MEESKE BEATS AL KARASICK

IRVING, Ore. (By the Associated Press)—Billy Meeske, light heavyweight wrestling champion of Australia, won two out of three falls from Al Karasick, of Oakland, last night.

Meeske took the first fall in one minute and 55 seconds while the second went to Karasick in 24 minutes and 25 seconds. The third fall was awarded to the Australian after they had been on the mat 19 minutes and 4 seconds. Karasick protesting this fall on the grounds that his shoulders were not on the mat when the referee gave the fall to Meeske.

YOKEL BEATS BARNES
 LONGVIEW, Wash. (Special)—In a furiously fought match here Tuesday night, Mike Yokel, former champion of the light heavyweight championship of the world, defeated George Barnes, taking the first and third falls. Yokel won the first on a toe hold in 36 minutes. Barnes took the second with a headlock in 10 minutes and Mike won the deciding fall in a tieover toe hold in 5 1/2 minutes.

Aggie-Oregon Game to Be Broadcast by KOAC

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis (Special)—The Oregon-Aggie basketball game Saturday Feb. 13 will be broadcast by play over the college station, KOAC, beginning at 7:30. A power of 500 watts will be used with a wave length of 345 meters. As seats for the game, which is expected to be the most crucial of the season, have been all sold out, many will have resorted to radio to "see" the game at all.

A daylight broadcast of a noon band concert of the O. A. C. millitary band will be made Friday February 12 from 12:15 to 1 p. m. This will be preliminary to a regular noon broadcast once a week of agricultural material which will be started about March 1.

LOCAL BOY WINS SNAPPY BATTLE AT HUNTINGTON

Thirty-two fast rounds were presented fight fans at Huntington Tuesday evening on a card headed by Frenchie Smith, of Irigon, and Crusader Gubason, Filipino, late of the U. S. navy, which ended in a draw. Earl Ford, of La Grande, won a decision over Kid Caldwell, of Weiser, in a four-round event.

Coleman, of La Grande, and a boxer from Baker, Ore., staged an exhibition four-round match that proved among the most popular fights of the evening.

In the other events Kid Brock Kayser Shafter in the second round of the semi-final, Bud Hill Pinghoff, of Huntington, and Howard Johnson, of Midvale, fought to a draw, and Sam Kelsey, of Huntington, won a decision over Earl Day, of Weiser.

Local men who saw the card declared that every fight was good and that a 1277 crowd was in attendance.

SPORTS OPEN UP AT O. A. C.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis (Special)—Athletic competition is at its height here. Spring weather and the college slogan of "every man in athletics" have attracted considerable interest in all forms of sport on the campus.

Spring football is the latest attraction bringing a call for 196 uniforms. Suddenly days have brought out the racket, sleds and the tennis courts are kept busy. Baseball fans are becoming uneasy and arms are being warmed up in preparation for the coming season.

Basketball is the chief attraction at present. The Aggies are still on the top of the list and are doped to be contenders for coast conference champions again this year.

Confirmation of the amateur national wrestling meet to be at O. A. C. in April has brought out a great number of home crushers. Coach Robin Reed, Olympic champion, has his arms full with men trying out for positions on the team. The

OREGON-AGGIE FIVES TO MEET

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Ore. (Special)—The University of Oregon basketball team will meet its toughest opposition of the 1926 season next Saturday night when it lines up against the Oregon Aggies in Corvallis.

Both teams are undefeated this season, so the championship lies between them, as all other opponents have been eliminated in previous contests. Comparative dope favors Oregon, as they have won eight straight games, compared with O. A. C.'s four. The Oregonians have also finished their hard road trip, while the Aggies have not yet attempted theirs. Oregon, too, has five lettermen on hand compared with three for the Beavers.

Dope, however, means little when these two traditional rivals come together, so the result of this coming game is anxiously awaited by Oregon adherents. If the Weisford win this contest, the worst they can possibly do is tie for northern honors because they have but one fray remaining—that with the Aggies in Eugene, February 19.

Play has been close between Oregon and O. A. C. during the past few years. In 1923 and 1924, the teams split two four game series. Last winter found them deadlocked at the end of the regular season, but the Aggies won in that memorable play-off at Salem, 27 to 26.

The Oregon first team is intact for the contest, as is that of the Beavers. Gunther and Hobson will start as usual in the forward berth; Olsberg will hold down the center position; and Jost and Westergren will pair in the guard assignments. Gunther had a big evening against Washington State last Monday night, garnering 15 points for his night's work. Westergren, the midcourt forward, has been featuring every game with his brilliant ball-retrieving and tight guarding.

The Aggies plan to start their so-called "phantom five" lineup consisting of Pinkerton, center; Baker and Diwoky, forwards; and Burr and Graap, guards.

Billy Evans Says:

One remarkably pitched ball game often makes a pitcher in the majors. This is particularly true if it comes early in his career, as it gives him the confidence that is usually the one asset most needed.

It is not often that one remarkably pitched ball game, twenty to thirty, is the only one. Yet many of the wise men of baseball are inclined to think that Charley Robertson, formerly of the Chicago White Sox, has been such a victim.

It so happened that I umpired the game that many of the experts believe injured, rather than helped, Robertson's career as a big leaguer.

It was a no-hit, no-run game, in which not a player reached first base. To make the feat all the more extraordinary, it was made at the expense of the Detroit club, the hardest hitting outfit in the American league.

Robertson pitched that great game in the spring of the year. Only a few weeks previous he had made his big league debut. Detroit had 10 men in the 300 class that year, which will give some idea of the power of the club at the bat.

Throughout the game Robertson pitched like a veteran, but of a rookie. He merely laughed at the protests of the Detroit club that he was doctoring the ball.

SERIOUS HANDICAP.
 That one game made me feel pretty well satisfied that Mr. Robertson was going to be quite some pitcher. He showed me everything in the line of speed and curves and had plenty of poise.

Four years have elapsed since that extraordinary game. At times Robertson has given signs of reaching stardom but on the whole he has been a bit of an in-and-out, good when good and bad when bad.

An extraordinary sporting feat is always the subject for much "halcyon" talk. Robertson came in for much publicity as a result of his no-hit feat. A majority of the baseball experts believe that particular game proved a detriment to his career.

Unquestionably Robertson has always been conscious of the fact that he once blanked the hard-hitting Detroit club without a hit and not allowing a runner to reach first. He has strived to live up to it.

It has been a mental burden that has constantly beset him. As a result he is pressing more often than pitching naturally.

Robertson is to be with the St. Louis Browns next season, going to that club over the winter route.

Aggies trimmed Oregon last week by the one sided score of 73 to 2.

The Oregon Aggie swimmers are going through their daily splashes after their meet with the strong Multnomah club last Saturday. The huge tank in the men's gymnasium is a popular place these days.

The outdoor track has been reurfaced and put in first class condition for the track season next term. Trackmen are taking advantage of the good weather and are working out daily.

Other sports being engaged in this term are boxing, polo, horse shows, handball, intramural basketball, wrestling, swimming and relay.

Old Pipe, we're pals for keeps

SIX months ago, Old Pipe, we were headed for absolute divorce. We were wrecked on the twin rocks of Tongue Bite and Throat Parch. I tried tobacco after tobacco. Then . . . I found Prince Albert!

Today, Old Pipe, you're closer to me than a tattooed anchor. P. A. made you sweet and cool as the wind from a laden orchard. P. A. led me out of the hot-pipe desert into the pleasant valley of contented smokers. Comfort fell upon me . . . and it was welcome as rain to a dusty frog.

Say good-bye to worry, you fellows who don't yet know the joys of a jimmy-pipe and P. A. Tell gloom to be on its way. Your first fragrant pipeful will give you a 99-year lease on happiness. Prince Albert is the mildest, sweetest, kindest smoke mortal man ever knew.

Prince Albert gives you a helping hand when you are down and the glad hand when you are riding the crest. A real friend that understands your every mood. Make a break now for the nearest shop where they hand out pipe-peace in tidy red tins.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, round and full pound tin tins, and round crystal glass tinsiders with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

UNUSUAL PITCHING.
 Speaking of great pitching feats, I will never forget a minor league performance of Jack Zeller, a writer I had worked with in the trenches. It was performed the year I broke into the American league, 1909, Zeller going to Atlanta of the Southern league the same season.

The game was with Montgomery and was called in the 13th inning on account of darkness, the score being a tie, 2-2. Here is what Zeller did:
 Struck out 12 men in nine innings, 19 in 13 innings. Did not give a base on balls and hit only one batter, the first man to face him in the opening session.

Pitched 29 strikes in succession, six in the ninth, nine in the tenth and five in the eleventh.

Of the 29 outs in the 13 innings, 19, or practically half, were retired on strikes. At one time he whiffed seven men in succession, getting the last two in the ninth, the side in the tenth and two in the eleventh.

This game got Zeller a big league trial but illness forced him to retire from baseball before he made the grade.

CHICAGO (AP)—Three months ago J. F. Sullivan, 18, and his sister, Louise, 20, of Grand Rapids, Mich., had never heard of the Charleston.

But Wednesday they knew so much about its twisting technique they are the Charleston champions of the country, better even than Charleston's own entrants in the national contest here.
