Dinner Honors Mrs. Speckhart
 Complimenting Mrs. John Speckhart on her birthday anniversary her daughter, Mrs. Paul Knautz, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Speckhart gave a surprise dinner party in her honor at the Knautz home Friday evening of last week.

Mrs. Speckhart was invited to her daughter's country home to have dinner with the family, but on her arrival there found a number of friends waiting to welcome her.

More than 20 guests were seated at the dinner table prettily decorated with baskets of the season's flowers. Flowers were also artistically arranged about the other rooms.

After a delicious dinner the evening was spent visiting. An interesting musical program, a feature of which was a group of songs by Paul Knautz, also took place after dinner.

Skirts for Fall

More arranged in there is to be an outstanding style note for fall.

Sister Mary Says:

(By Sister Mary)
 Breakfast—Chilled honey dew melon, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon and tomatoes, graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked celery and rice, radish sandwiches, gingerbread, marshmallow pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Vegetable plate dinner, head lettuce, orange custard, cheese dressing, orange custard pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

Your vegetable plate dinner may be any combination that particularly appeals to you. Just as a suggestion: Center of platter: baked stuffed tomato alternating rounds of creamed lima beans, French fried potatoes and buttered spinach.

Gingerbread Marshmallow Pudding—One-half cup granulated sugar, 1 cup molasses, 1/2 cup butter, 2 and one-half cups flour, 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, ginger and cloves, 2 teaspoons soda, 1 cup boiling water, 2 eggs, 1/4 teaspoon salt, marshmallows, 1 cup whipping cream.

Cream butter, slowly add sugar, heating until creamy. Mix and sift flour, spices and salt and add a few tablespoons to first mixture, stir in molasses and add remaining flour. Dissolve soda in boiling water and stir into mixture. Beat hard and add eggs well beaten. Pour into two oiled and floured layer cake pans and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Remove from pans as soon as possible, to handle and put marshmallow between layers. Return to the oven long enough to soften, mallow. Serve warm with cream, whipped and sweetened with 2 tablespoons powdered sugar and flavored with 1/4 teaspoon vanilla.

BEATING 'ROUND THE BUSH
 I didn't marry Mabel for she smoked;
 And I wouldn't marry Amy—
 Any jockey;
 I didn't care for Carrie—she was fat;
 And Cora turned me down and left me flat;
 I ran away from Alice—she was wild;
 And I couldn't stand for Clarice, a mere child;
 I might have married Sue, but she was old;
 And Corine refused to have me without gold;
 And though I've not been married I've had fun.

Richard—The older we grow the less we appreciate the things that delighted us in childhood.
 Millicent—Yes, especially birthdays.

Husband—You are the vainest woman I have ever met.
 Wife—What do you mean? Why, I don't think I am half as pretty as I really am!

Young lady (after violent dance): "There! My heel's gone! That settles this evening."
 Youth: "Oh, darn it! Don't you carry spare parts?"

Mothers have to be so careful these days. One woman in La Grande district forbids her son's girl friends the use of the parlor because their elegant ashes get all over the carpet!

Minerva Says---

Did you ever wear a pair of Arch-Prezervor J. J. Wright shoes, my dear fellow man?

We are now selling four times as many of these shoes and orders as we did six months ago. Nearly everyone who buys a pair and wears them a few weeks belongs in a friend of his and tells him that is the best feeling shoe he has ever worn. That's why they sell so good. These are union made, carry a steel arch which gently supports the arch and relieves all strain.

Try one pair and be convinced.

Mrs. Florence Frisbee, 24, is the latest to be known as "queen of the bootleggers," because she and her husband, Carl, ran a very ritzy liquor and dope smuggling venture on the west coast, making profits of well over $1,000,000. After eluding a chase that extended across the United States, thence to Europe and back, they were caught in Chicago. They are being returned to Seattle for trial.

HEALTH

CANCER
 (By Willy Meyer, M. D., New York City)
 Member Gorgas Memorial Institute

Medical men have known for many years and the public is beginning to realize and to appreciate that scientific medicine is definitely in the age of preventing disease. Much has been accomplished. Some scourges which formerly decimated the people of the earth, and the causes of which are known, are under control, as for instance, smallpox, diphtheria, and typhoid; provided those to be benefited by these wonderful discoveries show good will and sensible cooperation by allowing the family physician to rub into their skin, after superficial scratching or linct with a clean syringe and needle beneath it, that vaccine, antitoxin, or serum which has been found efficient.

However, there is one disease, the most terrible of all, which has baffled the ingenuity of scientists all over the world—cancer. As soon as we know what causes cancer the foundation will have been laid to preventing its occurrence and development.

Fully aware of their handicap, medical men are directing their attention to early recognition. Those tumors that can be seen or felt are most carefully diagnosed to determine whether they are cancerous. If found to be so and not too far advanced, they are promptly submitted to operation, to treatment with rays which are emanated by the X-ray tube, or to application of radium.

Internal cancers are recognized principally by the symptoms they produce while important methods of examination assist in establishing the diagnosis. Worst of all are those cancers which occur in the tubes through which we breathe and swallow; in the divisions of the windpipe, and within the canal which connects mouth and stomach, the esophagus.

Up to the present moment almost every patient who carries such a growth reaches the surgeon too late. The public and medical men must work together to bring about a prompt and wholesome change.

A persistent and unexplainable cough as well as difficulty in swallowing in formerly healthy individuals of thirty years or more, male as well as female, must at once arouse suspicion and be the signal to go to a hospital of standing where specialists can carefully examine them. Here the X-ray tube and the rays of electric lamp, conducted or thrown into the windpipe and its divisions, as well as into the esophagus, can corroborate, refine, or refute the suspicion or the diagnosis of the expert. If properly recognized as cancer there is then only one answer—immediate operation.

Fortunately the surgery of the chest has sufficiently advanced to enable the operator of today not only to reach every organ in the chest, but to reach it safely. Methods have been evolved to deal properly with the troubles mentioned and give the patient his only chance.

A medicine, a pill, or a salve prescribed for these troubles, by some one who does not know, means delay in doing the correct thing, means destroying the hope for a definite cure.

SCIENTIST DEAD
 LONDON (AP).—Martyr to science, Dr. John Francis Hall-Edwards, a pioneer in the use of X-rays, is dead after 23 years of suffering. He won a Carnegie hero medal.

All birds have a temperature of 104, which would kill humans. So don't fly around too much.

Fashion Notes

NEWEST IN PARASOLS
 Bizarre parasols, novel in length, shape and color, have been brought out in "fascially" and on the Strand in London this season as a result of the hot wave. Two women out of three are carrying sunshades this summer.

One parasol was shaped like a miniature bell tent, circular at the bottom and going into a long, pointed end at the ferrule. The cover was of green silk, striped with orange, and the handle was extremely long—about three times the length of the parasol itself.

Another striking parasol was square with a deep rim around the edge from which hung a fringe.

NO EVENING STOCKINGS
 Some of Mayfairs smarted women again adopted the "no-socking" fashion for evening wear during the hot spell, but so well were various shades of powder used that it was difficult to detect whether they were or were not wearing stockings. Special shades of colored powder were artistically used to match the gowns worn, and some completed the illusion by having a faint line to simulate the seam of stocking painted down the back of the leg.

SNAIL-SHELL HATS
 London women have gone to the martens and hedgehogs for something new in hat styles, and have evolved a type for the "fall" which is almost an exact replica of the snail-shell.

The colors used in the make-up—green and gray—assist the illusion created by the snail-like swathing of the drapery.

The Neapolitan fisherman's hat often has been copied in knitted material for seaside wear, but Bond Street milliners have appropriated the shape for their smartest felt creations and are producing it in many colors.

Miss Portland

Miss Portland, Miss Seattle and Miss Spokane will pass through La Grande this evening on train No. 13, arriving here at 8:20 o'clock, on the way to Atlantic City to compete in the national beauty contest to be held there. Word was received by J. H. Keeney Saturday from C. J. Collins, general passenger agent for the Union Pacific system, telling of their arrival here.

These young women have been the choice of the people of their respective cities to represent them in the national contest. They are traveling in especially decorated cars and efforts are being made by the U. P. officials to make this part of their trip to Atlantic City the most interesting. Special receptions and other entertainment features have been arranged for them on the train and at the various towns where they will stop.

A delegation of La Grande people will meet them at the train this evening to welcome them and wish them luck as they pass through the city.

GRANGERS AND SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES MEET

TELECASTER, Aug. 16. (Special)—Joint meetings of Sunday school classes and grangers here are proving very successful and are building up both organizations. At a recent meeting considerable sentiment was expressed because highway authorities will not allow leaders to cross the highway to assist in saving the crops in this district, and it is likely that another investigation will be made of the matter.

A lecturer's program, directed by Mrs. J. G. Anson, was held. The numbers follow: song "Wildbird"; address G. V.
