Sister Mary Says:

(By Sister Mary)
Breakfast—Bismarcks with cream, uncooked cereal, thin cream, soft eggs, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Molded beet salad, whole wheat bread, chilled watermelon, milk, tea.
Dinner—Baked sea bass, lima beans in cream, fruit salad, chilled rice pudding, graham bread, milk, coffee.

This molded beet salad is rather out of the ordinary but very good. Children as young as four years may love the jelly and shredded celery, but should not be given the pepper.

Molded Beet Salad
Three beets 1/2 cup sugar, 1 lemon, one-half teaspoon salt, 1 head celery, 1 1/2 tablespoons granulated gelatine, 1 fresh sweet green pepper, lettuce, salad dressing.
Scrub beets and cook in boiling water for 20 minutes. Drain into cold water and slip skins. Cut in small pieces and cook in boiling water to cover until very tender. Rub through a sieve. There should be 2 1/2 cups of beet puree. Reheat to the boiling point and stir in gelatine soaked in four tablespoons cold water for ten minutes. Remove at once from the fire and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add lemon juice, salt and sugar. Turn into tiny individual molds and let stand several hours until chilled and firm. Wash celery and cut. Let stand in ice water two or three hours. Dry between towels when wanted. Unmold beet jelly on a bed of lettuce carefully washed and crisped. Surround with celery and shreds of green pepper. Top each mold with a spoonful of salad dressing and serve.

POPULATION DOUBLES
POCKESVILLE, Pa.—Arrival of a certain few men doubled the population of this community. Sullivan county moved in as a body to welcome Red Grange, visiting his childhood home.

A new industry has grown up in this country—the manufacture of a solvent for use in removing hardened chewing gum from theater seats.

ing of this, while dark curtains further simulated night and the Japanese costumes which the girls who served were further carried out the idea of the Orient.

In announcing the program for the evening, Dr. Pby first called on members of the state board of health. Dr. Frederick D. Stricker, Portland; Dr. C. J. Smith, Portland; Dr. W. B. Morse, Salem; Dr. C. M. Barbee, Portland, and Dr. E. B. Pickel, Medford, all spoke briefly.

The concert by the Herbst family, of Spokane, followed this and delighted all the listeners with its beauty and perfection. Mme. Ina Wright Herbst, soprano, formerly made her home at Union and was there resting following a recent operation at the Hot Lake sanatorium. She has won fame in European musical circles and the attention her listeners gave her, as well as her husband and daughter, showed the pride the Grande Ronde valley took in its local genius as well as its appreciation of the exquisite in harmony. ## WESTERNERS NOW

PORTLAND, Maine.—Any western cattleman should be able to answer: The U. S. board of tax appeals holds that the stock farm of a wealthy Chicago lawyer is a hobby and its losses must be regarded as just another expensive amusement. The owner believes it's a business.

Planes of United States Air Mail flew a total distance of 2,500,000 miles during the last fiscal year, with only two fatalities.

Herbst, pianist, assisted Mme. Herbst in the recital.

The first number of the musical program was "Ave Maria," played in the trio. A Bach concerto for two violins and the piano followed, while a group of songs by Mme. Herbst was next—"Call as the Night" (Behm), "The Maiden and the Butterfly" (D'Albert), "The Answer" (Terz), and "Villanelle" (Dell'Acqua). Miss Herbst then played "Hark, Hark the Lark" (Schubert-Liszt) and "Tarantella" (Nollet), while Mme. Herbst's second solo appearance was in the Aria by Weber in which she made her debut before a brilliant gathering of royalty in Germany. Two violin numbers, "On Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn-Agron) and "Round of the Goblins" (Hazzini) closed the recital.

Dinner Precedes Reception.

Proceeding the reception, more than 80 guests were served one of the sanatorium's famous chicken dinners. Dr. Pby, the host, acted as toastmaster and called on Dr. C. T. Hockett, of Enterprise, Ed Wright and F. L. Meyers, of La Grande, Dr. Carl G. Patterson, Baker, and Dr. W. D. McNary, Pendleton. The Misses Alice Jeanette and Marjorie Cooper, La Grande's young violinists, played during the banquet. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Helene Price.

The events at the sanatorium followed a busy but pleasurable day for the visiting doctors. Nearly 100 spent the day at the North Powder lakes where a cowboy breakfast, that tempted more than one medical man to desert his profession for the life of the lariat and rodeo, was first served. Though ham and eggs were the basis of the meal, camp cooked bread proved the most popular dish on the menu. A day's discussion of medical problems lasted until 4 o'clock, and the doctors then hurried down to the sanatorium for baths and a few minutes' rest before the banquet was served at 6:30.

Though several of the Portland men took No. 25 back to their homes, and all who lived near drove back last night, a number of the physicians were accommodated at the sanatorium. A group left for home last night, but among those who are remaining over are Dr. Wm. Bishop, of the Medical Center, of Portland, and Dr. James Cooper, of New York City. Dr. Cooper is traveling through the west in the interests of the national birth control organization and spoke briefly at the reception's program.
