CURRENT NEWS FROM WALLOWA

WALLOWA, Ore. (Special).—Miss Ellen Johnson spent the week end visiting at the John Couch home at Leap.

Miss Arleta Couch, who is attending high school here, spent the week end at her home at Leap.

A large crowd attended the dance at the K. P. hall here Friday night.

Guy Oliver, who has been logging in the north woods, was in town the latter part of the week. He reports about a foot of snow in that section and that conditions are ideal for skidding logs at this time. Mr. Oliver states he is about through with a contract on which he has been working. A number of other loggers are also busy on contracts in that section.

E. A. Downing and Frank Wallace of Leap have been busy cutting wood the past week.

Mrs. J. B. Gastin and sons, Eugene, Dee and Irvin, spent Friday evening at Mrs. Meek's listening to radio programs. One enjoyable feature of the program heard included some old-time music, part on by the Tumasey chamber of commerce broadcast from KOWW at Walla Walla, Wash.

George Cousins is a business visitor here the latter part of the week. While here he attended the meeting of the Cattle and Horse association.

T. G. Johnson returned home recently from a several weeks' visit to Portland.

Alfalfa Brings $10.
Some of the farmers in this section report fairly good sale for hay at this time, some alfalfa being sold in small lots at prices around $10 a ton. Farmers further up the valley state the sale for hay there has been quite poor at any price. A considerable amount of feeding is being done at this time.

Ed Bell and son, Leslie, have been busy recently cutting wood. Irvin Gastin is helping Sara Meek cut wood this week.

Dee and Irvin Gastin were busy several days the past week hauling wood from Meek's.

F. A. Downing and wife of Leap were visiting visitors Saturday.

Mrs. C. F. Harmon and R. C. Dunlap of Leap were here during the week visiting C. F. Harmon at the hospital.

Over this section the weather has been somewhat colder for the past few days with hard frosts at night. A few inches of snow covers the fall wheat fields at this time. This farmers believe will prove a great protection from further freezing.

E. H. Sherod of Middle Valley returned home recently from a several weeks' visit with friends in California.

Floyd Hiten of Powwatha was a business visitor here the latter part of the week.

L. M. Fishman and family of Promise were visiting friends here the latter part of the week.

Snow Deep in Hills.
The snow has been of sufficient depth in the hill sections to allow farmers to use sleds in getting wood and doing other hauling the past week. The dirt roads which were very rough a few weeks ago, have become smoothed down considerably at this time.

T. L. Sherod's family and others of Middle Valley have been experiencing a siege of severe colds for the past several days.

John Couch of Leap was a business visitor here the latter part of the week.

HOOD RIVER, Ore.—City commission stated that the chair of J. H. Young, appointed to fill a vacancy last year, might be declared vacant on the ground that he was not a property holder, and therefore ineligible under the charter.

A split has developed between Mayor Bennett and Mr. Young, representing one faction, and other members of the council. A call by Mayor Bennett and Mr. Young for resignation of W. L. Clark, city engineer, water superintendent and street commissioner, was rejected, and other councilmen voted against acceptance of the resignation. Appointments of council committees later revealed that Mayor Bennett had elevated Mr. Young to position of importance and had relegated his opponents to insignificant places. Mr. Young yesterday filed a deed conveying property formerly held by his wife to the couple jointly.

"I am going to make somebody mad with that statement," he said "but it is true. We can arrest the hoodlums and do it, but they got away with pitifully small fines."

The first use of the numerals of which we have any record, is in India, and dates back to the end of the second century A. D.

SUNLIGHT IS NOT STRIPPED

WINTER sunlight for children—not the dew on a wet sheet that comes through ordinary glass from which the heating ultra-violet rays have been filtered—but the real thing with virtually all of its health-giving qualities may now be obtained inexpensively.

Dr. A. Herman Pfund, assistant visitor here the first of this week.

Bruce Fisher, Clyde Bronson, J. J. Willett and others have been busy the past week hunting horses, which have not been gathered from the ranges yet. Many of them have become badly scattered over the country, causing owners considerable trouble. The open winter has made it possible for much of the stock, particularly horses, to do work on the ranges until the recent snows, which has reached a depth of several inches in the timbered sections.

B. H. McGinnis, a farmer from the Powwatha section, was a business visitor here the latter part of the week.

Frank Willett and R. H. Bowman of Lostine were business visitors here the last of the week.

C. F. Harmon, who has been a patient at the hospital here for the past four weeks is reported to be considerably improved at this time and with continued improvement for a short time longer will be able to go to his home at Leap.

State professor of physics at Johns Hopkins, has found that between 40 and 75 per cent of the medicinal value of the white ultra-violet rays remains in the sunlight that passes through a type of transparent wrapping paper ordinarily used on candy boxes.

The advantage in this discovery is the cheapness with which ultra-violet ray treatment may be made available in homes, nurseries and sanitariums in cold weather. Scientists many years have realized the curative value of ultra-violet rays.

Several years ago one of the large corporations manufacturing electrical appliances presented the children's section of Johns Hopkins hospital with a window made of fifteen quartz glass panes costing $1,000 each that admit passage of ultra violet rays.

The window has been used largely in the treatment of rickets, but expenses of a $15,000 window handicapped general use of the treatment elsewhere.

The paper is made of cellulose, the substance that forms the cell walls of plants, and gives stiffness to the stalk of wheat as well as the tall spruce.

By the use of a machine developed in Switzerland several varied Hls are treated by the sun's ultra violet rays applied under medical supervision.

For years Dr. Pfund has been conducting researches in the action of light. His discovery affecting violet rays was made recently while testing the transparency of numerous substances.

Until practical tests over a period of time have been made and the results observed by physicians, he said, the fact that the paper allows the heating rays to pass should not be regarded as a certain indication of effectiveness.
