"What's the use of paying lots in credit to do storekeeper what runs you for just a little bit of goods, when you can get lots of goods for just a little bit of cash at Piggly Wiggly?"

Minerva Says

Men have just begun to realize the comfort there is in Arch-Presever Shoes and Oxfords. The extra comfort you get in these shoes costs you no more than the ordinary shoes men are now wearing. The insole is molded so as to exactly fit the contour of your foot, thus making the pressure evenly distributed from the heel to the toe—that's why they are so easy and comfortable. Ordinary shoes are not molded to fit the bottom of the foot like Arch-Presever Shoes.

The Garden

LAVING OUT THE GARDEN
 Despite the fact that it is always advisable to draw a plan of a garden to scale before planting, it is not one garden in ten that is laid out in this manner. It is along with the spaded earth in front of him. With this rule-of-thumb garden planning it is best to plant the earliest vegetables nearest to the back door, such as radishes, early onions, lettuce and spinach. Often the soil and this will obviate some of the necessary tramping in the mud at this season of the year.

Put in the peas next as they will not be ready to harvest until the earliest crops are out of the way. Then come in with the beets, carrots, early turnips and parsnips. This brings us to the later sowings of long-season crops such as the string beans, lima beans and sweet corn. The earliest sowings of the peas and sweet corn go in as soon as the apples are in blossom. That is as good a guide as any. The ancient motto said when the oak leaves were the size of a squirrel's ear but usually there are lacking both oaks and tame squirrels to make the comparison.

Reserve space into which tomatoes, eggplants and peppers may be planted later and a patch for cucumber and squash vines if desired. As the radishes, spinach and early lettuce come out there is a place to set in later tomatoes and other vegetables or for later plantings of sweet corn and beans. Tomato plants may be set among the peas to be flourishing when it is time to pull out the pea vines.

The most feasible plan at the moment is to start with the earliest season vegetables and move across the garden to the latest and then come back and start over later in the season with follow crops as those mentioned, together with late cabbage, cauliflower, turnips, brussels sprouts or kale for winter greens. It is best to group the long-season vegetables
