Coming Nuptials Are Announced

News has been received here of the engagement of Miss Katherine Virginia Lindsay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Lindsay, of Spokane, Washington, to Roy Wilkinson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Wilkinson, of Tacoma.

The engagement was announced at an informal dinner party at the Beta Phi sorority house at Pullman late last week. Miss Lindsay is a sophomore at the college and Mr. Wilkinson is a senior in the same school. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. Just the sorority sisters of Miss Lindsay were present for the dinner party. Miss Lindsay's family is well known in Spokane and also in Grande Ronde valley. Her father is president of the Fidelity National bank of Spokane. Mr. Lindsay made his home here all of his life before going to Spokane about twenty-eight years ago. Miss Lindsay comes to La Grande every summer to spend several weeks at the home of her father and visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Alice E. Lindsay, and her aunt, Mrs. E. J. Stinson. During her many visits here she has made a number of friends among the younger people of Eastern Oregon, who will be interested to hear of her nuptials.

Sister Mary Says:

(By Sister Mary)

Breakfast—Stewed dried peaches, cereal, thin cream, combination omelet, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Vegetable salad in aspic, brown bread and cream cheese sandwiches, cherry pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Mutton stew, boiled rice, stewed tomatoes, head lettuce with chiffonade dressing, shredded fresh pineapple, chocolate nut cookies, rice bread, milk, coffee.

If you have one green onion and two small radishes mince them finely and add them to a rule of French dressing to make chiffonade dressing. And if you happen to have half—more or less—of a sweet green pepper mince it and add too. This is such an appetizing and economical way to change a lettuce salad that it's worth keeping in mind during the fresh vegetable months.

Chocolate Nut Cookies

Two tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 4 tablespoons milk, 2 squares bitter chocolate, 1 cup chopped nut meats, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Combine butter, sugar and eggs and beat with a Dover beater. Mix thoroughly and add milk, vanilla and chocolate melted over hot water. Mix well and drop from tip of spoon onto an oiled and floured cookie sheet. Bake 15 minutes in a moderate oven.

CROWN PRINCE STARTS TRIP

NEW YORK, June 15. (AP)—With expressions of regret at leaving "the warm human heart beneath New York's steel and stone exterior," Crown Prince Gustavus Adolfus, of Sweden Monday fared north on the first lap of a journey that will take him and his royal party across the continent.

Prior to leaving for New Haven, where he is to receive a degree at Yale university, the crown prince said:

"Whatever may be in store for us in the future, we shall never forget either the first impression of Lower Manhattan or the popular welcome we received in the midst of those towering business buildings. In the entire world there is no other place like the skyscraper district of New York but we had ample proof that there is a wealth of warm human feeling beneath the steel and stone exterior."

He thanked reporters and photographers for the "refreshing novelty" their reception had given him on his arrival.

The Garden

ANNUALS AT ANY TIME.

Poppies, petunias, larkspurs and bachelor buttons or cornflowers may well qualify as any-time annuals. They come into bloom so quickly from seed that they can be sown in midsummer and still produce a fine show of bloom.

The poppy is the quickest to function, followed by the cornflowers, larkspurs and petunias in order. Shirley poppy seed may be scattered thinly in any bare patch that happens in the garden until into August and there will be flowers before snow flies. This annual has been developed into one of the most delicately beautiful as well as one of the showiest in the garden. The new salmon and pink shades are particularly fine.

The double stock-flowered larkspurs are one of the finest of the garden plants for cutting that can be quickly raised from seed. The larkspur spins up to bloom with astonishing speed during the warm months. Spring-sown seed will self-sow in plenty of time for a second crop of bloom if allowed to mature its pods.

The small-flowered bedding types of petunia sometimes start blooming when they are only three inches tall and once started they continue to spread out both vertically and horizontally and to develop more and more bloom until a killing frost checks their careers. They are most satisfactory annuals for a quick and gay display.

The cornflower, which is an exceedingly hardy annual, young plants withstanding winter freezing, sometimes will produce three generations of blooms in a season. The self-sown seedlings of the previous year coming into bloom in early May, starting a fresh family in June and another in September. The double forms are fine for cutting. This annual is best confined to an odd corner for cutting only, as its foliage is against it but it is such a willing bloomer it is always welcome for bouquets. It has some beautiful shades of deep blue and has become a favorite florists' flower. All of these annuals can be sown for a month.
