one-made by Green in designing the stunning creations.

"Mannequin," a human interest story of dramatic events brought by destiny into the lives of average folks and which will be shown at the Arcade Theater Friday and Saturday, features Alice Joyce, Warner Baxter, Dolores Costello and Zasu Pitts.

"When Door Opened" Has Drama, Comedy Thrills, Scenic Beauty

When the door opened, the William Fox picture directed by Reginald Barker and now at the Star theater, contains all the ingredients that go to make a photograph a perfect entertainment.

It has thrills. When you picture a terrific flood sweeping its destructive way over the countryside, or a spin-linging race in canoes through the turbulent waters of a mad rapids, or a towering pine tree crashing to earth within a few inches of the heroine, you have an inkling of the gigantic thrills incorporated in the film by one of the best thrill-creators among present-day directors.

It has love interest—beautifully carried throughout the fast action by Jacqueline Logan and Walter McGrath, both stellar screen players recognized for their undisputed talent and artistry.

It has comedy—clean, effective humor, dispensed by Walter Chung and Roy Laidlow, two chuckle-makers of the first rank.

It has beauty—the magnificent rugged mountains of the North, and the towering forests of Canada reproduced with vivid photography.

It has plot, gripping, thrilling and tense—woven by one of the master builders of adventurous narratives—James Oliver Curwood.

And it has a great cast. The chief supporting roles are portrayed by players of world renown. Frank Keenan, Robert Cain, Margaret Livingston, Roy Laidlow and Walter Chung are the featured members supporting Jacqueline Logan and Walter McGrath.

"Mannequin" at Arcade Is Real Style Show

Gown! Gown! Gown! Partly of the most beautiful gowns ever worn in Hollywood—the style center of America—appear in "Mannequin," James Oliver Curwood's production for Paramount of Fannie Hunt's $50,000 prize-winning story.

Each of the gowns is a masterpiece of conception by Howard Greer, creator of film fashions for Paramount. They range from beautiful evening gowns to needlework wraps of sport suits, and street dresses.

They are worn during a gorgeous mannequin scene in a fashionable dressing establishment in which Dolores Costello plays the role of the principal mannequin, assisted by Charles Bird and Ross Flowers.

The mannequin shop presents as fine an appearance as anything in Paris.

A special feature of the set was a collection of 16 gorgeous ostrich feather fans. This collection, in Greer's department, is declared to be one of the finest in America. A jewel case exhibit was also part of the show. Two special watchmen were placed on the set day and night to guard it.

To the spectators in the room during the scenes when the mannequins displayed the latest thing in 1924 gowns, five little Chinese girls in costume, passed tea during the performance.

The walls of the inner rooms of the dressing establishment were unique in that they were decorated with the actual sketches from which the gowns displayed before the spectators were made. These sketches were the original ones made by Green in designing the stunning creations.
