"Black Paradise" And Berkova Productions At The Arcade

In "Black Paradise," the thrilling melodramatic Fox Film playing at the Arcade theatre today and Thursday, lovely Madge Bellamy, Leslie Fenton, Edmund Lowe, Edward G. Robinson, Paul Panzer, Harvey Clark, Marcelle Daly and others almost as famous, are gathered together into a cast of amazing strength which acted with great realism the thrilling scenes and stirring situations of Rum Running and South Sea Island strife.

Magnificent scenes in the famous harbor of San Francisco; on the run ship and in the South seas have given Director Neill unusual opportunities for superb scenic effects and he has wisely injected sufficient comedy to relieve the tense situations which crowd fast upon the heels of each other.

Madge Bellamy has the finest role of the past year in that of Sylvia Douglas and Edmund Lowe and Leslie Fenton add immensely to the popularity that excellent in splendid roles have recently to them.

As a special added attraction the Berkova Productions of Hollywood will present their number called Making Movies on the Stage.

Actual moving pictures are made on the stage of the Arcade with people in the audience acting in the comedy that is to be made. Nothing is done that will cause embarrassment to anyone but you will be given this opportunity to see just how pictures are made.

The company carries their own lighting equipment, the same as is used in the studios at Hollywood and the number promises to be very entertaining.

Campus Life Immortalized in "Brown of Harvard"

Life on the campus of one of America's greatest institutions of learning has been immortalized by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in their production of "Brown of Harvard," showing tonight at Sheriffs. The picture was directed by Jack Conway and was adapted from the famous stage success of the same name by Hilda Johnson Young.

"Brown of Harvard" is by far the best story of college life that has yet reached the screen. It possesses a sincerity and a lack of the usual mock-heros that have been noticeably missing in other stories of youth. The boys in the story are human beings, having as much fun as is permitted. They never appear automaton in the hands of a director.

Conway's direction, moreover, is consistently excellent throughout. There is a dominant and optimistic spirit of youth with which he has invested every scene throughout the picture.

Comedy showing, "Papa Be Good."

"My Own Pal," Featuring Tom Mix, Coming to Star

"My Own Pal," adapted from an original story by Gerald Beaumont for Fox Films as a starring vehicle for Tom Mix, comes to the Star theatre starting Thursday.

Tom in this story, according to advance reports, gives one of the finest and most thrilling performances of his career. For the character is that of a dare-devil and romantic Irishman who comes to the city looking for adventure.

and finds plenty of it after he has managed to join the mounted police.

Oliver Jordan plays opposite Tom in the leading feminine role, that of the very modern little niece of the chief of police. She will be remembered as the fiery and stubborn little scrapper in "The Yankee Senator," one of the most colorful of the Tom Mix pictures.

Little Virginia Marshall also gives a splendid performance as Jill, Tom's pal. This youngster, who has created such a name for herself, commands laughs with her mimicry of Tom's traits—and tears with her own emotional acting.

Tom Santschi appears as the dignified and busy chief—and, strangely enough, is not asked to fight in a picture full of exciting battles.

Others in the cast of Tom Mix, George, Helen Lynch, Barbara Bard and Jacques Rollins. J. G. Blystone directed.
