Sister Mary Says:

(By Sister Mary)

Breakfast—Tangerines, uncooked breakfast food with hot milk, poached eggs on toast, granham muffins with raisins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Sausage rolls, stewed tomatoes with croustons, steamed brown bread, baked apples, milk, tea.

Dinner—Boiled fish codfish with egg sauce, mashed potatoes, buttered Brussels sprouts, new onions, canned pears, date cake, rice bread, milk, coffee.

The sausage rolls are ideal for a cold winter day, but children under ten years of age should be served a lamb chop or scraped beef ball to take the place of these delectable but not-so-easy-to-digest favorites.

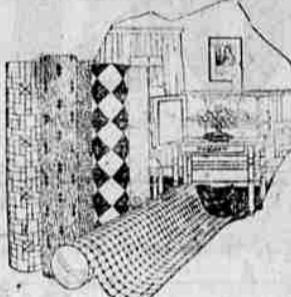

Sausage Rolls.
Four small sausages, 1 1/2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 tablespoons lard, milk to make a soft dough.

Roll skin on one side of each sausage and peel off taking care not to break meat. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Rub in shortening with tips of fingers.

Cut in milk with a knife. The dough should be as soft as can be handled. Roll on a floured board to about 1/4 inch thickness. Cut in oblong-shaped pieces large enough to completely cover each sausage. Roll each sausage in the dough, pinching ends together. Prick top of each roll deeply with a fork. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

MOVIE TITLE IMPORTANT BUT NOT DURING FILING

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (AP)—Motion picture productions and the title under which they are shown occupy positions with relation to each other during the progress of development very similar to the proverbial cars and horse. Sometimes a picture is produced with a definite "showing" title to start with, but very often—perhaps in a majority of cases—the picture is produced before the ultimate name for it is chosen. Thus the horse, in this case the title, is found to be in the rear of its own vehicle.

COLLEGE, Corvallis, Ore.—The Oregon Agricultural college short course in canning is entering its second week with a registration of between 65 and 70, representing five states and two Canadian provinces. of last year. Emphasis will be placed this week on practical problems connected with growing, handling and canning of fruits and vegetables.
