Calvin Coolidge a Prize Baby

Here is Calvin Coolidge, age 7 months, who won the first prize in a Cleveland baby contest. As a result, his father, James Coolidge, has started a "Coolidge for president in 1926" boom. Little Cal's relationship to President Coolidge is best explained by the father, who says: "My grandfather's brother's oldest boy is the president."

Baker Woman Elected President

Mrs. L. Kennon, of Baker, was elected president of the Dora B. Schilke past matrons association to take the place of Mrs. E. E. Kiddle, of Island City, the first president of the organization, yesterday when 50 members gathered at the Ascension grove at Cove for their annual meeting. Mrs. Carl Forsstrom, of North Powder, was chosen vice president; Mrs. Lynn Hill, of Elgin, secretary; and Mrs. C. W. Noyes, of La Grande, treasurer.

This association, which is composed of past matrons of the Order of the Eastern Star of Union, Wallowa, and Baker counties, was organized only a year ago for the purpose of uniting the past matrons of this section of the state. Meetings are held annually, the first one being at Union, this year at Cove and next year the Elgin past matrons will entertain.

Many Delegates Present Baker, La Grande, Union, Elgin and Cove were represented at yesterday's meeting. Each town represented was scheduled for a number on the program, but because of illness and other reasons several were not able to respond.

Mrs. E. F. Heaster, of La Grande gave two readings "Out at Old Aunt Mary's" by James Wilbycombe Riley and "Good-Ty" by Eugene Fields. Mrs. J. F. Bator, of Elgin, gave two humorous readings. "When Mrs. Brown Bobbed her Hair" and "An Interrupted Reverie."

To Donate Funds During the business hour members of the association voted to donate funds each year for child welfare work and a committee was appointed to determine where the money would be spent. It will probably be decided to donate the fund to some Masonic children's hospital. The members of the committee are Mrs. John Anderson, of Cove, Mrs. C. W. Noyes, of La Grande and Mrs. J. F. Bator, of Elgin.

A picnic lunch in the Ascension grove at noon was a part of the day's program.

HEALTH

Keeping Babies and Children Well in Summer.

(By Samuel W. Kelly, M. D., Cleveland)

Member Gorgas Memorial Institute To keep babies and children well in summer, first of all keep them comfortable. Dress them according to the weather, guarding against sudden changes to low or high temperature. Keep them out of doors as much as possible, but when heat is excessive outside, let them stay indoors. Bathe children daily. Give plenty of pure water to drink. Avoid fatigue, excitement, crowds, dust, flies, mosquitoes, and all insects.

Break-feeding is best for the baby. Weigh him once or twice weekly. If he does not gain weight or is unhappy, restless, dull or fretful, he is not well. Do not experiment with foods. Do not give laxatives, soothing syrups or other medicines. Do not consult friends or neighbors; nor postpone decision in cases of illness. Consult a physician.

When cow's milk is advised, it should be the purest obtainable. If possible get milk certified by a Milk Commission of medical men or recommended by the Board of Health. Milk should be as pure as not to need to be sterilized or even pasteurized. Milk should be kept at a temperature not above 40 degrees Fahrenheit.

The Gorgas Memorial Institute and your own doctor knows that the diet of children should be selected and prepared with extra care in summer. Use plenty of vegetables, and bread made of whole wheat flour. All foods and fruits to be eaten raw should be sound, properly ripened and well washed. Children need very little meat. It is easy to over-feed them eggs. No tea, coffee or alcoholic drinks for children or youths. No chocolate nor candy for those with poor appetite for plain foods. For

IDAHO SINGERS DELIGHT GUESTS AT LOCAL HOTEL

A melodic hint of the great Pocatello's delegation brought to the convention was heard at the Foley diningroom last night at the dinner hour when eight pretty misses harmonized some sketches from the repertoire of the Treble Clef club. They sang Idaho's convention song, then Frederick Knight Logan's "Pale Moon" with a chime unusually mellow for voices, so youthful. Dolores Baird varied the program with a whistled rendition of "Carmen's" "At Dawning." And from the rhythm of their club song, it was evident that they sometimes create a bit of jazz. Gaylord Sanford, their instructor, accompanies them. Mrs. F. C. McGowan is their chaperone.

The Treble club, though only a three-year old high school organization, is putting Pocatello on the musical map of Idaho. The girls are quite literally "communally entertainers," singing for Kiwanis, Rotary and other clubs of their city in addition to their school event. Last winter, they appeared on the program with Sousa when he was in Pocatello.

"How do you spell 'financially'?" asked a college student of his room-mate.

"F-i-n-a-n-c-i-a-l-l-y," said the room-mate, spelling out the word slowly. As an afterthought, he added: "And 'embarrassed' has two r's and two s's."

How often have you said to a salesman, "That's more than I care to pay"? If you had known the price in advance you would have been spared this little embarrassment. That's one of the great services rendered by newspaper advertising.

By reading the advertisements before going to the stores, you know what you will have to pay for an article. You need not reveal your financial status to a salesman. You perhaps do not like to ask the price of goods anyhow. If the merchant has told you the price in his advertisement, you do not have to ask.

Any way you figure it out, it pays you to read the advertisements. Regularly! The one advertisement you skip may contain just the news you would have welcomed. Read all the advertisements you can. Keep informed.

The intelligent way to shop is to read the advertisements and then go to the stores that offer the best values. Make notes beforehand of the articles that interest you. That's the way to get the most for your money. That's the way to save time.

When you know the price in advance, you can ask to be shown the goods "as advertised."
