BUTTER MART STEADY, FIRM

PORTLAND, Ore., May 28. (AP)—No change is shown in butter quotations for the day but the market continues to show a healthy tone at current levels.

There is a brisk demand for current receipts and quotations on the exchange are a half cent higher at 26 cents. Other grades are steady.

Country dressed meats remain firm and unchanged with offerings on the street moderate. Demand is keen for both choice light hogs and calves.

Live hens are a trifle firmer in the local market due to a temporary shortage. Bids are out at 20 to 21 cents for light birds and 25 to 26 cents for heavy birds. Broilers continue weak and in over supply.

Values in the sheep division ranged sharply lower at the local yards during the late trading. Lambs were uneven to 25c lower; yearlings 50c lower and ewes $1 to $1.25 lower.

Struthers Is Charged With Embezzlement

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, May 28. (AP)—J. Fred Struthers, manager of Waechter Bros. Meat company at Fairbanks, for seven years until February this year, was bound over to a federal grand jury at Fairbanks yesterday on charges of embezzling $17,000.00. He was released on $12,500 bail.

WOULD AMEND BILL

SALEM, Ore., May 28. (AP)—Will R. King and Judge M. L. Phipps today as attorneys applied to the supreme court for authority to amend the bill of exceptions in the Kelley-Willis murder case. The application was denied. It was objected to by District Attorney John H. Carson. King and Phipps wished to have incorporated in the bill the judge's instructions to the jury and also to make other changes.

HEALTH

A DEFINITE TEST FOR SCARLET FEVER

(By Dr. Frederick Stricker)

A bulletin was issued in January on scarlet fever, but on account of the steady increase as shown by our weekly case reports, it is advisable to again warn the citizens of this state of the real seriousness of the disease. No matter how mild a case may be, the complications arising therefrom may be serious. Scarlet fever is increasing in this state, as the following figures demonstrate:

1922 565 cases 21 deaths
1923 815 cases 10 deaths
1924 1195 cases 17 deaths
1925 1409 cases 18 deaths
1926 800 cases 9 deaths

*—Four months.
There are many mild cases of scarlet fever that are never seen by the physician. There are other cases which are so mild that diagnosis is difficult. The mild case is a great factor in spreading the infection. The eruption of scarlet fever may in exceptional cases last only a few hours, while in other it may last 9 to 10 days. In still other cases the eruption becomes faint after the first day and later develops to the full extent. As in measles the eruption may in rare instances be abortive, being so faint as to escape observation. But even in these cases peeling is said to occur.

Scarlet fever is not easy to diagnose in the early stage of the disease. Even after the rash appears it is often difficult to distinguish it from the other eruptive diseases. The Schultz-Crout test for scarlet fever is valuable in making a definite diagnosis where there is an eruption. This test consists of injecting one-tenth of a cubic centimeter of scarlet fever antitoxin in the upper layer of the reddened skin of suspected scarlet fever patients. In scarlet fever after 6 to 8 hours a permanent blanching will take place around the site of injection. The blanching may be a white ring surrounding a red area. It is better observed some distance from patient. Late rashes do not blanch as completely as early ones. There will be no blanching of the area following the injection of the antitoxin, if the patient's rash is not due to scarlet fever.

WOOL REPORT

BOSTON, Mass., May 28. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"Demand for wool continues slow and prices are barely firm. Every branch of the wool textile industry is following very closely the move of the man higher up and extreme caution prevails. It is hoped that the repeat orders for goods may presently come along in better volume, however. There is rather more export trade, chiefly for cape wools."

"London opening Tuesday is expected to find firm on the finer wools but probably easier on medium to coarse crossbreeds. Brisbane, Australia, was very firm this week."

Operations in the west are moderate and prices hardly changed for the week."

"Mohair is in limited supply but firm."

"The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1926 to May 27, 1926, inclusive, were $2,848,000 pounds against 63,885,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1926 to May 27, 1926, inclusive, were 164,523,067 pounds against 124,979,800 pounds for the same period last year."

Unfavorable Reports Strengthen Prices

CHICAGO, May 28. (AP)—Although abnormal scarcity of wheat to settle May contracts received the lion's share of attention in the wheat market today unfavorable crop reports from Kansas and parts of Nebraska tended also to strengthen prices. Beneficial rains in the northwest acted as only an offset in part. A leading authority said the crop outlook in the American northwest was uncertain. Export sales of more than one million bushels of Canadian wheat were noted.

STOCK PRICES CLIMB

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—The upward movement of stock prices was resumed today despite a marked stiffening in call money rates resulting from the heavy holiday demands for currency. Although many large operators were away on extended holiday trips, trading showed a marked expansion in volume, sales in the first three hours approximating 1,050,000 shares.

Operations in the west are moderate and prices hardly changed for the week."
