"Good and Naughty" Coming to Arcade Wednesday, Thursday

If you are a "Cinderella Girl" you will want to see "Good and Naughty," starring Pola Negri, which comes to the Arcade theater on Wednesday and Thursday.
 A "Cinderella Girl" is one who does not realize her natural charm and beauty, or for some reason has never taken advantage of them.
 Every girl, as this picture shows, has a great deal of untraveled attractiveness. She can bring out her charm to advantage if she will only take the trouble to do so.
 "The story of "Good and Naughty" is from the Avery Hopwood stage farce, "Naughty Cinderella." It is the tale of a girl who is intensely wrapped up in her work as the assistant to a designer of homes and interiors for the smart set of New York. She is secretly in love with her employer but he pays scant attention to her, focusing his attention on the wife of a millionaire patron.
 But as generally happens in such situations, he finds himself embroiled in a tangle that bids fair to cause much unpleasantness. And Pola Negri, as the girl, makes a valiant effort to save him. In order to accomplish her mission she dresses in a manner that becomes her and expertly brings out the true loveliness of which she is possessed.
 It is not giving away too much of the picture's secret to state that she wins the love of her employer, portrayed by the inimitable actor, Tom Moore.

"Chasing Trouble" Full of Speed and Excitement

Plotter, rusters, dishonest sheriffs, beautiful girls, handsome westerners and unscrupulous villains hold the screen at the Star theater today and Wednesday in one of the most thrilling western productions of the season.
 The picture is "Chasing Trouble" and the star is that gallant hard-fighting westerner, Pete Morrison, who is rapidly becoming one of the screen's most popular stars in this type of picture.
 Genuine and unadulterated entertainment is the sum total of all this action, fighting and love-making. With never a dull instant from beginning to end, the picture contains more thrills, suspense, comedy and all the other ingredients than is ordinarily to be found in two photoplays.
 Morrison uncovers plots, vanquishes villains, makes love to the heroine and extricates himself from a multitude of unenviable situations with an ease worthy of H. H. Artsgan. Over all this swifling action, Morrison casts his engaging personality like a magic spell. He is, in essence, the very spirit of the romantic west as we enjoy having it pictured for us.
 In addition to the thrill-packed plot, there are many other enjoyable features of the production. Some excellent riding, at which Morrison is almost unequalled, and some pictorially beautiful mountain and snow scenes, and a blizzard so realistic that it makes you wish eagerly that you had brought your overcoat to the theater.
 "Chasing Trouble" is a Blue-Stream Western production, made for Universal release by Larint Productions, Milburn Morante directed the picture, from the original story by Frank Berendorf.
 The supporting cast includes Gene Reed, Tom London, Roy Watson, Frances Frel, Joe Bennett, Elmer Reed and other.
 A Larry Simon comedy is also being shown.
