World Sets Day Apart For Mother

Churches Announce Sermons and Songs in Honor of "Queen of Love" Tomorrow.

Everybody's mother will be a queen of love tomorrow—the day set aside not so much in honor of mother as to remind the world to be thoughtful of her. All week long gifts and letters have gone out to mothers far away. Tomorrow there will be visits and flowers.

In recognition of a love that is nearest divine of all earth has to offer, the churches are observing the day in their services. Morning sermons and anthems, and in many cases, the wearing of flowers—a red for the mother who is living, a white for her who has become a precious memory—will do her reverence.

The evening service, as announced in another part of The Observer tonight, will be omitted in most of the churches to permit attendance at the mass meeting to be held in behalf of the Daily Vacation Bible school at the First M. E. auditorium.

First Baptist
Mother's day will be the theme of services in the morning. In the Sunday school at assembly time, there will be special recognition of the members of the home department and of the cradle roll. Babies will be present with their mothers, and those who do not usually find it possible to attend make a special effort for the service.

Morning worship will be at 11 o'clock, with a special section of the church reserved for the mothers. Arrangements for the care of their small children have been made. The Rev. G. A. Pollard, pastor, will have for his theme, "Our Mothers." The sermon to the little folk will be "The Discarded Can."

The Men's Bible study class will meet at 7 p. m., the pastor in charge.

Central Church of Christ
Bible school will meet in regular session at 9:45 a. m. The men's class convening at the city hall. Members will take a lady's eye view of Genesis, the pastor, the Rev. C. V. Dunn, announces.

Special features will mark the Mother's service at 11 o'clock. It. J. Dykhus will sing an appropriate solo. The pastor's sermon theme will be "Our Mothers." All mothers of the parish will have a special invitation and will be requested to sit with their daughters. Carnations will be passed, red in honor of living mothers, white to commemorate those who are dead.

Evangelist societies will meet at 7 p. m.

St. Peter's Episcopal Holy Eucharist at 8 o'clock.

The meeting of the Wayfare's guild at 6 p. m., will be featured by a lantern lecture on Jerusalem by A. B. Cherry, recently returned from a world tour.

First Methodist Episcopal
In honor of the mothers living and in memory of those gone, the morning service at the Methodist church is dedicated, hymn, special music and Dr. Henry W. Parker's sermon entitled "A Mother's Influence" all to be directed to that end. The church will be decorated with flowers emphasizing the theme of the day. Bible school will be at 9:45 a. m., morning worship at 11.

Will Dave Janin, of Everett, Wash., will address the Men's forum on "The Church and the Boy" at 9:45 a. m.

Methodist Church South
A number of informal talks by members of the congregation will compose the program in honor of "Mother" at the Methodist church south tomorrow at 11 a. m. The Rev. J. A. Hall, pastor, will preside.

Church of the Nazarene
Girls and boys of the Sunday school will escort their mothers to class Sunday morning, inviting them to remain for the 11 o'clock worship period afterward. For the Mother's day sermon, the Rev. L. D. Megzora announces the subject, "In the Shadow of Every Man Walks His Mother." An appropriate duet will be sung by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Long, of Elgin. Flowers, red for the living, white in memory of the dead, will be distributed.

Miss Ruth Fellow will be in charge of the N. Y. P. S. service at 6:30 p. m. At 7:30, the pastor will preach an evangelistic sermon. Mr. and Mrs. Metters will respond to the request that they sing "Will the Circle Be Unbroken."

Church of Christ Scientist

"MOTHER'S DAY"
(By B. M. Grandy)
A task each day, a word of living cheer.
And oft times mercy's deeds in kindness wrought;
A life that hath to others been most dear.
A life that prompts not one unholy thought.

Through fifty years in life and death you staid
The hands of him who journeyed by your side;
To him you ever were the same sweet maid.
As when he won you for his loving bride.

As sons and daughters came your life to share,
In loving sacrifice you gave your best;
For each dear child you still a burden bear,
Nor pause to give a thought to earned rest.

Earth's annals tell of men, heroic, strong,
Of empires built, undying works of art;
But nothing sweeter than a mother's song,
And nothing nobler than a mother's part.

'Tis thus I think of thee, fair mother mine,
Who all through life hath been my friend and guide;
Though sometime grieved by word or deed unkind,
A patient smile your wounded heart doth hide.

Pull four score years have gently passed your way,
E'en trials and cruel grief you oft have borne;
A kindly Providence hath been your stay,
Who tempers winds into the lamb that's shorn.

And now with faith undimmed and clear of eye,
Soul filled with trust, brave heart with love aglow;
So sunset paints with sober hues the sky,
As daylight gently wanes and shadows grow.

As twilight brings to you life's softer hues,
While shadows deepen, e'er that day more bright
Shall open to lovelier eyes those fairer views,
Where youth shall know not age, and day no night.

HAVE MIDWEEK MEETINGS
Lone chapel will be the prayer meeting place for members of the Church of the Nazarene at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday.

A testimonial meeting will be conducted at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Wednesday evening at the church.

BISHOP TO CONFIRM
Services of confirmation will be conducted at St. Peter's Episcopal church Sunday evening, May 16, the Rev. Oliver Riley, rector, announces. Bishop W. P. Remington, of Pendleton, will officiate at the rites and will preach the confirmation sermon. The hour will be 8 o'clock.

Cove Church Fifty Years Old May 13

Episcopalians to Celebrate Jubilee Anniversary with All-Day Program.

Cove (Special)—The year 1926 will chronicle the fiftieth anniversary of the building of the Ascension church of Cove and inasmuch as the church is named Ascension it is deemed fitting to celebrate this first half-century closing on Ascension day, May 13. The occasion will be observed with appropriate services at the church both morning and evening, with a church school program in the afternoon and a dinner at Morris hall at 6:30 o'clock in the evening, when a program dealing with the early history of the church will be presented.

In 1876, when the church was built, Cove had but a small handful of people. The first pioneers to settle in the community came in the late fall of 1862. A few families had followed the Oregon Trail from Auburn, Iowa, as far as what is now La Grande, but was then only a few houses—hardly the beginning of a town—and in looking about for a temporary home for the winter they crossed the Grande Ronde valley and came upon that beautiful sheltered garden spot where now stands Cove. They were satisfied and proceeded to pitch their tents.

To this nucleus of people were added other sturdy pioneers until there had grown a little settlement interested in schools and churches. The Episcopal church was the second to be built at Cove. It was made possible by the untiring efforts of Samuel G. French, a pioneer and a zealous layman, who gave liberally of his time and money, that this house of worship should be erected. At his death he left a liberal endowment for its support.

The church was built when the Rt. Rev. B. Wistar Morris was head of the denomination in Oregon. To Bishop Morris it marked a beginning of the church in Eastern Oregon and he loved it as if it were a child of his own. He made every effort to endear it to the hearts of the people and secure for it the place it justly deserved in the annals of Eastern Oregon.

The Rev. George B. Kaye, with Bishop Morris, held the first service in the church. His ministry extended over a period of several years, at the end of which Dr. Nevins, who spent his life in trying to establish the church in Oregon, came here to take charge.

Since that time there has been a succession of both clergy and laymen, who have had a hand in shaping the destiny of the church at Cove.

The Rt. Rev. Robert L. Paddock was the first missionary bishop in Eastern Oregon. He made regular visits to Cove. He was succeeded by the Rt. Rev. William P. Remington, who with the Rev. William Murray Bradner, a young clergyman in charge here, is making long strides in developing the future of the church.

The choir from St. Peter's in La Grande will sing at the service at 8 p. m.

VISITING ELDER SPEAKS
Elder H. G. Hanhardt, of College Place, Wash., preached the morning sermon at the Seventh Day Adventist church at 10:45 a. m., today. His theme was "What Is the Holy Spirit and Its Place in the Life of the Christian?" Sabbath school was at 9:45 a. m.

NATHAN LEOPOLD SOUGHT ESCAPE, GUARD DECLARES

JOHET, Ill., May 8, (AP)—Two stories involving Nathan Leopold, slayer of Bobby Franks, one that he returned an opportunity to flee with seven convicts from Stateville prison Wednesday, and another that he pleaded to be taken along and was refused, have come out of the investigation of the escape.

The youthful son of a rich Chicago family, who is serving a life sentence with Richard Loeb after conviction in one of America's most sensational criminal trials, says he declined to join the seven fleeing convicts, four of whom have since been captured. His statement was made to Hjalmer Rehn, state's attorney of Will county, who is directing the grand jury investigation of the prison break.

A different story is told by Jacob Judnich, one of the guards wounded by the escaping sextet. He related that Leopold had asked to be taken along, but that the convicts refused.

MEDFORD HIGH WINS
MEDFORD, Ore., May 8, (AP)—The Medford high school baseball team defeated Astoria 3-0 yesterday afternoon 8 to 1, contributing to swing the championship of southern Oregon. Up on the ninth inning, Hughes for the locals pitched a no-hit game. A fielder's choice and a wild pitch in the ninth gave Astoria their lone score.

HEALTH

OMINOUS OBESITY—ABRIDGER OF OUR LIFE SPAN

Being fat is a more dangerous occupation than that of being a locomotive engineer, and there are more casualties in the alimentary canal than in the Panama and all other canals on earth. More people die from over-eating today than died from excessive drink in the wettest days before the Volstead act.

Are you carrying a fatal burden of fat? Knowing one's height one can quickly determine. An individual 5 feet in height should weigh 110 pounds, and for every inch over 5 feet, add 5 1/2 pounds. Obesity, indirectly, is the most formidable enemy of longevity as it is the greatest predisposing factor in the causation of diabetes, Bright's disease, apoplexy and heart disease, these being the common dread diseases of adult life and the cause of 80 per cent of the deaths in the United States annually.

Life insurance investigations have definitely shown that weight, especially in relation to age, is a very important factor in influencing the life span. In the young, overweight seems to lessen the mortality; while after 30 years, shortness of the span of life in direct proportion to the degree of obesity.

How are we to attain the desirable weight level? The remedy is a simple one. If, under proper medical supervision, an individual will take less food than is required to carry on the combustion going on in the body, there is no power on earth that can prevent him from losing weight, as he draws upon the excess fat stored away in the tissue for the fuel for necessary combustion, instead of depending upon that supplied by food.

Through preventive medicine, health hygiene, periodic physical overhauling and dental inspection the span of life has already been increased 18 years. How can we help combat the physical decay and lengthen the span to three score years and ten?

First we can impress upon individuals the great importance of seeking from the best available source, thorough protective, periodic physical and dental examination before pain or obvious physical failure compels action.

Secondly by our interest in the work of organizations, like the Gorge Memorial Institute, which are most valuable factors in the education of the public to the value of hygienic measures in the prevention of disease. We can remedy our physical defects, whereby the life span and the health will be increased. This means greater capacity for enjoying life, as well as for efficient work and service throughout the years.

You will think it not strange that many of the most obstinate of human ailments should yield readily to Spinal Adjustments.
