The Voice From KTCL

Here's M. D. K. of KOL, otherwise M. Dayton King, announcer for the northwest's most powerful broadcasting station at Seattle.

Radio Talks To Be Given

O. M. Heacock gave an interesting talk on interference and the various kinds of radio sets last evening when the La Grande Radio club met at the city hall with fifteen members present.

During the business meeting presided over by the president, S. A. Weagel, it was decided that the club will meet every two weeks, the next meeting to be held February 15 at the city hall. A series of lectures on how to operate a radio will be given, which will be of interest to all radio owners of the city.

Station KOA to Wire Program Over Divide

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo.—Few of the thousands of listeners who tune in this city via Station KOA, Denver, on the night of February 5 would care to make the long, hard journey over the main range of the Rockies in midwinter by ski and snowshoe which broadcasting of the Grand Junction program will make necessary.

So that good telephone service from here to the station in Denver will be assured, the telephone company is sending a special patrol along the 200 miles of wire to check up on its insulation. The line is in canyons and mountains practically the entire distance. The patrol will be hazardous on Fremont and Mosquito passes where the wires cross the continental divide at an elevation above 12,000 feet.

This will be the first time a radio program has been sent across the continental divide by telephone.

When it's your favorite table at the restaurant—and with merry friends you chatter and feast in festive revel —have a Camel!

WHEN you sumptuously dine at your favorite cafe. And with joyous talk and laughter you taste the tempting things of earth. When with lilting strains of music and the primest of fine foods you feast your friends joyfully—then how welcome is that friendly saying, "Have a Camel!"

For Camel goodness heaps added zest to every festive dinner, shares of its own joyous taste with every delicious flavor. Camels never tire, the taste or leave a cigaretty after-taste, because they are the master blend of the choicest tobaccos grown. Regardless of price, no other cigarette made is so rich and fragrant, so smooth and mellowy mild as Camel.

So this night as the famed restaurant grows gay with the sounds of merry-making and revelry. As you claim your own rightful share of the bright joys of living, taste then the flavor, the mellow fragrance of the finest, cheeriest cigarette ever made.

Have a Camel!

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

Into the making of this one cigarette goes all of the ability of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men. Nothing is too good for Camels. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. The most skilful blending. The most scientific package. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No better cigarette can be made. Camels are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

WALLA WALLA NOW KOWW

The Walla Walla broadcaster has increased from 50 to 500 watts. While still retaining the old wave of 256 meters, it will use the new call KOWW.

Headphones Are Delicate.

Headphones, when well made, are delicate instruments, and should be handled just as carefully as a fine watch. One should never let them drop, or handle them roughly, any more than one would willingly let a glass tumbler fall on the floor. Though headphones will often stand considerable rough treatment without serious damage, strict adherence to the rules of care outlined here is the best assurance of good reception.

Fading experienced by radio fans has been traced frequently to sagging aerials that were being swung back and forth by the wind. When the slack was taken up the fading was eliminated.

Orangemen Receive Valuable Relic

BELFAST (AP).—A chair in which King William II had a tooth pulled, has been presented to Comber, County Down, Orangemen, by John Miller Andrews, a member of Craig's cabinet.

The fortunes of the chair can be traced without a break for 245 years. Like all relics connected with the king who conquered his royal father-in-law, James II, in the battle of River Boyne, in 1690, it is looked upon with reverence in Ulster.

DAWES LEARNS TRICK OR TWO

(By Charles P. Stewart)

WASHINGTON, (NEA Special)—Maybe Charles G. Dawes has discovered by now that a vice president's place is to be seen and not heard.

Dawes made a speech over the radio one night, roasting the Senate, as usual, for its dilly-dallying. He mauled the table so, though all by himself with a radio instrument, that he nearly put the machinery out of commission. It was a great speech and probably would have gone down in history if it hadn't been followed by an unfortunate anti-climax.

In the course of his remarks, the vice president appeared to be hitting at Senator Jim Reed in particular. Jim Reed is as undesirable a man as there is in the Senate to hit at, unless you land hard enough to kill him.

* * *

He had a few things to say himself in the Senate the next day—not much, as he explained, because he was aware the vice president couldn't talk back in the Senate chamber, and he didn't think it would be fair to attack a man who was unable to defend himself.

However, he did mention that what had been said about him in that radio speech wasn't so. He also dropped a few observations concerning "honor" and "decency."

Whereupon Dawes did make a rejoinder, even if it wasn't strictly according to Hoyle for him to do so. He said he hadn't meant the Missourian.

* * *

It he'd let it go at that, all might have been well.

But he didn't. Instead of leaving the impression that he'd just been generalizing and made the fatal mistake of wishing his compliments onto somebody else. He said he'd meant Senator Copeland.

Senator Copeland jumped on him instanter.

* * *

As it proved, his case against Copeland was no better than his case against Reed, so nothing remained for him to do but apologize and declare he hadn't meant the New Yorker either.

Well, whom did he mean, anyway?

Oh, he didn't mean anybody or anything.

EMPLOYMENT SITUATION IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST BETTER

PORTLAND, Ore. (Special). — Employment in the Pacific northwest showed a slight general gain last week, according to the 41, employment letter issued here today.

Fir logging activity, except in the Greys Harbor district where several large camps were closed was increased by the addition of a number of sides. Fir lumber production, the letter said, continued on an up-and-down basis, a few large plants being shut down for repair overhauling and others that have been closed reopening during the week.

More snow in the pine country of the Inland Empire was a further aid to woods work there, according to the letter, which stated that nearly all pine camps are operating. Pine sawmilling also is slowly getting under way for spring cutting, after being practically at a standstill for the past two months.

State highway commission will open bids on 10 miles of Ben-Lava Butte highway, $160,000 Silex river bridge, and 3.3 miles Baker-Unity road.

The road to success is crowded because it isn't a one-way street.

Be it ever so humble there's no expense like home.
