Highway Commissioners Award 5 Road Contracts

Baker-Unity Highway to Be Graded at Cost of $71,799 by H. C. Boyer

PORTLAND, Ore. July 30 (AP) —The state highway commission late yesterday settled a dispute of five years standing over location of a road when it ordered bids advertised for grading eight miles of highway in Klamath county in Yonna valley from Lorenz' Mill to Dairy.

The commission decided to surface 14 miles on the Lakeview-Klamath Falls highway from Lakeview west, bringing it to Drews valley. Work on the Devils valley section was deferred until funds are available.

Refuses Request

The commission was unable to accede to a request of a Douglas county delegation that the commission take over the Umpqua road and make it a state highway. The commission, however, agreed to a request by the delegation that a survey be made from Scottsburg to Drain, 23 miles, provided the county and the Umpqua district pay the expenses.

A survey of the Glass Butte section of the Central Oregon highway from Burns to Drewsey was ordered.

Further work on Roosevelt highway was ordered, including the Brighton-Wheeler section, which will bring the highway to the northern end of Tillamook county. Work on the Garibaldi Rockaway section would have been ordered advertised for the August meeting, but Tillamook county did not have all the right of way.

Contracts Awarded

The commission ordered for the August meeting bids on the last unimproved section of the Alsea road. The following contracts were awarded late yesterdy:

Benton county—Missouri Bend section of Alsea road, 10 miles of surfacing, H. G. Johnson, for $71,320.

Klamath county — Beatty-Bly section of Klamath Falls-Lake view highway, 13 miles grading, Earl McNutt, $66,890.

Baker county — Baker-Unity highway, Unity-Hereford section, 10.52 miles of grading, H. C. Boyer, $71,799.

Benton county —Gellately Point to Corvallis, on Corvallis-Newport highway, 10.6 miles grading, Greenwood and Dann, $44,140.

Tillamook county — Mohler-Wheeler section of Roosevelt highway, 1½ miles of grading, Houser Brothers, $22,000.

Bridge Awards

Bridge awards were:

Bridge across John Day river, on Columbia highway, Lindstorm and Figensen, $47,455.

Bridge across Pudding river, Marion county, Olds Construction company, $12,400.

Harrisburg bridge Riprap, Pederson and Roy, $5920.

Bridge across Deschutes river, Luther Melke, $2680.

Bridge across Stout creek, Marion county, Linstrom and Figenson, $6217.

Alsea bridge, Stevens and Balderston, $16,020.

On Waivers

Last fall Eddie Moore was one of the stars of the world series between Pittsburgh and Washington. Eddie won the sixth game for the Pirates by slashing out a home run, putting the McKechnie forces on even terms with the Nats. Now—only a few months later, Moore goes to the Boston Braves via the waiver route. Fame seems to be a fickle sort of person.

MURDER FAN IS LATEST TYPE

CHICAGO, July 30 (AP) — A new and morbid breed of court followers, engendered by Chicago's series of murder trials, confronts Cook county's criminal court bailiffs with a difficult problem.

Coming from the large class of city dwellers which apparently never has anthing to do but look for sensation, the "murder fan" has become a type, with a visage by which court attaches say they always can distinguish him in a courtroom.

Half Are Women

Half the courtroom audience at Chicago's last dozen murder trials has been made up of the same individuals. Slightly more than half of the ever-present contingent is women, but there are men, too, whose faces have become as familiar as that of the judge himself to officials of the courts.

Schooled by constant attendance in the ways of court procedure, the tribe of "murder fans" offers bailiffs their most difficult task of discipline.

The fan quickly learns how to get a seat of vantage even when hundreds clamor for admittance. He knows how many warnings the judge will issue before clearing the courtroom of a disorderly crowd, and so ignores reprimands. He vies with his fellow fan for laurels of accuracy in forecasting verdicts.

Bailiffs trace the origin of the breed back to the Carl Wanderer and Harvey Church murder trials, but not until after the Loeb-Leopold case did they discover that the same faces predominate in every courtroom audience. A number of notable murder trials — Shepard, Russell Scott, Scalise and Anselmi, Italian gangsters; Grandma Nusbaum and John Walton Winn; the Drake hotel bandits, Martin Durkin, Robert Scott — have given this type of court follower constant recreation of the sort he most enjoys.

Contempt For Order

Deputy bailiffs entrusted with the disciplining of trial audiences have regarded with some alarm the growing contempt for their admonitions of silence and order in the court. The fans have heard such admonitions too often to be awed by them.

Lately, however, the aid of trial judges has been evoked, and the ejection of disorderly spectators has somewhat helped.
