaks but rarely in the senate but is constant in attendance and her advice often is sought. She has just presented to the senate a silver and enamel enamel or ancient Irish design to contain the official roll of senators. By its presence in front of the chairman it marks like a mace the official character of a session.

Throughout her life she has been at the center of things in politics and, numbered among her friends are eminent British and Irish political chiefs. She has enjoyed the confidence of the leaders of the new Irish movement, and during the final struggle with the British, her house in Dublin was used to enable Griffith and Collins to meet the journalists.

Mrs. Green is a daughter of the famous Irish Archdeacon Stouford of Kells, County Meath, whose skilled counsel in the work of disestablishing the Irish Episcopal church in 1869 was acknowledged by Gladstone. She married the English historian John Richard Green in 1877 and assisted him in his work on the history of the English people.

One of the most brilliant of her writings is the Epilogue she contributed to that history, bringing it down from 1815 to 1915.

Two of Mrs. Green's books, "The Old Irish World" and "The Making of Ireland and Its Undoing," set forth documented evidence to support the belief that the Celts of Ireland were equal in civilization, if not superior, to their more potent conquerors. She gathered records of the civilization of Tudor times; traced Ireland's progress in industry, wealth and learning, and estimated the forces which ruined their national life.

The accounts of Irish conditions, supposedly later times, were maintained with records of Irish trade and Irish education.

Another of her books, "The Irish People," has passed through 10 editions. It is a masterpiece of research and scholarship, and has been translated into many languages.

She is the author of "The Irish People," "The Making of Ireland and Its Undoing," "The Old Irish World," and "The Foundation of the Irish State."

Horn-Rimmed Spectacles, a Disguise for Chamberlain

LONDON, (AP)—Horn-rimmed spectacles are a complete disguise for Sir Austen Chamberlain. He usually wears a monocle in his right eye. But for writing and reading he dons the bifocals which gives him the appearance of an American college professor.

At the signing of the Locarno Treaty he puts on his spectacles before attaching his name to the historic documents and the moving picture camera caught him wearing the heavy rims which English comedians always wear when they are portraying an American character. Mr. Harvey always wears horn-rimmed spectacles, and Mr. Houghton also wears them.
