SEEK PERFECT WOMAN

DURHAM, N. H.—The perfect woman is yet to be found. Revelation to farmer's wives by Dr. Eugene Lyman Fiske of the results of the examination of 100,000 women in 12 years by the life extension institute, N. Y. As steps toward perfection, however, he urged marriage and scrubbing of faces.

OUT OUR WAY

By WILLIAMS

AT THE THEATERS

"Aloma" Promises to Prove Big Sensation

A young American on a South Sea Isle—drinking himself right down to the gutter. A brown-skinned dancer who adores him because he once defied her. Tropical nights—the surf pounding away—and love.

Enter a native who longs for the girl. He swears vengeance if anything should happen to her. Then along comes an old sweetheart, now married to the lad's best friend. What happens? Remember—there are sharks—who "prefer white meat to brown"—sharks in the lagoon. And racing tonight. South Sea dances—oh well, one has to see "Aloma of the South Seas" to appreciate it.

This picture, which opens a three day engagement at the Arcade theater today, marks Gilda Gray's debut as a Paramount star. Maurice Tourneur directed it. The cast includes such players as Percy Marmont, Julianne Johnston, William Powell and Wagner Baxter.

Miracle Dog Stars in Picture Showing at Star

"The Miracle Dog of the Movies" otherwise, "The Dog of the Great" is the bright shining star at the Star theater today, Friday and Saturday in the new Gotham Production, "The Sign of the Claw."

This picture is slated to be one of the greatest novelties of the season owing to the fact that it is the first photodrama ever made featuring a dog star in which every scene is laid in a big city—all pro-

Shasta Limited to Be Routed Through K. F.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Aug. 19. (AP)—The Shasta Limited, creek Southern Pacific Portland-San Francisco train, will be routed through Klamath Falls over the new "Sawtooth" line immediately. The road bed is in position to handle it, in the opinion of E. S. McGowan, passenger traffic manager of the road here yesterday.

"Her Market Value," Starring Agnes Ayres, At Sherrys

Gripping drama, sparkling comedy and intimate peeps into the lives of members of the smart set are closely interwoven in "Her Market Value," a Paul Powell production starring Agnes Ayres and featuring Andrea Randolph, at Sherry.

WORTH MILLIONS

NEW YORK—A business started 25 years ago with the peddling of messages from a basket now has an annual gross income of $5,000,000 a year ago, Adolf Gohlsch's heirs have sold out to Wall Street bankers, who have taken note of the increasing purchases by apartment house dwellers from the delicatessen stores.

Spending class. It's principal character is Nancy Dumont, widow of a suicide stock broker who has left her penniless and in debt. To keep her front want and the appalling knowledge of her late husband's fortunes, three male friends, two of them married and the other an unsuccessful author for her hand, make up a pool of forty thousand dollar and turn it over to her as a legacy.

It is difficult to imagine the outcome of this extraordinary situation but it is sufficient to keep the interest keyed up to the highest pitch until the last foot of film has been unrolled.

For Eight Cents A Day

Perhaps you've always regarded the telephone as an expensive luxury—beyond your means?
Is eight cents a day too much to pay for the luxury of being within a few seconds' talking distance of everyone else who is on the 'phone'? After all, nearly everyone is one the 'phone'—your friends, your stores, your doctor, your theater, your office. A luxury did we say? Isn't the telephone a practical need of modern life?
Why aren't you on the 'phone'?
