Union Resident Home After Alaskan Journey

UNION, Ore. May 11. (Special)—John Griffith, of the White Lunch, who went to Alaska about six weeks ago, returned to his home here the last of the week, reporting that while times appear to be fair in the northern country, he saw but two days of sunshine while there. After the first two days at Ketchikan the weather became inclement, he says, and though he went on to Juneau and other paints, it rained or misted continuously.

ENFORCES MARRIAGE RULE

CHICAGO—Northwestern university has again enforced its rule forbidding marriage of students without official sanction.

"On The Threshold" A Timely Lesson For the Flapper

Discussions have frequently been raised as to just how far the modern young flapper will go to satisfy her own whims.

What might be called the limit is reached by Rosemary Masters in "On the Threshold," the current feature at the Sherry theater, who obeys her father in everything except where her heart is concerned. But there she is as headstrong as he, and her wilfulness eventually costs her father's life.

Forbidden to see her young sweetheart again, she grows sullen and introspective. Day by day the breach between this erstwhile devoted father and daughter widens until finally the girl offers a show of defiance and promises to marry the boy.

Overwhelmed by the realization that his daughter has disobeyed him; Masters is seized with a paralytic stroke, which culminates in his death.

"On the Threshold" is a picturization of Wilbur Hall's unique Saturday Evening Post story, brought to the screen by Renaud Hoffman, the young producer-director who blazed the path to a new type of cinema drama when he amazed the industry with "Not One to Spare."

It is interpreted by a splendid cast of well-known players, including Henry B. Walthall, Gladys Hulette, Willis Marks, Robert Gordon, Sam DeGrasse, Charles Sellon and Margaret Seddon.

Comedy showing "Butter Fingers."

"Rustlers' Ranch" Pretty Romance With a Thrill

A pretty romance of the West spiced with plenty of fast action will be the offering at the Star theater Wednesday when "Rustlers' Ranch," starring Art Acord will be shown.

It is a story about the most romantic of all callings—the roving cowboy, and about a widow persecuted by the local banker. The plot is handled in a novel way by Cliff Smith, director.

Acord performs well with the aid of his two famous pets, a horse and a dog both of whom have a most impressive screen ability. Trained almost to a state of human intelligence, the animals add many delicious bits of the action of this story.

Olive Hasbrouck, leading lady, deserves credit for being the charming heroine she is. She plays her part like a trouper of many years' experience.

The direction of the story and the acting are all at the top notch and combine to make an excellent picture full of entertainment.

The cast of the picture was expertly chosen for the various roles. Numbered in the cast are Duke R. Lee, George Chesbro, Edithe Yorke, Matty Kemp, Albert Prisco, Stanton Heck, Lillian Worth and Red Bassett.

"Dancing Mothers" Coming to Arcade Tomorrow

Here's a situation that is really emotionally thrilling and dramatic. A lovely young mother sees her husband come home each night long after midnight. A flapper daughter wanders in at about the same time.

Frankly, she is worried; not so much about the man she married, but about the litte girl, who seems to have entirely forgotten her. One evening, at a night club, while dancing with her younthful escort, the daughter starts a flirtation with a bachelor whose reputation is not of the best. On sensing her finance's approval, she just flirts all the more.

Time passes, and with it a growing friendship ensues between the girl and the other man. Finally in desperation, her finance appeals to the mother. In a last effort to save her child, she determines to meet this man and see what he's really like.

Using another name, a mutual friend introduces them to each other. And before she knows what has happened, she, too, has become infatuated with him, and forgotten her original object in meeting him.

What happens? What path is left open to her? How can she explain? Those are some of the things you'll find out when you see "Dancing Mothers," the new Paramount picture, which comes to the Arcade theater Wednesday and Thursday.

Conway Tearle is the worldly bachelor, Alice Joyce, the "dancing mother," and Clara Bow, the head-strong daughter. An excellent supporting cast is headed by Norman Trevor, Donald Keith, Elsie Lawson and Dorothy Cumming.

The famous "Gang" in their latest comedy "Baby Clothes" is also on the program.

BAPTISTS VOTE AGAINST CHANGE IN PROHI LAWS

PENDLETON, Ore. May 11. (AP)—Umatilla county Baptists at the annual association meeting here Saturday passed resolutions against any modification of the Volstead act regarding the admission of light wines and beer. George Mason, of Pendleton, was named moderator for the coming pear and Clara G. Hall, of Hermiston, was re-elected clerk and treasurer. George Betts, of Athena, was elected assistant moderator. Roy Penland, of Helix, was elected a membed of the state board to succeed the Rev. J. A. Ware, of Helix.
