 We asked you for $400 and you sent in to New York $727. You don't have to increase your gifts in order to be doing your share, but I hope you may be able to make the requested increase."

The two speakers, introduced by the Rev. W. C. Ross, pastor, were preceded on the program of worship by Miss Isabelle Miller, who sang "Teach Me to Pray." Miss Gladys Miller, at the pipe organ, played a prelude and an offertory.

M. E. Program Patriotic.
 A patriotic program was carried out at the First M. E. church last evening, with H. E. Dixon, an attorney, delivering the address. His subject was "Washington, the Man and the Patriot."

The morning service, at which the pastor, Dr. Henry W. Parker, was speaker, was characterized by special musical numbers in charge of Mrs. Sherwood Williams, choir director. Paul Knauts was soloist.

Good returns from the first day's efforts on the annual canvass of the parish for financial support of the church, was reported in the evening congregation at the central Christian church by the ten teams of two men each who spent the afternoon in solicitations. Their requests met with generous responses, the canvassers told the audience. The church is asking for $1500 this year. The canvass will be completed this week.

The pastor pictured the discouraged prophet confronting the two remedies: physical relief, and the revelation of God's method of working moral changes. Ninety were in the audience in the evening, when the text was "Walk before me, and be thou perfect" from Genesis XVII:1. "Not perfect in head, nor perfect in body, but perfect in heart," the pastor explained the passage.

DIXON HONORS GREAT LEADER

 In the regular music periods, patriotic poems and quotations from famous speeches were given in honor of the statesman's birthday. As in all other schools of the state, the morning programs were followed by dismissal at noon for a half holiday.

Each day's services in the churches took special notes of the patriotic occasion. At the First M. E. church, H. E. Dixon delivered an address similar to the one he gave at high school this morning. Today, both county and city officials took a recess from duty, although here and there an officer worked behind closed doors to catch up with some particular bit of work. The courts unanimously declared a holiday. Banks did not open their doors all day, nor did the public library. Railroad offices observed the holiday was in general charge of the day's sessions. La Grande's celebration of the day has been quiet, but reverent, in fitting tribute to the magnitude of the occasion.
