La Grande Girl Works Way Through College

Working her way, first as an assistant in the health service department and later in the university dispensary, Miss Jane Gavin, a former La Grande high school girl and a graduate of St. Vincent's hospital in Portland, finished a four-year course at the University of Oregon Monday and was graduated with her class.

Miss Gavin is a daughter of John Gavin, at Pruitdale, and a sister of Mrs. Charles Gump. After attending Sacred Heart academy and the high school here, she went to Portland, where she was graduated from St. Vincent's hospital. In 1922, while she was serving at the hospital as recording librarian, she decided that she needed more education if she was to occupy a position of the responsibility she craved. So she enrolled that fall at Eugene. She found work as the assistant of Dr. Bortha Stewart, who was in charge of physical education and the health service for women, during her first three years. As a senior, she found employment in the dispensary.

Miss Gavin is expected home in a few days for a vacation with relatives there.

PLACE BIBLE IN SCHOOLS

APPLETON, Wis., June 16 (AP) - The Bible has taken its place alongside the primer, arithmetic book and spelling in eighteen Wisconsin cities where the school and church have combined to promote the spiritual welfare of its future citizens.

A voluntary plan of religious education through which children of the grammar school spend a portion of their school day two or three times a week, studying the Bible and religious history, is in effect. The religious schools are supported by the parents of the children who volunteer to attend.

The teaching methods of the public school have been adopted, and the curriculum consists of hymns, memorizing certain scripture passages and the regular lessons which are taken from the Bible.

Course Meets Creed Problem

Difficulties of the conduct of religious schools presented by the interdenominational complexion of the children attending, has been surmounted through planning the courses to meet objections.

Dr. J. R. DeWey of Lawrence College, as head of the department of religious education, he was instrumental in establishing the first of the schools in Appleton.

The hymns taught are those common in both worlds and made to all the contributing churches. The child is taught to link up his own everyday problems with the Biblical stories. At the same time, he is kept rigidly to the historical connections so that he will learn the growth of the religious idea through the history of the Hebrew people.

In supplying textbooks, the question of denomination was not considered, as it was felt that all text material should be free from barren formalism and sectarian emphasis. Material which would readily acquaint the children with the Bible, emphasizing primarily the fundamental teachings of Jesus Christ and study books which would be adapted to the life problems of the boys and girls were selected.

Results at the Appleton school, established five years ago, have been satisfactory.

RELIEF KARNAK BROUGHT WAS ALMOST LIKE MAGIC

Neighbor Got Seattle Woman to Try This Medicine and Now She Can't Praise It Enough For Restoring Her to Such Splendid Health.

"I surely do have great faith in Karnak—it's undoubtedly the best medicine I ever heard of," declares Mrs. William Slinkaker, of 8815 20th Ave., S. W., Seattle, Wash.

"About a year ago I had a terrible time with the flu, and it just left me in awful condition," continues Mrs. Slinkaker. "It seemed like there was a continual pounding in my head, my stomach was all upset, and I had attacks of rheumatism and neuritis that just made me miserable, too."

"Why, I had such terrible pains in my right side, shoulder and limbs that I would almost cry out at times, and I just couldn't get any rest. I suffered with indigestion most of the time and had miserable pains through my stomach that kept me from enjoying anything I'd eat. I was just so rundown I scarcely had a particle of strength or energy.

"Well, a neighbor of mine told me how wonderfully Karnak built her up after having the flu, and I began taking the medicine right away. The first bottle helped me so remarkably that I got two more, and now I am on my third bottle.

"The pains just disappeared from my side, shoulder and limbs almost like magic, and I can sit down at the table and eat whatever I want without my stomach hurting me a particle afterwards. That pounding sensation has gone from my head, I sleep like a child at night, and I have so much new strength and energy I am just like a different person. I simply can't say enough for Karnak."

Karnak is sold in La Grande by the L. & L. Drug Co., and all leading druggists.—Adv.

PLOT TO PREVENT MARRIAGE FAILS; MANY HELP CUPID

PAULSBORO, N. J., June 16 (AP) - Dr. William H. Pounds, 74, a former mayor of Paulsboro, and his bride 52, Tuesday were receiving congratulations from 170 in townpeople after he had blocked efforts to prevent his marriage by having him committed to the state hospital for the insane.

Dr. Pounds and Miss Jennie Stiles were married shortly before midnight, after two score indignant citizens had driven to the hospital in Trenton in motor cars and convinced authorities that Dr. Pounds was of sound mind. The aged man was torn from the side of his intended bride Monday morning by two unidentified men, who displayed papers calling for his commitment to the institution. Dr. Pounds asserted that his son, Charles, who lives in Newton Square, Pa., was responsible for his treatment.

The action aroused the populace of Paulsboro. Nearly 50 citizens went to Trenton to obtain Dr. Pounds' release and when they returned with him the entire town turned out. Factory whistles shrieked and church bells sounded a welcome that brought men, women and children to the streets.
