Sister Mary Says:

(By Sister Mary)
Breakfast—Steamed dried apricots, cereal, thin cream, codfish balls, rye bread toasted, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Minced lamb on toast, lettuce sandwiches, prunes stuffed with peanut butter, milk tea.
Dinner—Clear soup, toasted crackers, baked halibut steaks, stuffed beets, endive with Thousand Island dressing, frozen pudding, sponge cake, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.
This dinner menu is quite as satisfactory for guests as for the immediate family. A bread stuffing is used with the steaks so unless small children must be served potatoes are unnecessary.
A frozen dessert is always the least work because it requires no attention during the preparation of the meal nor last minute fussing to serve.
Frozen Pudding
One and one-half cups orange juice, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 1/2 cups powdered sugar, 3/4 cup shredded almonds, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups whipping cream, few grains salt.
Let gelatine stand in cold water for ten minutes. Dissolve over hot water and stir into orange and lemon juice. Add half the sugar and let stand until sugar is dissolved, stirring frequently. Blanch almonds and brown in moderate oven before shredding. When sugar is dissolved turn the mixture into mold and let stand until beginning to jelly. Whip cream until stiff, adding remaining sugar, nuts, vanilla, and salt. Fold into the jelly mixture. Cover mold and pack in three parts ice to one part ice cream salt. Let stand three hours.
Before planting, select the richest soil and the sunniest spot for the early spinach and get the seed in at once. Spinach is one of the garden crops that can be sowed broadest and raked in to good effect, although it is more convenient to cultivate when planted in rows. It should be thinned to five inches apart for the quickest crop and best developed leaves. Given room, the plant will show a surprising vigor compared with the usual rather feeble growth of the thickly planted bed.
Levulose, the sweetest sugar known, is derived from dahilia roots and artichoke tubers.

The Garden

GROWING A NEW INFANT FOOD
Spinach has become a standard infant food and elders who may not care for green in spring must have it for the babies. It is a most convenient vegetable for it will grow anywhere with a minimum of effort on the part of the gardener and it is hardy and doesn't mind a few frosts. In fact, it can be sown in the fall to good advantage.
Spinach, like lettuce, likes a speedy life. It requires a well-pulverized rich soil for its best efforts. It also must grow in cool weather for the first hot days give it an ambition to run up to seed that can't be checked. New Danish strains with larger, heavier foliage, (King of Denmark is one of them) have had the seed habit delayed to a great extent and they are much more substantial than the old-fashioned kinds.
A sprinkling of nitrate of soda when preparing the spinach bed will give it a flying start and develop fine foliage. The summer or New Zealand spinach is not so well known. The spinach of spring is, in fact, a pigweed put to good use. The New Zealand spinach is not a real spinach but a plant of another family, growing much larger and reviving in heat that would kill spinach.
The individual plants should be given plenty of room, fifteen inches apart in rows three feet apart. It is an excellent material for summer greens and deserves a much wider acquaintance than it possesses.
The germination of spinach seed will be hastened by soaking it for a few hours in warm water be-

Multiply this saving by 40
The average family, let us say, consumes about 40 cups of coffee a week. Consider the saving M·J·B gives you by its concentrated strength and richness. For you can use less of M·J·B to each spoonful and still have a rich, satisfying cup of coffee. Now multiply this saving 40 times each week—it counts up, doesn't it?
It is true you buy coffee by the pound but you drink it by the cup. So it's really the cost-per-cup that counts! And measured by this scale, M·J·B is the most economical coffee you can buy.
Put it to a week's test and see!
