THE REDEMPTION OF JACOB'S SONS—For thy servant became surety for the lad, * * * saying, If I bring him not unto thee, then I shall bear the blame. * * * Now, let thy servant abide instead of the lad.—Gen. 44: 32, 35.

Some people speak twice before they think.
Nothing in the world is utterly hopeless except the Negro dialect of a New England author.

THE SMITHY STILL STANDS.
When the automobile industry reached that stage in its growth when the wisecracks were forced to reluctantly cease observing that the infernal contraption wasn't practical.

Again the sages guessed wrong. Although the clang of the anvil has been dulled by the exhaust of the motor and the odor of gasoline smothers the pungent aroma of burnt hoof, blacksmiths there still are and they are doing a thriving business.

There will always be horses and men to shoe them. It was predicted that the automobile would force the veterinarian to pull down his "shingle," and yet they are more numerous and busier than before the advent of the automobile.

CROWN JEWELS FOR FARM IMPLEMENTS
Soviet Russia wishes to exchange a portion of the crown jewels for American machinery. The collection which it is the design to utilize in the trade comprises 406 separate pieces.

That such a vast array of jewels were thought needful to impress the dignity and glory of the czaristic regime reveals to what extent "properties" were indispensable to Russian royalty. The wearing of jewels on state occasions, the glitter and glamour, are the evidences of power.

IT CAN'T BE DONE
Let poets sing their lulling songs,
And gladly stum the lyre;
Give me the man who whistles while
Eve's putting on a fire.

"My girl calls me maple syrup now."

"What else could she call a refined sap?"

The greatest and most glorious of all feelings come, when you see your dentist waiting in another dentist's office to have his teeth fixed.

Harold, I dreamed about you last night.

"You did, you dear girl?"

"But I'm not hounding you, something I ate disagreed with me."

He walked.

There was a spring in his step, a sparkle in his eye, and a smile on his lips.

He walked gaily, his hand resting in his pocket on a little lavender note which read—Dearest:

"Yes—I love you and will marry you!"

He walked.

His shoulder drooped, his mouth drooped, his eyelids drooped over his lustrous eyes.

Clumsily he walked, his hand resting in his pocket on a little brown note, pinned by the same dainty hand, which said: "I Quart of potatoes, 2 Brown eggs, 1/2 lb. Bacon—slice it thin."

Chief—"Why do you want to-morrow off?"

Chief—"I'm getting married!"

Chief—"But why a whole day? Are you going on a honeymoon as well?"

She—"You seem to know your own's pretty well."

He—"Well, I ought to, having seen so many wild ones in my day."

Hubby came sneaking in later:

Wife: "Waited with a grin; Crowned him with a rolling-pin; Now he's sleeping with his kin."

"Just Like A Good Neighbor"
Customers frequently tell us that one of the reasons why they like doing business with Joel's is because we seem like "a good neighbor."
It's a compliment we appreciate. We try to be a good neighbor. For many families our convenient location makes it a neighborly relationship. For many others scattered in all parts of the city Joel's is held in the same high regard because of our neighborly, friendly service.
