BUTCHEK, SLAYER OF HIS WIFE, TO HANG ON JUNE 11

PORTLAND, Ore., Apr. 21. (AP)—John Butchek, convicted of slaying his wife with a small ax at their home January 11, was sentenced Tuesday to be hanged at the state penitentiary Friday June 11. When asked by Circuit Judge Evans if he had anything to say, Butchek said:

"I'd like to have a new trial."

Motion for a new trial was filed by Butchek's attorney.

After killing his wife Butchek went to a barber shop to get a shave before going to the police station to give himself up.

Stop That Backache!

Many La Grande Folks Have Found the Way.

Is a dull, nerve-racking backache wearing you out? Do you feel tired and slower than you should? Are you tired, weak and nervous; find it impossible to be happy, or enjoy the good times around you? Then there's something wrong and likely it's your kidneys. Why not get at the cause? Use Doan's Pills—get that dull ache to the kidneys. Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Read what this La Grande resident says:

J. R. Shockley, 1504 1/2 N. avenue, says: "I suffered with a dull ache in the small of my back that made me miserable. When I stooped, it was all I could do to straighten. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. A friend advised me to use Doan's Pills so I tried them and they soon fixed me up in good shape."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mr. Shockley had. Foster-McLurn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y., Adv.

Irene Rich Does Her Finest Work in "Eve's Lover"

Irene Rich, as a millionaire business woman, gives one of the most brilliantly satisfying performances of her career in the new Warner Brothers' photoplay "Eve's Lover" which opened yesterday at the Sherry theater. Looking more beautiful than ever as the regally dominating tactician of the steel industry, she made quite understandable the transition from icy mental coldness to the fiery emotionality that swept her heart as she fell in love with the pillantering Baron Maddox, a fascinating role played in a fascinating manner by Bert Lytell.

It is the Baron who in "Eve's Lover," A reckless, debonaire adventurer, heeds himself out of a financial scrape. But, with marriage, he finds himself embroiled by the love of a noble woman. A woman who is not noble at all, has however, stuck to him with post-charge stamp adhesiveness and nearly succeeds in wrecking his happiness.

Clara Bow appears in this tigerish little screen, and her pliant beauty, from the time it is first seen as she is seated in her milk bath, adds greatly to the joy of seeing the picture. She shares comedy honors of the performance with William Louis, the star of "Habbit," now cast as another Habbit on a more important financial scale.

Comedy showing "Waves of Tin."

In Japan they cut out the kissing in the American movies. They marry so young there they don't know what it means.

"The Gorilla" Is a Parody on Mystery Plays

Those who have seen "The Hat," "The Cat and Canary" and "The Last Warning" will appreciate "The Gorilla" when it is presented at the Arcade theater April 27, coming direct from a six months' run in Chicago.

It is a hilarious parody on mystery plays and brings to the stage something that is new and original.

The story opens with Brad and Sybil just across the aisle in a Pullman, bound for New Mexico. The porter exchanges their grips and starts the romance. It is all on its way by the time the train arrives in Sycamore Creek.

As they leave the train Sybil notes that the Blatchfords are not popular in their own home town. The special enemy of the older Blatchford is Tom Martin, the village banker, head of the Citizens' Protective Association and chairman of the school board.

Martin's son Dave falls in love with the teacher about the time she learns the gossip about Blatchford's father, and when she inherits $10,000 Dave invests it for her in steers. She is riding in the village with Brad Blatchford when he hears one of the cowboys, who was fired at the ranch, equating the reports that Brad's father was a rustler.

After the fight, Sybil and Dave merely speak which they find all the mountain trails until the Martins discover Brad's father in the act of branding one of their calves. Brad himself sees the theft from a distance, but does not recognize the thief. He starts after him before the Martins get into action, but they overtake him and prevent the son from killing his father.

While Martin is compelling the father to sign a confession he hears that Brad loves Sybil, and that the boy suspects that she avoids him because of the family's reputation. Martin sees the sterling qualities of young Blatchford and starts "Rustling for Cupid."

The Martin cowboys are ordered to round up Blatchford's calves and give them Sybil's brand. Then, when shipping day arrives, Martin and the sheriff stage a scene which indicates that Sybil is guilty of "rustling." She turns to Brad and there is a romantic reconciliation.

Other than the leading roles, the cast includes Russell Simpson, Frank McGlynn, Jr., Herbert Prior, Edith Yorke, and Sid Jordan.

"Venus" Film Is Last Word In Splendor

"The American Venus," Paramount's widely heralded film special, which had its local premiere this afternoon at the Arcade theater, appears to be blessed with every ingredient that makes for entertainment not only on the screen, but on the musical comedy stage as well.

In fact several of the outstanding features in this magnificent photoplay, notably, the elaborate fashion show and the artistic tableaux, which were filmed in beautiful Technicolor, have never been surpassed and seldom been equaled even in the most glorified stage productions.

However, the story, which Townsend Martin wrote, has not been made subservient to the scenic in costume. Trust Frank Tuttle, the director, to see to that. And although the audience is not permitted to overlook the rich and wonderful costumes, gorgeous settings, lavish mounting and wealth of lovely and shapely girls, these are merely adjuncts to the absorbing plot that sweeps along in bright and lively fashion to a spectacular and satisfying conclusion.

Of the comedy, romance and thrills that develop in the course of the picture's unfolding, it is perhaps best not to go too much into detail; suffice to say, that they hinge on the efforts of a beautiful girl, aided and abetted by an enterprising press agent, to win a national beauty contest in order to boost the complexion creams and lotions manufactured by her father.

Eather Ralston is a radiant vision of blonde loveliness and makes an appealing sympathetic heroine; Lawrence Gray plays the exuberant publicity man with commendable zeal and vigor; Ford Sterling provokes laughs and chuckles with usual facility; and Fay Lanphier who was crowned "Miss America" at the recent Atlantic City bathing beauty pageant, brings both beauty and talent to the title role.

"The American Venus" and the Hal Haach comedy "Dixey Daddio" will be shown at the Arcade theater tonight and Thursday afternoon and evening.

"Rustling For Cupid" Is Realistic Story Of New Mexico Ranch

"Rustling for Cupid," the latest Fox Films release, which will be shown at the Star theater Thursday Friday and Saturday, is one of the best of the new Fox Films insured success of the production by giving George O'Brien and Anita Stewart the leads. It is a story of a beautiful young Boston school teacher and the son of a cattle baron who is suspected of having amassed a part of his fortune by "rustling."

O'Brien has the role of Brad Blatchford, son of the suspected rustler, and Miss Stewart that of Sybil Hamilton, the teacher.

The story opens with Brad and Sybil just across the aisle in a Pullman, bound for New Mexico. The porter exchanges their grips and starts the romance. It is all on its way by the time the train arrives in Sycamore Creek.

As they leave the train Sybil notes that the Blatchfords are not popular in their own home town. The special enemy of the older Blatchford is Tom Martin, the village banker, head of the Citizens' Protective Association and chairman of the school board.

Martin's son Dave falls in love with the teacher about the time she learns the gossip about Blatchford's father, and when she inherits $10,000 Dave invests it for her in steers. She is riding in the village with Brad Blatchford when he hears one of the cowboys, who was fired at the ranch, equating the reports that Brad's father was a rustler.

Brad himself sees the theft from a distance, but does not recognize the thief. He starts after him before the Martins get into action, but they overtake him and prevent the son from killing his father.

While Martin is compelling the father to sign a confession he hears that Brad loves Sybil, and that the boy suspects that she avoids him because of the family's reputation. Martin sees the sterling qualities of young Blatchford and starts "Rustling for Cupid."

The Martin cowboys are ordered to round up Blatchford's calves and give them Sybil's brand. Then, when shipping day arrives, Martin and the sheriff stage a scene which indicates that Sybil is guilty of "rustling." She turns to Brad and there is a romantic reconciliation.

Other than the leading roles, the cast includes Russell Simpson, Frank McGlynn, Jr., Herbert Prior, Edith Yorke, and Sid Jordan.
