PROHIBITION IS BIG TOPIC OF THE DAY

(Continued From Page 1.) of newspaper straw votes and asserted that the drys were ignoring them. The best referendum of prohibition, said the board, were congressional elections which drys had won "with monotonous regularity by overwhelming majorities."

Speak-Easies Many. In New York, the Rev. Dr. James Empringham, national secretary of the church temperance society, which recently came out for modification of the Volstead act, told of disguising himself and visiting speak-easies where liquor could be obtained in all parts of the country. It was this investigation, he said, which convinced him that prohibition was "an utter failure."

"Prohibition has failed," he said, "because the people of this country never really believed in it." At various times he posed as a commercial traveler, an analytical chemist and a vagrant. He spoke at St. Luke's Episcopal.

CLEVELAND, O., Mar. 22. (NPA Special)—The results of the nation-wide straw vote on the prohibition question are as follows: For prohibition, 206,171; for repeal, 512,316; for wine and beer, 805,992. The total vote was 1,625,089.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22. (AP)—Public hearings on the prohibition question were ordered today by the senate judiciary committee. Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, alone opposed the recommendation of a sub-committee of five in favor of opening hearings. The sub-committee will conduct the hearings giving six days to the wets and an equal length of time to the drys.

No date has been set for the hearings, which will be confined to five modification measures before the committee. One would amend the eighteenth amendment so that states which were wets before the prohibition amendment would again be wets, with the government manufacturing, selling and distributing liquor.

Liquor and Communion. Asked why intoxicating liquor is used in holy communion when its general use is forbidden by the laws of the nation, Dr. Clark declared that having been accustomed to employ fermented wines in the celebration of the holy sacrament for 1900 years, the church does not feel inclined to change.

"Live wine, and not a dead drink, was what our Lord used at the last supper. I think I could celebrate holy communion with an unfermented drink, but there is absolutely no reason why the church should cease to use wine in the solemnization of the sacrament."

"Wine, in itself, is not bad—it is immoral. No thing is of itself bad. It becomes so only through the misdirected use men make of it."

Deplores Sin. "The Worst Thing in the World," which the misdeed had announced as his sermon theme for last evening, he said was sin. Let the modernists say what they may, sin does exist and is a potent force in the world today, he declared. Its ravages testify to its strength.

Hall K. Wallis, delivering a 15-minute sermon. Using "Dreams of Youth" as the topic for the occasion, Mr. Wallis last evening began a series of discourses on the theme, "Life Work." "The Potential Capital" is the subject he plans to use next Sunday.

APPLE MEN PLAN PLANT IN COUNTY

(Continued From Page 1.) these apples have a commercial value and the tonnage is sufficiently large to warrant the construction and conduct profitably a drying plant to turn these apples now going to waste into money.

E. M. Durland, of the fruit exchange said this morning. Most of this large tonnage of apples went to waste during the past season, although there were shipped to plants at distant points approximately 1000 tons at a delivered price at the plant of $13 a ton. The freight alone on these apples amounted to about $7000, and had the entire available tonnage been shipped, the freight would have been around $28,000, nearly the entire amount required to build and finance a plant such as would be required to handle the tonnage available in the valley.

The estimated cost of the plant is between $30,000 and $35,000. During the height of the season such a plant would employ about 50 people and have a payroll of around $1600 a week, and for a period of about six months in the year a payroll of about $500 a week.

Besides the apples grown in the valley there is some varieties of berries and many vegetables which can be profitably dried or canned. The plant, as contemplated, is daughters, Mrs. Henry Peebler of
