

NEWS of SOCIETY

Mrs. E. H. Boylan was a charming hostess Thursday afternoon to the members of the Jolly Bridge club at her new home on Greenwood street. The house was prettily decorated with many bouquets of flowers, representing a rear garden.

The luncheon table was arranged a pretty pink and blue color scheme yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Carolyn Rosenthal charmingly entertained the members of the Junior Bridge club at a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Tiffin.

Little Miss Nancy Guild, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Guild, celebrated her tenth birthday anniversary on Thursday afternoon by entertaining several of her little friends with a picnic luncheon at Verside park. Later in the afternoon the children were taken to the Cove, where they enjoyed the remainder of the afternoon swimming at the Cove swimming pool.

Mrs. E. N. Keown entertained the members of the Carnation club of a degree of Honor Protective association last evening. There was a short business session during the party part of the evening, presided over by Mrs. H. E. Williams, during which time Mrs. Robert R. Key was chosen as president, to take the place of Mrs. D. C. Dunham, who is visiting in Idaho this summer.

Three tables of bridge were set up after the business meeting. Mrs. Carry won high score, and Mrs. Jack Hlatt received the second prize. The consolation prize went to Mrs. Milton Price. Bouquets of flowers in pink and blue were arranged about the rooms.

Members of the Friday Afternoon Bridge club met for the last time until after the summer vacation yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Clyde Huntington was hostess at her home on Adams avenue. Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon with Mrs. Charles Beddingfield winning high score and Mrs. Fred Smith the second prize.

Lovely bouquets of yellow and red snapdragons were arranged out the rooms forming a delightful setting for the card games. The stess served a dainty two-course luncheon after the games.

Members of the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mac Moran, on Third street, for the last regular meeting of the fall. Assisting Mrs. Moran as stesses were: Mrs. W. D. Pickens, Mrs. Bullis and Mrs. J. D. Inch.

Mrs. Robert Eakin had charge of the afternoon's program. The object was "The Philippines," following her talk there was a round-table discussion. About twenty members were present. Following the program the dainty refreshments were served and the remainder of the afternoon was spent visiting.

The groom has lived at Cove most of his life and is a graduate of the Cove high school. The young couple will make their home here, having already begun housekeeping in a little cottage in the north side of town.

SALEM, Ore., June 12 (AP).—The official count by Secretary of State Kozer of the vote cast in the primary election of May 21 shows that Frederick Stelwer's plurality over Robert N. Stanfield, his closest opponent in the race for republican senatorial nomination was 19,616. The official canvass of the vote will be Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

On the democratic side, Oswald West had a lead of 1579 over Milton A. Miller, nearest opponent, and 7697 over Will H. King, the incumbent.

Haney Wia Affirmed. Haney's lead over Watkins for the senatorial nomination was 2484 votes. The democrats had no candidate on the ballot for representative in congress in the first and second districts, but in the Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal, thin cream, crisp toast, soft cooked eggs, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Ring mold of chicken, tomato salad, French rolls, pineapple ice, feather cake, milk, tea.

Dinner—Ham baked in milk, rice, potatoes, new carrots in orange sauce, spinach salad, strawberry bavarian cream, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

This luncheon menu offers a suggestion for an informal company luncheon. Hot or cold bouillabaisse could be served as a "beginner" if a more elaborate repast is desired. This chicken concoction is also satisfactory for Sunday night supper when guests are expected.

Ring Mold of Chicken. Two cups finely chopped chicken, 1/2 cup finely chopped cooked ham, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups hot milk, 2 eggs, paprika, 1 teaspoon minced parsley.

It will take a chicken weighing about three pounds to make the required amount of meat. Remove meat from bones and free from skin. Chop very fine with the ham, blending thoroughly. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. When thick add beaten and heat the mixture vigorously. Season with salt, paprika and parsley and turn into a well buttered ring mold. Cover with buttered paper and place on several thicknesses of cloth in a large pan. Surround with hot water and bake 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

Captain Dutton and the Home Guard are leaving Monday morning for Medford. Let us all go down and see the boys off. I know they are a wonderful bunch of boys because one of them by the name of Guy Rogers works for us. He goes over the top for us every day. I believe if I would tell him to climb a tree 125 feet high and tie a red flag on the top branch that he would almost break his neck in trying it. If all the boys are made up of the same kind of hide and hair and backbone that Guy Rogers is, it would take only a few of them to scare a foreign army to death. We will not put any "ifs and ands" about it. Home Guard sounds like a tame name, but you let some kind of trouble arise and every one of those boys that is so full of fun will become real men in the twinkling of an eye. There is just as much patriotism in our veins in the time of peace as there is in the time of war. My father was a Civil war veteran and if you would start up the old time of "Marching Through Georgia" it set every fiber in his body on fire. We'll end by saying: Boys, go down and have a good time and may the Lord go with you, give you a safe journey and bring you back again.

Chandler, of Los Angeles, told the osteopathic convention yesterday in Portland, according to a letter received by The Observer today from Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Ingie, who are in attendance. Regular systematic exercise properly directed is of great importance in the treatment of high blood pressure cases, the heart specialist said.

Dr. Ingie also addressed the convention, his subject being "Osteopathy in Industry." The convention closes this evening with a banquet at Hotel Heathman. The Ingies will return to La Grande Monday.
