Yellowstone Jail Released: Nary An Inmate In 32 Years. YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., July 12. (AP)—The Yellowstone national park jail has not held a prisoner in its thirty-two years of existence and now has been razed. The only thing the jail has held has been liquor which has been found cached by run runners from the Canadian border; a park official asserted.

The jail was built in 1894, when the park was under the administration of the United States army. At that time prisoners were housed in the army guard house.

Conway Tearle Scores Triumph in "Sporting Lover."

Wonder who's a movie star's husband thinks about? If you would like to know the varied emotions and unpleasant situations that face a man who is married to a famous woman you should see the Gotham Production "Part Time Wife" which is on the screen at the Arcade theater today only.

All the scenes are laid practically in and around a movie studio and the "behind the scenes" air and intimate atmosphere is both novel and refreshing. "The Part Time Wife" has a good plot, some very good acting, lots of pepy action and an element of novelty that is sadly lacking in the average out, but there are many tense moments in the interim.

Conway Tearle, that most popular of screen lovers scores a most palpable personal triumph in "The Sporting Lover," which was shown for the first time last night at the Star theater.

Tearle is a most gratifying actor at all times, and in "The Sporting Lover" he goes beyond himself. Barbara Bedford, who plays opposite him, shows stellar qualities in her delineation of a most difficult role. Miss Bedford has been appearing to better advantage in every new picture that she makes. We predict that she will be elevated to stardom within a very short period.

Tearle is seen in the role of Captain Ferrance Connaughton, an Irish officer home from the front to check up on the estate and the many mortgages he has inherited from his ancestors. When he returns to the trenches he is wounded after a number of other occurrences and taken to a field hospital where he meets Lady Geraldine Cayana.

A romance develops, but is suddenly halted when an air raid demolishes the hospital and separates the lovers. After the war they are brought together again, with an army officer who had defrauded Connaughton in the lady's affections. Then the story really starts.

What happens after that is too good to divulge to those who appreciate thorough entertainment.

See "The Sporting Lover" for themselves.

"The Sporting Lover" is an extraordinarily fast moving melodrama. It whizzes right along and leaves one with a feeling of having directed "The Sporting Lover". It is a first National picture and will be shown at the Star theater tonight for the last time.
