of the spectator in the development of the plot. You should see this romantic picture. It's well worth while. Also showing "Arizona's Grand Canyon", beautiful scenic.

Marry in Paris, Regret in America, New Thought

The old saying, "Marry in haste and repent at leisure," has been generally twisted of late to read, "Marry in America and repent in Paris." The same idea, only with locales changed to "Marry in Paris and repent in America," is somewhat the theme of the new Zanussi picture, "Marry in Paris," which is showing at the Star Theatre tonight.

A FULL RATION

Science holds that cod-liver oil is important to assure children or adults a full ration of health-building vitamins.

Scott's Emulsion is the form of cod-liver oil that millions have been using so successfully since 1873. It builds health and strength.

been pretty high. How she outwits her rival, recaptures her errant husband and gives him a few things to think about, including the theory that marriage is a "fifty-fifty" proposition is said to make a very clever and surprising picture.

The three leading players are said to be exceptionally well fitted to their roles. Miss Hampton, as the Parisian dancer and model, having full scope for her talents. Louise Glauco, one of the screen's most interesting players, who returns to pictures after a two years' absence, is said to make a striking figure in her role of the ailing widow. Barrymore, quite naturally is the perfect gentleman and actor. Other well known players are seen, including Arthur Donaldson, in the amusing role of a third-rate Russian Grand Duke. A Buster Brown comedy is also on the program.

Success Depends On Trifles, Declares Virginia Valli

"The success of any motion picture depends upon its ability to reach the small things of life," says Virginia Valli. "But it is the small human touches that make for success. They must be bits of life that have happened to you and me."

"Consider 'Watch Your Wife,' in which I am co-starred with Pat O'Malley. It is filled with many little bits of home life with which we are all familiar. There is the scene in which I tell Pat to hurry or we'll be late for the theater. How many wives have thundered that same remark at their husbands?"

"Again, there is the sequence of our return from the theater. Pat declares a certain bit of music we heard went this way. I disagree, and assert that it did not, but went some other way. But are probably wrong. The argument leads to a big quarrel, and finally to the divorce court. How many times has just that little thing happened in homes?"

"In the picture Pat has the habit of striking a match with his thumb-nail. It jars me and peeves me. Yet I venture to say that even such a trifling incident will make many a wife think of some annoying action of her husband. These are only a few of the small things that should make 'Watch Your Wife' a success."

"'Watch Your Wife' is a Universal Jewel that is coming to the Arcade theatre Wednesday night. It is an intensely human domestic comedy drama, replete with brilliant gowns, lavish settings and scintillating comedy. Among the players in addition to the co-stars are Helen Lee Worthing, Nat. Albert, Albert Conti, Arnie Novak and Nora Bayne."

MOMM POP

Now that Cousin Molly is out of the house I can practice the Charleston that I've seen dot dancing so much.

Let's see now—one foot here—

Oh Cousin Matilda—that's not the way to do the Charleston—you must move your feet like this.

Oh yes—I forgot! (Guff-puff) It requires a lot of practice but I'll get it—puff!

Oh Cousin Matilda—you're all out of breath—I'm afraid this dancing is too much for you.

E-E-E-Ow! Oh, I forgot all about my side!

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

Jay said his mom gives him a penny every week because she loves him—do you love me, mom?

Yes—here's a penny for you.

Look what I got—look what I got! Two pennies! See?

Where did you get them, Jay?

Yes—yes.

Yes got two mom!

Oh, my mom gave me one penny because she loves me.

Yes—yes.

Any I took one because I love her!
