INSURANCE MAN TELLS ON FRIEND

He suffered considerably from gas in stomach and colic attacks, and at times was very yellow. His doctors diagnosed his ailment as gall bladder trouble and that an operation was necessary. Someone persuaded him to try "Mylars." Since taking it one year ago he tells me he has been able to eat anything. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists. Adv.

Realism Marks "Wreckage" Film At Sherrys

There usually is a quantity of obvious hobnob in the average picture of the sea, but it is marked by its absence in "Wreckage," the Banner Production which opened last night at the Sherry theater. There is a shipwreck scene and is a shipwreck. A small ship, to be sure, but that does not lessen the size of the waves which are Pacific Ocean waves and no fooling. You see them and you know that they are real.

May Allison and Holmes Herbert were caught in them and you can compare as you see these two struggling in the high breakers. As a matter of fact, the life boat overturned and Miss Allison and Herbert nearly lost their lives. In order to get the wreck scene Scott Dunlap, the director, and Ben Veschelber, the producer, obtained a small boat, equipped it to resemble a liner and took the cast out into a Pacific sea.

The result is realism of a striking nature. The story is from the novel "Savage" by Izola Farrow, dealing with the lovely daughter of a man supposed to be a slaugher of goats, a bogus nobleman and a rany American who thinks and acts simultaneously. It makes a corking good picture with action in every foot of reel. Supporting the stars are John Miljan, James Morrison and Rosemary Theby, the girl who played for the screen thirteen years without once leaning toward the stage. Comedy showing "His Taking Ways."

Raymond Hatton A Riot In "Born to the West"

Raymond Hatton, whose comedy team work with Wallace Henry in "Behind the Front," is still a laughing memory, furnishes many new laughs in "Born to the West." Paramount's picturization of Zane Grey's story, which comes to the Star theater for an engagement of three days, starting Thursday.

This time the little comedian is teamed with Jack Holt. Hatton, braved only when his pal, Jack Holt, "Colorado" Rudd, is at his elbow, seems to wiggle in and out of trouble in carefree manner all through the picture.

"Born to the West" bring Jack Holt to the screen in one of his best roles to date. Margaret Morris and Arletta Marchal, representative American and French beauties, furnish the pulchritude and drama, the former as the childhood sweetheart of Holt and Miss Marchal as a dance-hall girl.

Paramount has provided a most brilliant supporting cast which includes George Slegman, Tom Kennedy, Richard Sell and Edith Yorkes.

There are no dull moments and thrills abound. They include novel gun-play, a horse and rider leaping cliffs to escape pursuers and heart-stopping scenes with a runaway coach.

John Waters directed the picture under the personal supervision of Hector Turnbull, Associate Producer for Paramount. Lucien Hubbard adapted the story to the screen.

A Georgian who has a hen that produces "double" eggs, each egg containing two yolks and measuring seven and one-half to seven and three-quarters inches in oval circumference, is endeavoring to evolve a new breed of fowl that will regularly produce such eggs.

Harry Langdon Feature Coming To Arcade Thursday

Harry Langdon, First National comedy king, is due to arrive at the Arcade theater Thursday for a stay of three days, in his first feature length comedy, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp."

With this picture the noted comedian steps into the super-comedy class of Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd. Under the terms of his recent contract with First National he is to appear in a series of feature-length comedies.

The story of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" is an original with Langdon and one which he has had in mind for some time. It deals with a cross-country walking race.
