Railroad Party Enjoys Picnic

Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the Ladies' auxiliary and their families spent a delightful afternoon and evening yesterday when they met at the Pine Cone Camp grounds for a picnic. About 40 persons were present for the picnic, which started at about two o'clock in the afternoon and ended at about nine o'clock in the evening.

Several of those present went swimming during the afternoon. At six o'clock a picnic dinner was enjoyed.

Missionary Society In Session

"Slaves in America" was the subject yesterday afternoon for the regular meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Zion Lutheran church. Mrs. Ferdinand Jensen was leader for the afternoon and gave an interesting review of the lesson.

The meeting was held in the annex of the Lutheran church with a goodly number in attendance.

Yeoman Picnic At Riverside Park

Sunday evening about 20 members of the Brotherhood of American Yeoman and their families enjoyed a picnic dinner at six o'clock at Riverside Park. After dinner some of the men pitched horseshoes, the children had games and visited the park play grounds and the women visited for a few hours before returning to their homes.

Earlier in the month the Yeomen and their families had another picnic on Catherine creek, when about 25 people attended. A picnic lunch was served at noon and dinner at five o'clock.

PERRY, (Special)—A kitchen shower was given last week at the community hall honoring Mrs. Chester Thompson, a recent bride.

A large number of her friends attended bringing with them many attractive and useful gifts for the honor guest.

The evening was spent visiting. Refreshments were served before adjournment.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will make Perry their home.

Sister Mary Says:

(By Sister Mary)

Breakfast—Egg rashers with uncooked carrot and thin cream, plain omelet, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—New peas and hotatoes, sliced tomatoes, whole wheat bread, strawberry preserves, milk, tea.

Dinner—Stuffed mutton chops, creamed cauliflower, string beans, salad, kraham bread, green apple sauce, ginger bread, milk, coffee.

If you find it necessary to "stretch" the peas, try the following recipe and you'll see that it's very much worth while, and you'll use the dish even if the peas don't need cooking.

Children under six years of age may have the juice of red raspberries but should not be allowed to eat the whole berry on account of the seeds.

New Peas and Potatoes

Two cups shelled peas, 1 cup sliced new potatoes, 1-2 cup minced onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, one half teaspoon brown sugar, 1 tablespoon mint leaves (optional), 1/2 teaspoon flour.

Melt butter, add onion and cook over a low fire until a pale straw color. Mix sugar and flour thoroughly and sprinkle over onions. Stir with a fork until perfectly blended and add potatoes and peas and mint leaves if convenient. Add boiling water to cover and bring to the boiling point. Cover saucepan and cook over a low fire for thirty minutes. Keep the water "moving" but not boiling hard. Turn into a hot vegetable dish and serve.

HARVEST NEARING END

COVE, July 29. (Special)—The cherry harvest is about over here, although the work will not be entirely finished before the last of this week. There will be one or two more cars of Lamberts and several of Black Republican cherries shipped out.

There has already been shipped about 20 carloads and would have been more if all the Royal Anns had found a market.

Death Of Inness Is Mourned

In the death of George Inness Jr., renowned artist son of one of America's first great painters, who died at his summer home at Cragsmoor, N. Y., Wednesday, the picture library movement that is spreading from La Grande to all parts of the country through the tireless ardor of its founder, Mrs. J. P. Mossman, lost one of its most influential friends.

Inness, when news began to reach him of this plan to take the inspiration of the masters into the homes as books are circulated, wrote Mrs. Mossman of his approval, and when he became ill, twice had Mrs. Inness write for him. In an enthusiastic letter of endorsement, he declared that one of the great benefits would be "giving each individual opportunity." Independence of thought, he said, was one of America's needs.

The artist's last great picture, "The Only Hope," was painted in 1924 as his answer to the quest for world peace. Universal acceptance of Christ, it indicates, is the one hope for international brotherhood.

Last spring he had some prints handmade from the painting, and one of these he autographed and sent to Mrs. Mossman in appreciation of her work. She has included a copy of "The Only Hope" in every picture library collection she has dispatched, even sending prints of it to St. Paul and Alaska.

IMBLER PERSONALS

Solving the Transit Problem

The little "bossman" in this family don't have to worry about the transportation problem. Mother Possum does it all. With her children on her back, this particular mother scurried to an Iowa farmhouse the other day. The farmer is taking pets out of them.

"LADY FUZZY," of Los Angeles is four years old and that's old enough to quit playing with dolls, but Fuzzy loves them.

Clarence Keown spent Sunday in La Grande.

John Birchfield is installing a carbon lighting system in his new home here.

Sam Running left for Wallowa Tuesday. He has employment there.

Mrs. Billy Smith received news from Roseburg a few days ago of the serious illness of her father and sister. She left for Roseburg immediately.

Douglas County Court Wants Highway Built

ROSEBURG, Ore., July 29 (AP)—Following a conference here yesterday evening the Douglas county court adopted a resolution asking the state highway commission to proceed at once with the construction of the Roosevelt highway between Winchester Bay and the Coos-Douglas county line.

The state is asked to advance the money necessary for the completion of the road, the county obligating itself to pay its proportionate share of the cost out of the first money available. The conference was attended by a delegation of approximately fifty residents of Coos county and of Western Douglas county. It is felt that by advertising the entire section, so that contractors may bid with the idea of using the project for winter work, a lower bid will be obtainable than if the work is done in smaller sections.

LONDON—Cloth of woven bamboo is the latest textile wrinkle. The raw material from John Bull's India is much cheaper than cotton from Uncle Sam's Dixie.

CUPID IN THE SWIM

PHILADELPHIA—Star swimmers competing here are to take the high dive. Johnny Weismuller and the present Miss Ullian Wreck are going to Japan for a honeymoon if the payment of expenses for two will keep him an amateur. Otherwise wedding bells will not ring till he returns. Miss Wreck, a Chicagoan like Johnny, isn't known as a swimmer, but Harry R. Glatney, of Philadelphia, is engaged to Miss Irma Mae Lucas, a Kentucky belle of the water, who is training here with him for national championships.
