Club Supports Playground Move

Endorsement of the Parent-Teacher associations' plans for establishing supervised playgrounds in La Grande was voted by the Neighborhood club at a business session in the library building Tuesday afternoon. Authorized by the members, Mrs. C. H. Scranton, president, appointed the following committee to cooperate with other organizations in the movement: Mrs. Robert Eakin, chairman, Mrs. R. E. Westenhaver and Mrs. Carl G. Helm.

Bills for the entertainment of the state federation at convention here last week, amounting to about $650, were ordered paid. The expense connected with the meeting here was practically the same as that incurred in the past by other hostess cities, Mrs. J. D. Lynch, reported.

Appreciation of the grace and efficiency with which Mrs. Scranton carried out her part as hostess president was recorded in the minutes of the session at the vote of the club. Mrs. Scranton expressed her gratitude for the unanimous and eager response of the members to her requests for service during the convention.

The "Art of Our Grandmothers" Day" exhibit and tea was announced for Tuesday, May 18, when the older people of the city will be guests of the club. Mrs. Kate Hanley, chairman, and her committee invite everyone who has treasures of art from early days to bring them to the club rooms for the occasion.

Yesterday's session was the last general meeting of the club preceding the annual election, which is scheduled for May 25.

Y. W. E. A. Elects New Officers

The basement rooms of the Methodist church were transformed into a representation of the Oregon Trail, with green forests, mossy banks and cozy little camps, last evening when the Young Women's Educational auxiliary met for its annual banquet and election of officers. The highway idea was carried out in the place-cards, programs and other decorations in an amusing fashion. Each girl present had her own highway sign, with appropriate and fitting wording.

Sixty members of the auxiliary were seated at the tables and enjoyed a delicious dinner, while listening to music furnished by Misses Dorothy Brownton, Lois Nelson, Jean Williams and Genevieve Adler. These girls and the girls assisting at the tables were dressed in hiking costumes.

At the close of the banquet Mrs. Ruth Kinman and Miss Mae Stearns, accompanied by Miss Gladys Miller at the piano rendered two violin duets, following which Miss Mabel Doty, the retiring president, called on the following members for toasts: Mrs. R. F. Tyler, Miss Bertha Walsinger, Miss Annetta Johnson and Mrs. Sherwood Williams. Cora Harding Scott, accompanied by Mae Stearns and Gladys Miller, gave a whistling solo, which was encored.

The following officers were elected to serve the auxiliary next year: President, Miss Mima Cooper; vice president, Miss Annetta Johnson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Woodell; program chairman, Mrs. Ruth Kinman. Miss Doty, as toastmistress, called on the new president for a speech, to which Miss Cooper responded, telling of the aims of the organization and predicting a growth in the future.

The meeting was closed with singing, led by Mrs. Sherwood Williams. The banquet said to be one of the most successful and enjoyable in the history of the auxiliary, was under the leadership of Mrs. W. E. Adler, assisted by Miss Nell Mahaffey, Miss Lulu McNees, Mrs. C. P. Hutchins, Mrs. Raymond Swan, Mrs. Albert Herrmann, Miss Blanche Herzinger, Mrs. Florence Richey and Mrs. Thomas Walsinger.

Sister Mary Says:

(By Sister Mary)

Breakfast — Stewed rhubarb, cereal, thin cream, scrambled eggs with bacon, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon — Beef broth with noodles, molded beet salad, rye bread, maple sponge cake, milk, tea.

Dinner—Ham baked in milk, steamed rice, creamed spinach, whole wheat bread, rhubarb shortcake, milk, coffee.

Rice is sugested in place of potatoes in this dinner menu. A highly flavored meat such as ham combines especially well with rice.

Children under school age should not be served the ham, but do not need it since a nourishing soup with a strong meat stock was included in their luncheon menu.

Molded Beet Salad

One cup tiny beets or beet cubes, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¾ cup boiling water, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoons grated horseradish, 2 teaspoons granulated gelatine, mayonnaise, lettuce.

Scrub beets thoroughly and boil until tender. Dip into cold water and slip off skins. Cool. Soften gelatine in two tablespoons of cold water for ten minutes. Add to boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add sugar and salt and let stand until cool. Add lemon juice and horseradish and let stand until beginning to set. Add beets and turn into a mold "painted" with olive oil. Let stand until firm and thoroughly chilled. Cut into squares and serve on a bed on lettuce with mayonnaise.

When you are serving an especially colorful salad like this one and using head lettuce put the mayonnaise in one of the "cups" of lettuce instead of making the salad with it. The contrast of colors is charming.

Red Cross Shoes are being worn more and more by La Grande ladies. They are now realizing the comfort in this Arch-Tone make, and the style as well. The Arch-Aid shoe is made on the same principles. The gentle curve arch, which supports the foot when in action and relieves that burning sensation which you will soon experience when the hot weather comes. Get those feet in condition before the hot spell. Arch-Aid and Red Cross Shoes will do the work. And then you'll say "God bless The Bootery shoe man—he fits them so they don't hurt."
