Rod LaRocque in New Film, "Braveheart"

An epic Indian picture screened for the greater part on Indian ground in the mountains and river country of Oregon, widely known as "Alps of America," Rod LaRocque's new star vehicle, "Braveheart," which will be on view at the Sherry theater for two days beginning Sunday, is said to be one of the most beautiful photoplays thus far issued from the Cecil B. DeMille studios in California.

The story adapted by Mary O'Hara from William C. DeMille's famous play, "Strongheart," is a typical American Indian tale. It is in no sense a regulation western thriller with its hardy pioneers who are constantly battling with Indian scalping parties, but it is a thoroughly modern story of an Indian football hero and of his love and noble sacrifice for a white girl. How he learns at last, through humiliation and sorrow, that the not only logical but intensely dramatic never mix, makes the theme not only logical but intensely dramatic and colorful.

There are four featured players in the cast. They include Lillian Rich, leading woman, Robert Edwards, famous stage player and creator of the role of "Strongheart," Tyrone Power, a veteran of stage and screen, and Jean Acker, a screen favorite. Among the supporting players are Sally Rand, Henry Victor and Frank Hagney, all players of ability on stage and screen. In addition to these, scores of Indians are employed in the most thrilling scenes which occur on an Indian reservation.

The picture was directed by Alan Hale under the personal supervision of Cecil B. DeMille.

Gladiators Head List of Acts Sunday

One of the most diversified vaudeville programs of the season is promised at the Arcade theater on Sunday.

The list is headed by the Gladiators in "Roman Pastimes." Their performance is characterized by the smooth and confident manner in which they perform the most daring feats. Van and Morris is another bright spot on the bill. They are fun vendors in "Ye Ar-fable Pair." Little Lake and company, in a musical and dancing review, is comprised of four performers of the rollicking kind. Varyan and Landis, "The Fast-stepping Man and Maid," do dancing as their particular specialty. Dave Monahan, "The Syncopating Xylophonist," is unlike other artists who specialize in the playing of this favorite musical instrument.

Star to Show Fields' Comedy, "Old Army Game"

If more funny gags exist than have been used in W. S. Fields' first Paramount comedy, "The Old Army Game," which will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Star theater, your correspondent doesn't know of them. Fields' premiere as a motion picture star, can only be characterized as a whopping success.

"It's the Old Army Game" is the screen-adapted funny tale of Blimie Prettyville, (W. S. Fields), owner of a drug store in a small Florida town. This shop serves as a meeting place for the townspeople, and those who would buy stamps, magazines, books or use the telephone. In other words, everything is sold but—drugs.

Louise Brooks, a little lady who promises to create nothing short of a sensation, because of her portrayal as the girl Fields would like to marry, gives a mighty fine performance.

Among other things shown in this cinema circus, is the young man who arrives in Florida, not to buy real estate—but to sell New York City lots to the southerners! He being a handsome young peeper—and Louise being what she is—they fall in love with each other. How Fields manages to become involved in a case of fraud, go to New York and get his love affairs straightened out, take up the remainder of this comedy.

All the way through the film one can detect the reliable guiding hand of Edward Sutherland, the director of "Behind the Front."

Also on the bill will be Charley Chase's latest comedy for Hal Roach entitled "Long Pliv the King." and Louie Richard III of England during a tense moment of a decisive battle remarked that he would give his kingdom for a horse. There comes a time in Young Charley's life when he would have given his kingdom for a pair of pants. But that's but one of the amusing moments to be found in what is said to be a "wow" of a comedy.

PASADENA, Cal.—Charles Padlock, once known to the public as "world's fastest human," had a new distinction heaped upon him last night. A large gathering of Masons witnessed the conferring of the third degree of masonry on the sprinter.

When a large and a small person drive the car alternately, and where a cushion is needed for one and not for the other, it is a good plan to have the cushion fastened to straps that are tacked to the back of the driver's seat.

Honk! Honk! Honk!
"Jack drank gasoline in mistake for whisky."
"No, did he?"
"Yes, and now instead of hicking he honks."

Lightning destroyed a church clock in Eaton, Pa. It was an antique. Quite an old timer.
