Steward-Abel Nuptials Announced

To the surprise of his many La Grande friends news of the marriage of David S. Steward, formerly of La Grande, to Miss Clara T. Abel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Abel, of Marshfield, Oregon, was received here today. The nuptials took place July 22 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Philip, at Oswego. The Rev. Father Hogan tied the knot.

Accompanying the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Irene La-noir. Little Edna and Barbara Keep were flower girls. Miss Bay-lie, friend of the groom, was best man. D. H. Steward, of La Grande, accompanied the bride to the altar, which was arranged with many beautiful bouquets of cut flowers.

After the ceremony, which took place at about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, dinner was served at the Philip home. Only immediate friends and relatives were present, including Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Steward, of La Grande, Mr. and Mrs. Espejo James, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Philip, of Oswego, Alonzo Dunn, of Oregon City, and Olaf Bayliss, of Kelso, Washington.

The happy couple left immediately after dinner, by motor accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Steward, for Seaside, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mr. Steward is organist at the Vogue theater at Kelso, Washington where they will return to make their home. He for many years made La Grande his home and has many friends here.

La Bolero

One of the outstanding details of the mode presented in fall 1926 collections is the use of the bolero and wide belt.

Sister Mary Says:

(By Sister Mary)

Breakfast—Orange juice, scrambled eggs with rice, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Lettuce and egg salad, brown bread and butter sandwiches, blueberry cup pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Lamb stew with vegetables, cabbage and fresh pineapple salad, banana cream pudding, graham bread, milk, coffee.

Two or three ripe bananas are rubbed through a ricer and mixed with a cup or more of thoroughly chilled cream, whipped until stiff. This mixture is then slightly sweetened with powdered sugar and served with a dash of ground cinnamon over the top.

Blueberry Cup Pudding
One cup molasses, 1/2 cup boiling water, 2-3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1 egg, 1 cup washed blueberries.

Drain and dry berries between towels. Dredge with 2 tablespoons flour. Mix and sift remaining flour with soda, salt and ginger. Add boiling water to molasses in mixing bowl. Add dry ingredients and mix thoroughly, beating until smooth. Heat in melted butter. Heat hard for one or two minutes. Add egg well beaten and stir in prepared berries. Bake in buttered and floured cups or gem pan in a moderately hot oven for 20 minutes. Serve warm with whipped or plain cream.

Billy Evans Says:

PAVE REPLACES MARBERY
Exit Fred Marberry as champion relief pitcher.

Enter Joe Pate of the Philadelphia Athletics as his most logical successor.

Manager Stanley Harris of the Washington club has announced that Fred Marberry is to graduate from a mere finisher to a favored starter.

For nearly two seasons Marberry's chief object in life, as far as baseball is concerned, was the saving of games for the Washington club. When a pitcher faltered in a tight game he was invariably rushed to the rescue.

Marberry's remarkable ability to hold the opposition in check in the pinch played a prominent part in the two pennants won by Washington.

Had an injured arm not forced him out of the 1925 world series, Washington probably would have emerged the victor in the annual classic.

WINS FIRST START

The collapse of the veteran Washington pitching staff this year has convinced Manager Harris that several of the old-timers have lost the ability to go the route. They even waver too early in the game to use Marberry to advantage as relief pitcher.

Realizing this, Manager Harris has decided to give Marberry a thorough chance to win himself a job as a regular starter.

His first opportunity of the season came July 5 against the Boston Red Sox. He worked impressively and gained a 2-2 win over the tallenters.

Curiously enough it was the first game Marberry has been permitted to start since the world series of 1924.

IN 55 GAMES.
Last season Marberry pitched in parts of 55 contests, but didn't work a full game. It was his remarkable relief pitching, however, that enabled Manager Harris to juggle his veteran pitching staff to the best advantage.

If Marberry delivers as a regular, it will mark the passing of one of the greatest relief pitchers of all time. Even as a regular, Marberry, who is a glutton for work, is almost certain to be called on in the pinch.

"The toughest thing about starting a ball game and then finishing it, rather than working a few innings, is the difference in the way you must pitch," says Marberry. "As a relief pitcher I have made a practice of putting all my stuff on every ball, realizing I must hold the opposition. That kind of pitching would soon kill off a starting pitcher.

"I am sure my hardest task will be to readjust my style."

HIS 1926 MODEL

Now as Joe Pate, Connie Mack's rather portly southpaw. With the season half over, 15 victories scored by the Athletics can be credited largely to Pate's relief work.

In eight of these games he has been credited with the win, while in seven others he has held onto the narrow margin bequeathed him when he entered the game.

Pate doesn't appear to have much stuff on his ball, but his fast one has a little hop that makes the batters pop up, his change of pace is clever, and his knuckle ball practically unhittable when he gets it over.

Best of all, Pate has plenty of nerve. He is what is known in baseball as a "money pitcher," doing his best work when hardest pressed.

The Athletics would have been lost without Joe Pate this year. He is the 1926 model of Fred Marberry in the hero role.

plu, namely, the reduction of the food intake to a point just below the food requirements of the body.

Even when weight reduction is much needed it must be done gradually. Those who lose weight too rapidly by dietary restrictions not only look badly but really become so weak and enemic that, if they escape from the common infections to which their weakened condition has made them susceptible, they readily abandon the effort and rapidly return to their former state of obesity.

To be effective and permanent, and also without harm, weight reduction should be accomplished slowly, usually not faster than two or three pounds a month. Ordinarily we are not anxious lest a patient fail to lose weight but lest he lose it too fast.

MARTIN DURKIN BEATEN UP BY HIS CELLMATES

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Martin Durkin, two-gun killer and auto thief, today nursed a pair of black eyes, a split lip and a half dozen body bruises as the result of a thrashing received at the hands of fellow prisoners in the jail pen of "murderers" row in county jail.

A jail sentence immediately shrouded the leaders after the assault Sunday and only Durkin's story of the scrap became public. He said a fellow prisoner had become angry when a friend of Durkin's made an engagement with a woman acquaintance.

The Durkin assault was only one

HEALTH

EAT AND GROW THIN WITH CARE

(By Alex M. Burgess, M. D., Providence, R. I.)
Member Gorgias Memorial Institute

The very laudable desire on the part of almost everyone to avoid becoming fat has the hearty approval of the medical profession. Obesity or fatness, besides being ugly, is, if at all extreme, a real detriment to health and efficiency.

Obesity, for one thing, puts an unnecessary strain on the heart. A second important reason for avoiding obesity is because it is now known that more fat people than thin develop diabetes.

It is the purpose of the Gorgias Memorial, however, to point out the harm that may result from ill-considered or over-enthusiastic efforts in the matter of dietary restrictions. The present craze for thinness, which seems to involve the whole of womanhood, makes this warning especially appropriate.

When an active school girl or busy housewife decides to reduce in order to improve her appearance, she often so restricts her intake of food that the inevitable result is not only loss of weight but of strength and efficiency and also of temper, so that she is not much less wholesome to look upon but also less pleasant to be with.

A moderate degree of fatness is undoubtedly normal for many people—a part of their inheritance. Such people find that to reduce their figures to the syphilike proportions of some of their more fortunate friends is an almost impossible task and always results in some detriment to their general health. In others, in whom the extra weight results from over-eating and lack of exercise, the reduction may be accomplished easily.

Every well informed medical man knows how to arrange the diet so that a reduction in body weight will result. The principal is sim-
