BE TRUE—"Thou shalt not raise a false report; put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness."

Autoist who blindly drives past a traffic cop may feel embarrassed, but what about the cop?

A physical director says the race is becoming more supple. No doubt these athletic union suits and upper berths have something to do with it.

Fine weather, fine exhibits, fine riding, fine races and other contests, fine attendance and only one jockey fined. In other words, the Union livestock exposition has been a fine show. Everybody feelin' fine, too.

Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, has again been hanged in effigy, this time in Arizona. Say, if the doctor stays in office long enough to permit the American farmer to hang him in effigy seven times more, he'll have the proverbial 9-lived cat cheated all hollow.

ANCIENT SCIENCE.

Prof. Breasted, Egyptologist of the University of Chicago, finds that a good many of the medical and surgical discoveries made by our modern scholars were known to the ancient Egyptians. We have been merely learning for ourselves what Egypt forgot thousands of years ago.

He is engaged in translating a surgical treatise written by some unknown Egyptian in the seventeenth century before Christ which he says will be "epoch-making in the field of modern medicine," and which "shows that the ancients had a real knowledge of anatomy, and ability to observe that is absolutely unparalleled."

WHAT WOMEN WANT.

Addressing an audience of club women, W. F. Bigelow, editor of Good Housekeeping, tells them:

"I have felt your power when you got behind anything in which you were all interested. At such times I have doubted whether anything could stop American womanhood on the march. At other times I have wondered whether anything in the world had more inertia than this same body when its heart was not touched."

"You women can get anything you want, if you really want it. You wanted the vote and you got it. You wanted prohibition and you got it, although you are letting yourselves be fooled into thinking you made a mistake."

"You wanted the maternity act and you got it. You did not want the child labor amendment, and you did not get it, and you won't get it, now or ever, unless you decide the protection of child life is more precious than anything else in the world."

"I am not sure that you want a federal department of education. I wish you did want it, because we need it and it waits on you."

True it is that women get what they want, when they make their wants known. Ask any husband or father. Or any politician. They might even get the prohibition they used to say they wanted, if they agreed about that and made their desire clearly known to lawmakers and executives.

POLITICAL PAY DAY IS LIKE A RUN

Topley, treasurer of the Pepper-Fisher organization in Pittsburg, One Wednesday morning, the witness continued there was a "great clamoring" at Vane headquarters caused by "people clamoring for money."

Line Three Deep The line of payees was three deep, he said, and extended for 150 feet in the street outside the building. The Vane system of paying off was "not so efficient" and did not work quite so fast as the Pepper-Fisher headquarters he added.

Beutel, who was chairman of the speakers' committee at Phincho's Pittsburg headquarters, was preceded on the stand by another Phincho worker, T. Henry Walnut, in charge of Philadelphia headquarters, who put into the record a statement showing receipts of $28,397, with expenditures of $24,171 by the committee in Philadelphia.

Watchers on Payroll Some of the more important expenditures listed were $7,200 for watchmen; $3,630 for "salaries"; $3,152 for printing and $1,000 for meetings.

Colonel Robert Clendenning, of Philadelphia, also testified how he had organized a committee to support Senator Pepper, and had put on it every one he thought was good for a $1,000 contribution.

Beutel told the committee he knew of no case where no offer outright of $10 was made for a vote, "but instead they hire you as a watcher."

He then described for the committee "Pittsburg cheating," a very low type of individual, who is paid to work off "watch" for one candidate and then vote for another.

"Then you have a code of morals in Pittsburg," Senator Reed remarked, "if you are bought, you ought to stay bought."

The witness expressed the opinion that anybody with sufficient money could gully Pittsburg. He said he had heard that prices had been placed on certain wards—that they could be carried for anybody for certain sums "by buying the ward leaders."

Money All-Powerful "I'd say the balance of power can be bought in Pittsburg," Beutel added.

"I thought this time, wasn't it?" asked Reed.

"I'm thoroughly convinced of it. I estimated approximately 29,000 men got money at the Vane and Pepper headquarters. Many of those were drawing the pay for the others, so I think the total might run to 50,000."

LEEDS JOINS HIS PRINCESS

CHICAGO, June 12, (AP)—Tanned by a south sea holiday, William B. Leeds, heir to the $40,000,000 tin plate fortune of his late father, started here today with his wife, the Princess Xenia, of Russia, on a honeymoon.

They met last night, Leeds coming from the Pacific coast and his wife from the Orient by way of N. Y., home as the result of a telephone call said to have cost $125. Chicago was selected for the reunion, they said, because they wanted to meet quickly and secretly.

No Rift They laughed at stories of any rift in their marital life, declaring: "We're utterly in love." Nor did they even mind the interview in their hotel suite after they had thought their elaborate plans for secrecy successful. The young heir evaded recognition for some hours after his arrival, by dodging through back doors of hotels and station corridors, but after he had been joined by his wife the two "surrendered" to newspaper men and photographers.

The princess in a black suit with a white gardenia in her button-hole, a green hat and a colorful bracelet authorized the information that she is Russian and not Greek.

Of Royal Line She is the second daughter she pointed out, of Grand Duke Mikhaelovitch, of Russia, and Princess Marie Georgievna of Greece. The latter was a sister of the late King Constantine, last of the Romanoff line. In her native tongue, said the princess, her name is "Kaenia."

Leeds dressed his recent vacation in the south seas poor conversational timber, and threw no light on reports that he had ignored Honolulu's elite to play with the beach boys. But called himself a "very good swimmer."

The couple will return east together, they said, probably about the middle of next week.

Stock Prices Climb Skyward With New Pep

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—The upward movement of stock prices proceeded with renewed vigor in today's abbreviated market session. Favored by constructive news from the railroad and manufacturing fields recognized leaders in these groups headed an advance which gained sufficient momentum to force hurried short covering in a number of issues.

Heavy buying of General Motors, which carried that stock to a new top price for the year at 128, was based on indications that auto buying had continued at a high rate into June.

Constructive operations were carried forward in many of the leading rail stocks. The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 900,000 shares.

Selling Setback Cause In Grain Trade Today

CHICAGO, June 12 (AP)—General selling in which houses with eastern connections took the lead brought about a decided setback in wheat prices today. Buying support was lacking. Harvesting was reported to be making rapid progress in the southwest with favorable weather and an increased movement of wheat to primary centers was looked for. There were beneficial rains in the American northwest and also in Canada.

Wheat closed weak 1 1/2 to 2c net lower; corn 1/2 to 1c down; oats 1/2 to 1 1/2c off and provisions unchanged to 20c lower.

The second worst thing about bigamy is that you may be sent to jail for it.

A young La Grande lady tattles about a young clapper who just had a new dancing frock made, and of course tried it on for her mother's inspection. Her mother criticized the back of the waist claiming it did not match the skirt.

"But mother, that isn't the waist, that's me," explained daughter.

"Ah, in storage, eh?" "No, my daughter has learned to drive."

"What has become of that bad curve just outside of the ridge?" "The town did away with it." "A good idea." "Yes, it was cheaper to do that than build a hospital."
