NEW YORK—The mayor of Greenwich village, who died happily after giving away a fortune, is mourned by many poor. Dr. Edwin Zimmerman on his deathbed gave his remaining wealth to be used for scholarships for needy boys and wrote: "Believe me, I'm happy." For 46 years he practiced in the village. Often he told patients pressing money on him: "Forget it; your bill has been paid by God."

Vast Reindeer Herds in Picture Coming Sunday

In Norman Dawn's spectacular Arctic drama, "Justice of the Far North," which is coming to the Sherry theater, appear a herd of reindeer. These wonderful animals were first introduced into Alaska by the government to save the Eskimo from starving in the severe winters. They have done so well that they now number hundreds of thousands and threaten soon to be a big rival of beef. Each young Eskimo boy serves three years and is given 20 reindeer by Uncle Sam to start life with. He then goes away, marries and raises a reindeer who, like a cow, he feeds and shepherds. Many other strange sights are seen in this big story play including Arctic scenery, the Valley of 10,000 Smokes and a thrilling melodrama with your favorite screen actors who spent seven months in Alaska to make this thrilling and wonderful picture.

George Walsh A Cowboy in "Prince of Broadway"

For the first time in many moons George Walsh, the athletic young star of "The Prince of Broadway," Chadwick picture at Sherrys tonight, will be seen in regulation cowboy outfit with broad brimmed Stetson, high heeled boots, chaps and neckerchief.

Many of the earlier pictures in which Walsh won his place in the affections of film audiences were Westerns, so the ranch sequences of "The Prince of Broadway" will place him in a setting familiar to his many fans.

"The Prince of Broadway" is a story whose action ranges from the stage to the prize-fight ring and thence to a Western ranch. Walsh is supported by an unparalleled assemblage of pugilistic and cinematic stars. Among those who have prominent roles are Jim Jeffries, former world's champion of the ring; Tommy Ryan, for twenty-five years prominent as a fighter and promoter; Captain Bob Roper, champion boxer of the A. E. F.; Charles McHugh, veteran actor and one-time bantamweight champion; Spike Robinson, known both as an actor and a fighter; Alyce Mills Freeman Wood, Alma Bennett, Curtis McHenry and Joan Merrieth.

"Desert Healer" Now on Screen in La Grande

Marion Fairfax, world's only woman screen producer, selected a most admirable cast to usher in her first production, "Old Loves and New," which will be the attraction at the Star theater Sunday and Monday.

The ever popular, Lewis Stone heads the cast of this adaptation of E. M. Hull's celebrated novel, "The Desert Healer." Barbara Bedford, a charming girl and a consummately capable actress, plays opposite him Tully Marshall, the "man of the thousand faces," has a small but intensely vigorous part. Others in the cast are Walter Pidgeon, Katherine McDonald, Arthur Rankin, Ann York and Albert Santl.

It is superb entertainment, this "Old Loves and New"—a film replete with forest situations, engrossing love interest, action and suspense, and a setting in the Near East that brings the mirage-like pictorial splendor of that far-off land before the eye in a glittering panorama of desert and tropical brilliance.

Lewis Stone stands out in new relief in the role of the faith-shattered Englishman who burles himself among the Arabs of Algeria and becomes the "healer" of their physical and political ills. Stone divests himself of his inveterate slobber reserve like a warrior stripping to battle armor and throws himself into his stirring role with a new fire and force.

Miss Fairfax has taken the melodramatic ingredients of the book and compounded them with deft skill with the beautiful love story and knowledge of native character that won this work by popular Mrs. Hull the palm as her finest story.

"Never Too Old," the Hal Roach Pathé comedy with Claude Gillingwater featured, will be the fun attraction on the program. Supporting his is a cast of excellent comedians which includes Vivien Oakland, Jimmie McIntayson and Tyler Brooke.

To Take Pictures On Arcade Stage Two Nights

The Arcade theater, on the alert to secure unusual attractions for its patrons, has engaged what might be aptly termed a most sensational and unusual show for two days commencing Wednesday, July 14.

The Berkova Productions of Hollywood is the feature and it promises to both entertain and enlighten the citizens of La Grande. The entertainment is derived from several comedy bits to be filmed on the stage in full view of the audience, and the educational value is to be gained by watching actual motion pictures being made.
