Billy Evans Says:

RIGNEY'S BUSY DAY
Twenty-four chances in one afternoon at shortstop.

Such was the busy day "Topper" Rigney of Boston put in on July 15 in a double-header with Cleveland.

In the second game the former Detroit Tiger star, who has added much strength to the Red Sox, all but equaled two American league records that have stood for more than a score of years.

In the opening game Rigney prepared himself for what was to follow by handling four putouts and five assists, several of them being of a difficult nature.

In the final half of the twin-bill Rigney did his stuff by taking care of four putouts and 11 assists. His sensational fielding aided greatly in putting over Pitcher Heinach's first win in a Boston uniform.

CLOSE TO RECORD

In handling 16 chances in a nine-inning game, Rigney came within two of equaling the American league record. Back in 1902 Hobby Wallace, of the St. Louis Browns took care of 17.

The major league record of chances accepted by a shortstop in 19, made by Danny Richardson of the Washington club, then a member of the National league circuit, happened in the second game of a double-header on June 20, 1922.

Taking care of 11 assists falls one short of the American league record made by Kiki Elberfeld, then playing with Detroit. It is a peculiar coincidence that this feat also came in the second game of a double-header staged Sept. 2, 1901.

The major league record for assists is 14, made by Tommy Corcoran of the Cincinnati club on Aug. 7, 1902.

While Rigney fell just shy of the American league marks, his 24 chances at short for one afternoon is just about a record for one day's play.

SIX IN ROW

One of the peculiar features of Rigney's performance in the second game of the double-header was his whirlwind finish.

In the seventh and eighth innings he retired six successive batters, Rigney to first baseman Todd.

Rigney's busy afternoon emphasizes the importance of high-class work at shortstop. Unquestionably it is the most exciting position in the infield.

Three or four clubs in the American league have suffered severely this year because of erratic work at the all-important position.

Of the new shortstops breaking in this year, the play of Billy Hunnefeld of Chicago has been the most impressive.

I know of a number of big league clubs that have their scouts doing intensive work on promising players for the position of shortstop.

WEAK AT SHORT

Aside from inferior pitching, the slump of the champion Washington club this year can be traced to shortstop play, or better perhaps, lack of it.

Early in the year Roger Peckinbaugh, one of the greatest shortstops the game has ever known, was handicapped by bad under-throwing.

This forced Manager Harris to fall back on the rookie, "Buddy" Myer. Filling Peckinbaugh's shoes on the spur of the moment is a rather big task and Myer found it so. He had trouble hitting his stride.

Then Peck got back into the game for a short time, only to suffer more injuries that again forced him out of the lineup.

Failure to make double plays by a scant margin is the difference between victory and defeat in many a ball game. It is in this feature of play that most recruit shortstops falter.

An Indian from Oklahoma recently bought what was thought to be the only remaining wooden bath tub in Kansas. He made it into a huge tom-tom.

Latin still retains its popularity in North Carolina, where more than 1200 boys and girls from 72 high schools recently participated in a state-wide Latin contest.

TWO CONVICTS MAKE ESCAPE

SALEM, Ore., July 27. (AP)—Joe Wallace, chauffeur for Warden J. W. Lillie, and Charles Foster, the warden's cook both trustees at the state penitentiary, escaped yesterday afternoon after apprehending a high powered car belonging to the prison. The car was taken from the prison garage. Wallace was brought to the state prison nine years ago (with Gilliam county to serve life for the murder of his wife. He was brought to Salem by Lillie who was then sheriff of that county. Foster was sent up from Douglas county to do four years for burglary.

The two trustees were last seen about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and evidently escaped between then and 5 o'clock. There is no clue as to the direction they took out of Salem.

Wallace had a good reputation as a model prisoner, and was trusted to the extent that he had been allowed to participate in several hunts for escaped convicts. He had full charge of the prison garage. He frequently drove the prison vehicles unaccompanied by officers. While the trials of Tom Murray, Ellsworth Kelly and James Wilcox were in progress last fall he drove the car that carried them to and from the penitentiary each day.

Jerry Richardson and Ed Welch, two other trustees who recently escaped are still at large.

COOLIDGE HOPES YANKEES ABROAD MAKE ALLOWANCES

PAUL SMITHS, N. Y. July 27. (AP)—President Coolidge hopes that Americans abroad will make allowances for conditions in the foreign countries they are visiting and will not indulge in any unwarranted criticisms or any discriminations.

Doubt was expressed in behalf of the president whether too much attention need be paid to the situation that has been reflected in recent press reports from Europe.

The desire of the "valley States" it was said was to maintain friendly relations with all countries and the belief was expressed that the attitude of irresponsible persons of the United States or foreign countries should not be treated too seriously.

It is necessary, it was added, for Americans abroad to realize at this time that peoples of some other countries are in a different situation and it should be the part of Americans to view their difficulties with sympathy.

NEVER SAW ANYTHING IN HER LIFE LIKE KARNAK

The Good Of This Medicine Just Seemed To Go Over Her Entire System And After Taking Four Bottles She Was Like Different Person, Says Seattle Woman.

"Yes, indeed, Karnak is the best medicine I ever saw in my life and I just recommend it to every body," declares Mrs. Mary Mansted, of 3215 25th Ave., W., Seattle, Wash.

"Several years ago a severe attack of the flu left me in such a terribly rundown weakened condition that it seemed like I'd never regain my strength and energy," continues Mrs. Mansted. "I had no appetite, nothing tasted right, and I never enjoyed eating anything."

"I was so nervous that the least little thing would get on my nerves and nights I couldn't sleep, but would roll and toss from one side of the bed to the other. I felt so tired, sluggish and wornout all the time that I just didn't seem to have any life about me, and my housework was such a burden to me that I simply had to force myself to do it.

"You just don't know how thankful I am that I got Karnak for the good of this medicine just seemed to go over all my system and since taking four bottles I simply feel like a different person. I just relish every meal now, my nerves are calm, and nights my sleep is sound and refreshing.

"That tired, wornout feeling is a thing of the past now, and I have so much new strength and energy that I can do my housework with ease. I tell you, Karnak sure puts new life in you and builds you up to good health almost before you know it, and I can't say half enough for the medicine."

"Karnak is sold in La Grande by the E. & L. Drug Co., and all leading druggists.—Adv.

COURT DENIES OWEN PETITION FOR REHEARING

SALEM, Ore., July 27. (AP)—In an oral opinion today the supreme court denied a petition for rehearing by C. H. Owen, who was convicted of aiding and abetting in the misappropriation of funds of the bank of Jacksonville and sentenced to serve three years in the state penitentiary.

The specific amount named in the indictment was $100, but at the time this check was drawn testimony showed that Owen owed the bank about $20,000, principally on overdrafts. The crime was committed in 1915.

Chester C. Kubil, who was convicted of a similar offense in connection with the same bank, was also sentenced to serve three years, his petition for rehearing was denied and Kubil received a four months' reprieve from Governor Pierce, so his sentence will not begin until next November.

W. H. Johnson, cashier of the bank, served part of a 10-year sentence in connection with the same case.

Boys, 15, Escape from Jacksonville Prison

MEDFORD, Ore., July 27. (AP)—James Courtland and Harry Douglas, both 15 years old and homeless, alleged by the authorities to have been deserted by their parents, and held in the county jail at Jacksonville pending their transfer to the state industrial school at Salem, escaped last night. They were alleged to have stolen watermelons.

The pair were held in the women's ward, and allowed considerable freedom. When the jailer went to lock them up for the night, they hid downstairs. There were dummy figures in the boys' beds, deceiving the turnkey.

EUGENE TRIO ARRESTED

ROSEBURG, Ore., July 27. (AP)—George Walker, Earl Stover and Georgiana Carver, all of Eugene, were arrested last night at Yoncalla charged with drunk and disorderly conduct. Loud homierous and profane language attracted the attention of officers as the trio passed through Drain, according to the marshal, and a deputy on a motorcycle followed the car to Yoncalla, where the arrest was made. The prisoners were brought to Roseburg, and will be given a hearing this afternoon.
