PROGRAM FOR INSTITUTE IS WORKING OUT

Practically every interest of the homemaker has been considered in the outlining of the program that the institute will afford. Four days will be given to the lectures and demonstrations. And they will be shifted from hour to hour on the succeeding programs so that women unable to attend all of the sessions may hear some discussion on each of the subjects.

Tuesday morning, to begin with, the hour from 9:30 to 10:30 will be devoted to a very practical demonstration in millinery by Miss Esther H. Cooley, of O. A. C. "Old Hats for New" is the descriptive title of the lesson. The instruction will be in two parts, the latter half to be given at 3:30 p. m. the same day.

Mrs. Beth Bailey McClean will show the attendants from 10:20 to noon how to prepare an informal buffet supper and the proper service to go with it.

Although every author on the program is a headliner and a distinct feature, probably the cooking school section under the direction of Mrs. McClean will be the most popular. Not only is she the best authority on the subject in the Northwest, but she is of national repute in lines of cookery. She will provide a program far superior in every way to the cooking school conducted by the paper last year. The Observer feels confident that her sessions will be crowded throughout the four days.

"The Family Dinner," "The Family Luncheon" and "The Company Dinner" will each be treated by Mrs. McClean in her inclusive way. Her dicta on solutions of service problems are recognized all over the country as ultimate.

GOLD STRIKES LURE MINERS

GRANTS PASS, July 2. (AP)—Following the recent gold strike in Robertson claim near here, two new rich gold strikes are causing gold fever in Southern Oregon to assume new proportions.

From the hills on Piddlers' gulch, associated with early Josephine county mining activities, came word yesterday of another strike which may rival that of the Robertson's in the Galice district. Specimens of the gold brought in from the Britany mine eight miles west of Corby shows fine gold in every rock. Rich free milling ore was also broken into at the Afterthought mine on Thompson creek.

A five-foot vein of Britany mine has been cut in seven places at a depth of 65 feet, at which point the rich ore was struck with a crosscut. One sample of 20 pounds sent to the Selby smelter returned $146.19 after all charges had been deducted. The ore also runs 262 ounces of silver per ton. Local mining men believe the new developments are a continuation of the Robertson body of ore, and believe new deposits will be discovered.

The Afterthought mine strike is in a property that has been worked for 20 years. Ore has been taken out valued at $20 a ton in the past. Mining men believe the new strike will run as high as $200 a ton.

being anticipated for the court to instruct the jury. It is estimated that the case will not be given to the jury men before well along into Saturday.

J. C. Blackington, who was on the stand for the greater part of Thursday, suffered a slight heart attack soon after his recall when court convened at 9 o'clock this morning. He revived in a few minutes after medical aid had been given.

Mrs. Blackington, called to testify for the first time, declared that her husband had been seriously ill for about six weeks before he came to La Grande May 23. For two weeks he was confined to his bed by sciatica, she said, and four or five times he was near death from heart trouble.
