COOPERATION ON OILED ROADS.

Thanks to the decision of the Oregon state highway commission, this year, many of the cities and town from The Dalles to Ontario have reason to rejoice over the prospect of The Old Oregon Trail becoming an oiled highway leading to and through them, before the summer is over.

Now the commission is oiling between La Grande city limits and Perry, employing two trucks to hasten completion of the section. While the work is going on, it will be necessary for motorists to drive through the oil, as no detour can be provided.

THE IOWA SENATORIAL PRIMARY.

The campaign between Brookhart, unseated senator, and Senator Cummins, Iowa's venerable warhorse in the United States senate, for the republican senatorial nomination, was one of the most unusual in the country, though it was not a wild and bitter fight.

Brookhart, raving at the money gods of Wall street, the "big interests" which were seeking to "enslave the farmer," is thoroughly anti-administration. Cummins, a staunch conservative statesman of long service, while not anti-Coolidge, is nevertheless a pro-farmer in attitude and is opposed to Coolidge's policy that has denied farm relief.

More important than these, however, was the principle involved, according to still another group, which called for Brookhart's return. They said that Cummins' nomination would mean that Iowa is back in line, conservative again; would mean that the need of farm relief is mostly oral and not of great importance.

There is much merit in this view and this no doubt had much to do with the primary result. Certain it is that the final count was watched with keen interest by the administration, by its friends and by its foes.

OFFICE CAT By Junius. Illustration of a cat.

Clara—The back of my neck tickles. Gladys—Perhaps you've got the bobber's itch.

Of course, Mable, we know about tulips, but really we don't believe you'd obtain any results from planting electric light bulbs.

"There's a town in Ohio named after you." "Which one?" "Marblehead."

Why is it that when two women hate each other like the very devil, they always kiss a couple of times when they meet on the street.

"Do you sleep with your window open?" "Naw, just my mouth."

TALKATIVE BARBER (about to lather): "Would you mind shutting your mouth, sir?" "Tired Customer: "No, would you?"

TALCUM VS. TEARS. Today girls seldom weep. And this is why: The pretty dears must keep their powder dry.

It is estimated that the total cost of government in this country last year was $10,282,000,000—proving again that the American people will pay almost anything for amusement.

"A fool can ask more questions than a wise man can answer. Isn't that so?" "I cannot answer you."

Sir, your wife is charged with impersonating an officer. Well, it's a good thing he didn't get her mad, or she'd have done worse than that.
