SAND STORM AT SEA

CORDOVA, Alaska, (AP)—Captain Ludwig Torgensen, of the cannery tender Uncle John, declared his vessel was lost because of a sand storm at sea. It seems that the boat encountered dense clouds of sand blowing over the water while it was seeking shelter from a gale. The tender grounded on a bar in Dry Bay of the Alek river. Three days later it was almost completely buried in the sand.

La Grande Theatres

"The Gorilla" Seat Sale Opens Tomorrow Morning

The Arcade theater will open the advance sale for "The Gorilla," the sensational Ralph Spence full play, tomorrow morning at The Glass Drug store. According to all signs and the number of mail orders already received, there will be no trouble selling the entire capacity for this engagement on Tuesday, April 27 at the Arcade theater.

"The Gorilla," which comes direct from a six months run in Chicago, has been widely heralded and is generally regarded as one of the greatest laughing hits the stage has seen in the past decade. In New York, Boston and London, England, it is now rocking capacity audiences with laughter. The original Chicago cast and production is promised for this local engagement, following its 6 months run at the Adelphi theater.

Anita Stewart in Cattle Business In Filmland

Anita Stewart has gone back into the cattle business in Filmland. This time she buys steers in "Hustling for Cupid," which is now showing at the Star theater, and is made to appear later in the light of a rustler.

It has been several years since Miss Stewart took a whirl at the cattle market and since she closed her last eye deal she has been in the South Seas, where she starred in "Never the Twain Shall Meet."

However, the steer business was not entirely new to her. She dealt in cattle in "The Fighting Shepherdess" and made one of Filmland's matrimonial screen successes out of the business just as she does in "Hustling for Cupid."

"Hustling for Cupid" is a Fox Films version of Peter R. Kynne's famous story of the romantic ending of a New Mexico cattlemen's feud. It was directed by Irving Cummings, creator of "The Johnstown Flood," a Fox Film which set a high spot for cinema production.

George O'Brien has the masculine lead and others in the cast are Russell Simpson, Edith Yorke, Herbert Prior, Sid Jordan and Frank McGlynn, Jr.

"Hustling for Cupid" and the comedy "General Yearning" will be the attractions at the Star theater again tomorrow and Saturday.

"Chalk Marks," At Sherrys Today, Is Dramatic Story

"Chalk Marks" latest contribution to the screen of Frank Woods, one of the most powerful of motion picture story tellers, comes to the Sherry theater today only.

The picture is a Frank Woods' Production and was directed under the author's supervision by John G. Adolfi, who has given the screen many fine things in the past.

Briefly, the story concerns the love of Angelina Kilbourne for Herbert Thompson. Though he marries another, she loves him through the years and it is not until both are widowed with age that he realizes the mistake he has made.

Though the story principally revolves about these two people, the romantic element is provided by the love affair of Herbert's son and a school girl companion, both of whom are idolized by Angelina. Her love for them carries them over a great crisis in which the young man is charged with murder.

Dramatic to the utmost, "Chalk Marks" is intensely human, as all stories bearing the Frank Woods seal are. There is humor in abundance and the cast is a first rate one, principally composed of players who have been starred individually.

Marguerite Snow, at one time the undisputed queen of the screen makes her return to films in "Chalk Marks." June Elvidge for several seasons a star in her own right, is also in the cast. Ramsay Wallace, one of the most popular leading men in motion pictures, plays the part of Herbert Thompson, while Helen Ferguson, Patricia Bonner, Lydia Knott and Rex Lease contribute from their stores of talent to make the production a perfect one.

First Arlen Film Is Now En Route Here

The first of Michael Arlen's stories to reach the screen will be shown at the Arcade theater Friday and Saturday. It is "The Dancer of Paris," Robert T. Kane's latest production for First National.

Arlen's books and plays, among others of which are numbered "The Green Hat" and "These Charming People," have brought him a tremendous vogue. "The Dancer of Paris" is considered by critics as one of the most powerful stories written in a decade.

"Wayward Terrie" is starred and Dorothy Mackall plays in his support in the production. Both of these players are said to give a performance of unusual distinction. The picture was made under the direction of Alfred A. Santell, who also directed "Bluebeard's Seven Wives" for Kane. Santell has endeavored to bring intact to the screen the distinctive style that flavors all Arlen's writings.

The story is based on a woman's decision to punish a man who played her false. The plot unfolds in an extremely subtle fashion ending in a climax of more than ordinary power.

There was some patching and the party proceeded.
