OUT OUR WAY

AT THE THEATERS

Last Showing of Graustark Picture At Sherrys Tonight

A "hand picked" cast, in which every player was chosen after minute consideration as the ideal for the particular role, both as to "type" and acting ability, surrounds Marion Davies in her latest Cosmopolitan production at Sherrys tonight, "Beverly of Graustark."

This extreme care in choosing the cast was adopted in order to present the picture in as nearly an accord with the spirit of George Barr McCutcheon's famous novel as possible. "Does he fit the author's idea of the role?" was the question Sidney Franklin, directing the picture, asked himself, as each character was considered.

The new picture, now playing at the Sherry theater, shows Miss Davies in one of the most remarkable roles ever attempted, as besides playing the heroine she masquerades so perfectly as a prince that she is said to be the counterpart of the Prince of Wales. Antonio Moreno plays the leading male role as "Danton".

The royal detective, and Crichton Hale screen star and well known leading man of the screen, laps Prince Marlanx, Roy D'Arcy, plays Marhanx, pretender to a throne, and Paulette Goddard, Max Barany, Albert Gran, Charles Clary, and other notables appear.

The story is a romantic tale of European court intrigue told in modern times. Comedy showing "Watch Your Pep."

Why is it that so many people depend upon the bankers to be their barometers on prosperity? It's the pawnbrokers who have the dope.

Hoxie Comes To Star In Breezy Western

In "Looking for Trouble," Universal-Blue Streak Western picture that is being screened at the Star theater today and Wednesday, Jack Hoxie is to be seen in another breezy picture play, "Looking for Trouble," full of thrills, romance, and good comedy and is a picture that should appeal to all followers of the Western play. In it Hoxie has been given free rein to display all those sterling qualities that have made him one of the season's foremost impersonators of Western characters. Admirers of Hoxie will be pleased to see their favorite screen star score another triumph.

Universal has given its star a splendid supporting cast. Heading it is young Marcelina Day in the leading feminine role. Miss Day is steadily forging to the front in her profession and in "Looking for Trouble" does some of the best work of her career. James Gordon in the most treacherous manner and well seconded in his villainy by Bud Osborne, Edmund Cobb does a clever bit of juvenile work and the mystery of the play is furnished by Peggy Montgomery. William Byer takes care of the comedy in laugh-provoking style and aids in relieving many of the picture's tense situations. Others in the cast whose work is deserving of mention are Bert DeMare and Harry Russell. "Looking for Trouble" was directed by Robert North Bradbury, who has given it plenty of action without one lagging moment.

"Looking for Trouble" tells the story of a cowpuncher who is in love with the beautiful daughter of a wealthy Texas rancher. Desperate chase. The girl locates the boy and recognizes the horse. She persuades her uncle to bet against him. He thereby loses the boy's estate back to him and there they are.

A comedy and Sportlight Review will also be shown.

pite the fact that he believes she loves another, he does not let this stand in his way when her character is besmirched and her personal safety is threatened. He goes to the rescue on many occasions and finally gets mixed up with a desperate band of dope smugglers. In running them down several times he seems to be without the pale of the law. Out of his various fights with the band there come many thrilling situations. Through the picture runs a clever mystery which is successfully covered right up to the end.

"Racing Blood" Showing at Arcade Wednesday Only

"Racing Blood," the steeplechase thriller from Gotham Productions which comes to the Arcade theater Wednesday only, has several unusual angles which set this subject apart from the average photoplay of this type.

In the first place there is no villain, the old horse is not mortgaged and the hero does not ride in the winning race. The story is as modern as the latest style in ladies' hats and through it all there is an atmosphere of radiant youth that is delightfully refreshing.

The two leading players are Anne Cornwall and Robert Agnew, both young and both popular and under the direction of Frank Richardson it is claimed that they give the best performances of their respective careers.

The story in brief tells of a youth in college whose guardian speculates with his estate and loses it all in a horse race. The winner is the uncle of the young man's sweet heart. The boy postpones the wedding until he can earn enough to take care of a wife, he disappears and takes a job on a small town newspaper. The winning horse is stolen from its owner and is sold to a circus which goes bankrupt. The boy buys the horse at auction and decides to take a desperate chance by entering the horse in a big steeplechase. The girl locates the
