Monta Bell Production Sets New Mark for Spectacular Films

With one of the most thrilling Horn scenes ever filmed, in which a wall of water wipes away an entire town, with settings depicting the great opera of the world, the gorgeous throne room in the Royal Palace at Madrid; with a great cast of famous names, headed by Ricardo Cortez and Greta Garbo, the brilliant new Swedish star, the new Cosmopolitan production of "Ibana's Torrent," now playing at the Sherry theater, is setting a new mark in screen production.

The story, a vivid romance of Spain, based on the novel by Vicente Blasco Ibañez, author of "The Four Horsemen," was directed on a lavish scale by Monta Bell at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. It tells the life and love of a Spanish statesman.

An entire Spanish town was built on the banks of a river, into which tons of water were hurled in the biggest feat in screen engineering ever attempted, to stage the flood, in which Cortez staves a thrilling rescue of Miss Olmsted.

Too Much Money Scored in Film at Arcade

What would you do if you planned a quiet little dinner to celebrate your wedding anniversary and came home only to find that your wife had forgotten the event and insisted on leaving you alone with the dinner while she attended a social "affair"?

That's just what happens to Lewis Stone in "Too Much Money," today and Tuesday's First National attraction at the Arcade theater, in which Stone and Anna Q. Nilsson are re-created. He had brought his wife a beautiful diamond bracelet to celebrate the event. Naturally he felt rather spoiled to find the party was spoiled. In fact he was so peeved that he turned all his money over to a friend and the next morning the moving men came along and took away all his furniture while his wife was staging a pajama breakfast party. He then explained he had lost his money and was penniless.

In the cast are Robert Cain, Ann Brody, Derek Glynn and Edward Selous. "Too Much Money" was directed by John Francis Dillon under the supervision of Fred Hudson. It is based on Isabel Johnston's stage play "The 321st Mile."

Action Gripping In Picture, "Under the Rouge"

When is a crook, and when an honest man? When one's sympathies are all with a crook and he turns out to be an honest man, it is only what one has expected and rather hoped for. But when an eminently virtuous young man upsets the whole perspective and turns out to be a crook, all in the same picture, one sits up and begins to take notice, especially when all this happens in the midst of a lot of intensely human and heart gripping action.

This is exactly what happens in "Under the Rouge," the new Empire picture which will open at the Star theater Tuesday for a two day run, with Tom Moore as the lovable crook.

But do not get the idea that "Under the Rouge" is a crook
