"Phantom" Opens Three-Day Run At The Arcade

The gigantic Universal romantic thriller which is said to surpass in magnitude "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," will open at the Arcade theater for a three day run. "The Phantom of the Opera" is the title of the super-spectacle in which Lon Chaney, "the man of a thousand faces," is to be seen in what an enterprising publicity man has aptly termed "his thousand and first face."

It is in the great opera scene that the colossal crystal chandelier, weighing many tons, is seen to crash down upon the crowded house, to gratify a whim of that weird creature of the depths, the opera "ghost" whose marvellous intellect is devoted to vengeance against a world that slanders him.

Chaney is supported by Mary Philbin, Norman Kerry, more than a score of other well-known actors and a cast numbering thousands.

Florida—with its bathing girls and auction sales has made its screen debut and been brought to you via the silver screen. It's all written by Gaston Leroux stands unique and alone in history. The producer, Carl Laemmle, President of the Universal Pictures Corporation, confidently asserts that the "Phantom" is the greatest thriller of the stage, and his claim seems to be born out by glowing tributes coming from those who have witnessed the mystery film.

"Only a person of cast iron nerves could sit through this and not feel cold shivers piny tar up and down his spine," writes Louella Parsons in the New York American. "Compliment Carl Laemmle on his magnificence."

It is claimed that seventy big sets were built for the production, including a replica, complete in every essential, of the great Paris Opera House, where the gay opera throng numbering thousands fill the boxes and pit of the enormous theater and witness the performance of "Phantom." These scenes have been photographed in actual color by a recently developed process.

Mr. Sherman appears to the best advantage of his cinema career in the role of Michael L'vov Yervoloff's palace of the royal house of Russia. His characterization of the gentlemanly, profigate, the disolute but lovable spendthrift, is perfect, and deeply moving when he finds regeneration in, tragedy and love.

John Harlow, as Paul the young brother of the prince, secures a distinction in his career youth and bitter disillusion. His unsophisticated manner makes him an excellent foil for the suave poise of the star.

And Pauline Garon as Colette, gay, honest, big-eyed Colette who loved the prince and won his heart, is a delightful addition to this stellar cast.

Comedy showing "Good Morning Nurse."

Lowell Sherman In Strong Picture At Sherrys

"Satan in Sables," the Warner Bros. classic of the screen starring Lowell Sherman, which opened yesterday at the Sherry theater, brings a vividly dramatic story to the screen as well as its novel note of artistic elegance of setting.

Paris, the romantic, gay, picturesque, pre-war Paris, flush with wealth, art and amusement, is the locale of this extraordinary story written by Bradley King. Through out the picture runs the contrast between the motley colorful life of the old Quarter Latin with its students, its sinister underworld hang-ers on, and the prodigious magnificence of the noblemen who pursued gayety without ever wearying of his quest.
