Horse-pulling contests were common in England more than a hundred years ago, the teams being hooked to trees and the horses that tried longest and went to their knees nearest to the stakes.

What Are You Doing For Your Puny Child?

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds in 7 Weeks and is Now Strong and Healthy.

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine and nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and "oil" smells and "stretches" always upsets children's stomachs, so now up-to-date chemists advise Stearns' Cod-Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

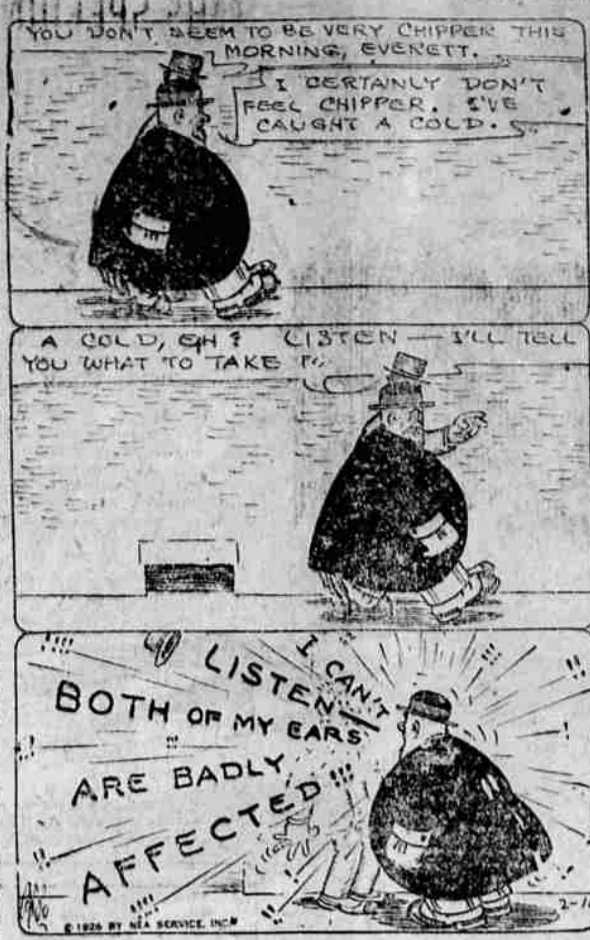

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11 pounds in seven weeks and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Red Cross Drug Store, Glass Drugs, and all druggists—but be sure and ask for Stearns'—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 30 days, and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.—Adv.

La Grande Theatres

Cast and Story Make Spectacle At Sherrys

The combination of cast and story in "The Coming of Amos," the Cecil B. DeMille supervised production which opens at the Sherry theater today for a two day run, makes this offering from the DeMille studio one of the banner pictures of the year.

Headed by Rod La Rocque, who is starring in the title role, the list of players in this producers' Dis-trubuting Corporation release is unusually brilliant. Jota Gaudal as a Finnish princess in a colorful role, Nash Bray as the villain and Trixie Fragonas, Richard Carle and Clarence Burton in other featured parts make up the excellent supporting cast.

The story, adapted from William J. Leach's best seller, is a melodramatic comedy, adapted by Garret Root and James Goodman, scenarios of recognized ability. The picture divides between comic dramatic situations and humorous incidents, with gorgeous spectacles of life on the rivers in a colorful background for the unusual story.

Paul Sloane directed this piece, which stands to top the work done by him in "Too Many Kisses" and other recent successes that have brought him prominently before the eye of the picture public.

Comedy showing "Cured Hams," Pendleton Round-Up

Filed in "Under Western Skies"

The exclusive motion picture rights to the great Pendleton, Ore. round-up of 1925 were purchased by Universal Pictures Corporation so that this greatest of all Western events might be incorporated exclusively in "Under Western Skies," an Edward Sedgwick-Universal-Jewel production that is to be the attraction at the Star theater, Thursday Friday and Saturday.

The Pendleton Round-Up is the peer of all American cowboy sporting events, for it brings into the arena the best bronco-busters, lariat throwers and horsemen to be found on the cattle ranges of the West and Southwest. It is the most spectacular event of its kind in the country and makes a thrillingly entertaining picture in itself.

Under Western Skies, who wrote and directed "Under Western Skies" has brought the round-up into the picture story in smooth and easy fashion. Movie fans will be surprised to see Norman Kerry in a role entirely different from any-thing which he has appeared in before. Kerry, who is a certified professional, was one of the featured stars of the round-up.

"Under Western Skies" also presents several picturesque episodes of the round-up in the group, with hundreds of farm hands and cowboys at work.

The supporting cast includes Ann Hornwall, George Fawcett, Kathleen Key, Eddie Gribbon, Word Crane and others.

Chas. Chase in his latest Pathé comedy is also on the program.

Reginald Denny Coming to Arcade In Great Comedy

The Arcade theater Friday and Saturday will show one of the funniest and most farcical pictures ever filmed, "What Happened to Jones," the latest Universal-Jewel production.

This popular favorite, Reginald Denny, portrays the title role and the star quite lives up to his reputation as a farceur of the first water. While the picture is a photo-play version of George Broadhurst's famous stage play of the same name, it might literally have been written for the Universal star. It is a real Denny story.

He portrays the title role, that of a rich table manufacturer, Tom Jones, who finds himself in difficulties with the police, on account of the raiding of an innocent poker game in which he had participated. His efforts to escape detection, clear his name which is in jeopardy and win back the love of his fiancée, form the motif of "What Happened to Jones."

In addition to Denny, many popular players will be seen in the supporting cast. Charming Marjann Nixon, who has appeared in several other Denny pictures, plays the role of his sweetheart, Miss Harlan, goal and rotund, in the blundering friend who is the cause of Denny's misfortunes. That famous comedienne, Zasu Pitts, is Miss, the "dumb" maid, Emily Fitzroy, who gave such a striking performance in "Zandor," plays the wife of Otis Harlan.

The balance of the players are well cast. Among them are Mel-borne, MacDowell, Francis, Hays-wood, Margaret Quinn, Ben Hunt-dick, William Austin, Nina Rom-ano, John Elliott, Edward Cell and Broderick O'Farrell.

The picture is a screen adaptation by Mel Brown of George Broadhurst's famous farce of the same name that rocked the country in the late Nineties. William A. Seiter, who has supervised several previous Denny productions, directed.

Famous Dancing Star Coming Here in "My China Doll"

When Barbara Bronell steps in front of the footlights in the title role of the musical extravaganza "My China Doll," which comes to the Arcade theater, Tuesday night, February 16 it will be her first professional visit to this city. Her appearance in "My China Doll," marks the climax of her stage career, begun some six years ago, when she made her stage debut with Julian Bittling and company.

Miss Bronell was born in Portland, Oregon, but went to Spokane when a little girl where she received her education. She was interested in the stage from childhood and induced her parents when she was but 12 years old to allow her to take dancing lessons. She dreamed of being an outstanding actress some day.

She studied first and ballet dancing. At first her parents opposed her wish, but they saw how her happiness depended upon her work, they granted approval. She was prominent in her class plays, making a name for herself in amateur circles.

At the conclusion of her school work, she looked eagerly about for an opportunity to go on the stage, but Spokane offered little hope for her. Her next step in answer to her prayers, a chance to appear with a professional company came. The Julian Bittling Com-pany was touring the west, and happened to be short a dancer while they reached Spokane. Barbara was given a try-out and was accepted. Immediately for the place. She appeared with the company the first night and remained with the company the balance of the season including a tour of the Orient.

Her climb to fame was rapid from that point on. She liked the stage and found in it an opportunity to express the enthusiasm and happiness within her. She proved to be a most apt pupil and directors soon began seeking her services. And now after six short years on the stage she has been cast in a star role.

English Girl Spends Three Years Teaching Equinus

LONDON, (AP)—Thirty three Equinus, up at Mahkovic, Labrador, are mourning the departure of their pretty English teacher and straining their ears trying to get news of London over their primitive wireless apparatus.

The teacher, Mary Howe, 21, is back in England after three years of isolation near the Arctic Circle and is happy to be eating Turkey instead of walrus.

Miss Howe came back to England on the little ship Harmony, which goes to Labrador once a year and is the only regular steamship communication Mahkovic has with the outside world.

PROFOUND
A good salesman makes a good fisherman. You cannot poke your bait down a fish's mouth and pull him out. Neither can you make people buy when they don't want your goods. We have on hand many attractive baits and the fisherman fish are grabbing, bait, hook, gopher, line and pole, and the funny part of it is, the same fish keep coming back and getting more bait. Now there seems to be a school of fish hanging around and we may be compelled to use a dip net.
