FIVE WOMEN ARE CREMATED

ROCKFORD, Ill., May 29 (AP)—Miss Mary Wallace and Mrs. Emil Stogdahl, new night shift employees who had been working only 15 minutes, were two of five women burned to death when a spark from a saw ignited a quantity of celluloid in the Sutton Top shop.

Another victim was Mrs. Mary Little, 49, mother of eight children. Nine other persons were seriously burned and a number of other employees of the firm, which deals in auto accessories and manufactures celluloid sun visors, suffered minor injuries, as they swept the building late yesterday.

Only eight of the 13 girls working on the second floor of the two-story building survived the flames, smoke and flames which filled their work room a few seconds after the blast occurred on the first floor. The bodies of five found near a rear window of the room were badly charred. The explosion came just as the day shift was preparing to quit for the day and as the night shift was starting work.

In addition to Mrs. Little and the two new employees, the dead are Helen Mammaly, 21, and Mildred Crutner, 29, both of Rockford.

John Sutton, proprietor of the factory, was seriously burned about the head and arms in an attempt to rescue the girls on the second floor. Police and firemen had to force him from the building.

As at Summerville the wheat and fruit about Elgin was more or less damaged, particularly the spring grain, though this will not mean a serious loss of crop. Most of the territory was stricken to the point of near-extinction, so far as the Observer reporter could learn.

At Imbler damage to fruit has been variously estimated. It is predicted that there will be all the way from 20 to 50 per cent of the original crop that had started on the trees previous to the freezing frosts. Some hold that if the trees of the excess will mean a better crop of fruit than would have resulted had the supposed damage not been done.

Aside from damage to gardens in La Grande, no one has complained of any probable extensive loss of fruit. Neither has any adverse report reached this office from North Powder.

King Breaks Record
 Another championship record was tumbled when Robert King, of Stanford, leaped 6 feet 5 1/2 inches to win the high jump and break the former record of 6 feet 4 1/2 inches made by Heroy Brown, of Dartmouth, in 1923.

La Grande Fans Will Tune in on KOWW
 Yesterday Bud Houser, of Southern California, broke two records, throwing the discus 121 feet 3 1/2 inches and putting the shot 49 feet 11 1/2 inches. Although made in the preliminaries, the records will stand until bettered.

RIFF WAR LORD IS WAITING AT CAMP GIRADOT
 FEZ, Morocco, May 29 (AP)—Abd-el-Krim, the Riffian war lord, who has submitted to the Franco-Spanish forces, is waiting at Camp Giradot, for the long train of pack mules which is to bring his family and belongings, before proceeding into Taza. He formally submitted to the camp to representatives of General Bataillon, the French commander-in-chief, in Morocco. He expects to reach Taza tomorrow, when General Bataillon will receive him with the honors due a gallant foe.

Later Krim will go to Fez, where he will be presented to Jules Steg, the French resident general. He will remain in the Moorish capital, according to present arrangements until the French and Spanish governments have decided what is to be done with him.

MURDER CHARGE IS FILED AGAINST OLYMPIA FARMER
 OLYMPIA, Wash., May 29 (AP)—A criminal complaint charging Roy Jacobs, 25, a farmer living near Olympia, with first degree murder for killing C. H. Baker, 72-year-old Yelm marshal, in the early morning of February 6, was filed in Thurston county superior court today by Roscoe Fullerton, prosecuting attorney. Jacobs was brought to Olympia last night by Sheriff Claude Havens and Deputy Frank Cushman after he is said to have been lured into making a confession by operatives of a detective agency. Baker died in a local hospital on the night of February 6.

INSTRUCTIONS TO JURY ALLOWED IN CONVICT APPEAL
 SALEM, Ore., May 29 (AP)—The state supreme court today allowed a motion by attorneys for Ellsworth Kelley and James Wilcox, sentenced to be hanged for murder in connection with the prison escape of last August, to have the lower court's instructions to the jury incorporated in the bill of exceptions. This was opposed by District Attorney Carson, who claimed the instructions were not part of the record as belonging in the bill of exceptions. The motion was made Thursday before Judge Kelly of the lower court, and he declined to accept jurisdiction because the case was on appeal to the supreme court.

 Havas dispatched from Lisbon say that cavalry is patrolling the streets of the capital day and night as a result of the mutiny of two army divisions which have been reported marching on the city.

CROP DAMAGE IS NOT GREAT

crop, as many believe trees were badly hurt and that the crop will be decidedly short as a consequence, though certain conditions may yet bring more fruit than is figured on.

Cove Fruit Escapes
 John Dean, Cove fruit man, reported this morning that he had made a careful survey of tentative damage there, and that the loss would be slight, comparatively. While most of the gardens were stricken down, such loss would be negligible in contrast to what damage to fruit would have meant.

The cherries, Mr. Dean said, escaped with practically no damage. Neither were prunes affected to any extent, apparently, though strawberries in bloom lost their flowers. Those berries which had begun their yield suffered no damage as the fruit had set. Ten per cent loss on strawberries will be high, it is estimated.

Some Loss at Union
 At Union, however, Mr. Dean said he noticed some damage to prunes on trees about 8 years old. The larger trees showed little sign of injury, he declared.

The heaviest frosts and freezes took their toll from South Union, which fortunately has the least fruit trees. In that end of town, The Observer representative was told that one-fifth of a crop of cherries was all that could be expected. North Union, where most residents have gone quite heavily into fruit, was not visited with so severe a freeze.

BEND IS HOST TO STOCKMEN

BEND, Ore., May 29. (AP)—The Oregon Cattle and Horse Raisers association in annual convention here today, received advice on problems facing the livestock industry from men who are experienced in producing and marketing.

Orderly marketing as seen by a commission man, and what it will do for the producer, was outlined in a talk by H. L. Clark, secretary of the Portland Live Stock Exchange. New freight rates and what they will mean to the livestock shippers were discussed by Arthur A. Geary of Portland.

T. W. Tomlinson of Denver, secretary of American National Live Stock association brought a message to the Oregon cattlemen and horse growers association was on the morning program for a talk.

Suggestions for better team work between the livestock and meat industries were given by James Christensen of Denver division supervisor of the Packers and Stockyards administration. E. L. Potter, preside professor of animal husbandry, Oregon Agricultural college told of experimental results in wintering calves and yearlings.

Governor Walter M. Pierce was to address this convention this afternoon on "our future food supply."

Election of officers and selection of the next convention city were to proceed adjournment late today.

The cattle industry in Oregon is on the up grade. Fred A. Phillips, president of the Oregon cattle and horse raisers association, said in his annual message yesterday.

Others Working On Wallowa Lake Road

Oiling operations started on the La Grande-Wallaiva Lake highway will be placed before operations on the La Grande-Wallaiva Lake highway have been completed.

In the vicinity of Pendleton workmen are patching and reoiling small sections west of Pendleton, between that city and Umatilla, but there is no wet oil.

In the Baker section there is no oiling going on at present, but east of Baker, from Huntington, toward Ontario oil is being applied. No detour in this section makes it necessary for traffic to go through the oil.

Between here and Union several small pieces along the highway shoulders were patched, but most of the oil is dry by now.

1870. The funds for its construction were subscribed by farmers and business men, the understanding being that the building should be L. O. T. M., Itsekah and Modern Woodman.

The fruit growers at that time were T. V. Conklin, 40 acres; Conklin Bros., 50 acres; K. J. Stackland, 50 acres; G. W. Thomas, 30 acres; and J. M. Seiders, 30 acres.

Though without a railway connection, Cove had daily stages to Union and La Grande, these being the cities to which Cove sent most of her fruit, berries and other products.

The facts of the foregoing story were furnished by Mrs. John Conklin, of Cove, Ore.

The Memories of Our Heroes Go Marching Down the Ages

Cheerfully they went and cheerfully they returned—all save some whose stories of heroism are mutely told by the breaks in the ranks.

The 30th of May every year we dedicate to them. Once again the final salute of the rifle is heard as "Taps" command our attention. And as the smoke floats away we decorate the resting places of those whom God called.
