AT THE THEATERS

Condor Villain
In Rin-Tin-Tin Film
At Sherrys

In Warner Bros' production of "The Night Cry," at Sherry's starring Rin-Tin-Tin and featuring June Marlowe and John Harron. Bozo, the only California condor in captivity in America, portrays the role of the villain.
He weighs 40 pounds, has a wing-spread of 10 feet 2 inches, and belongs to the largest species of bird in the world. A hundred years ago the California condor was a common sight from the mountains of Lower California to those of Washington, but now only a few of the great birds of prey are left in Southern and Lower California, where they are threatened with extinction.

The fact that a pair of California condors raise only one bird in a nesting period of six months, which may occur only every two to four years, is one of the greatest reasons why they are so scarce.
To quote from the National Geographic Magazine of August, 1923, however, "the main cause for the decrease in condor numbers seems to be that, when stock-raising became common in California years ago, in order to secure pasturage during the dry months, the ranchers were compelled to drive their herds back into the more remote mountainous parts. Here they invaded the retreats of panthers, grizzlies, and coyotes. These predatory animals and sheep. The quickest and best device for getting rid of these animals was by baiting the carcasses with poison. Since condors came to feed on the carcasses, many of these birds were killed in this way."

As long as they killed their own prey, which they carried to their safe, but when they yielded to mountain fastnesses, they were safe, but when they yielded to the temptation of feeding on the carcass which these predatory animals left, they sealed their own doom.
Herman Raymaker directed "The Night Cry," based on the story led street. Price $3650; terms, 5-room nearly new bungalow, in commodious, price $1750, liberal terms. Call Lowell Williamson, Security Land & Savings Co. 8-20-2t

"Sign of Claw"
Showing at Star Tonight

Just when the average photo-play patron decides he is "fed up" with the movies, along comes a picture which literally makes him sit up and take notice and arouses fresh interest.
Such a film is "The Sign of the Claw," a Gotham Production featuring "Peter the Great," which is now at the Star theater.
The Gotham people announce "Peter" as "The Miracle Dog of the Movies" and for once at least the press agent is not far wrong. This unusual canine certainly tops the list of dog stars as his work is so smooth and natural as to make it appear that he does his stunts just for the fun of it.

The story carries a well defined plot relating to a young patrolman who is put on detective duty to run down a band of crooks. To complicate matters the leader of crooks is also a rival of the detective for the hand of a girl.
One of the most interesting of the many thrilling incidents in a scene where the hero is placed unconscious in a steel cage which has been charged with electricity. The actions of "Peter the Great" in trying to figure out what is wrong are something which must be seen to be appreciated. Unlike most dog pictures, this one is laid out in a familiar way.
A well balanced cast of such reliable screen artists as Ethel Shannon, Edward Hearn, Lee Shumway and Joe Bennett portray the leading roles.
"The Sign of the Claw," a comedy and Pathé News will be shown for the last time at the Star theater today.

Gilda Gray
Finds Screen
Success in "Aloma"

Last night, on leaving the Arcade theater, your correspondent could still hear the tom-toms playing, the wind whirring, and see the swaying, jerking against a tropical shore. That's the effect Maurice Tourneur's latest Paramount gives one. He has handled "Aloma of the South Seas" as perhaps no other director could have done.
Gilda Gray, famed for her dancing, now comes in for her share of the cinema spotlight. Miss Gray is starred in this production and plays a character her former film was something of a woman. After all, many fine dramatic acts have started out in life as dancers, and who knows before long, Gilda may be counted among the elite of the screen? Certainly, if she keeps going at the pace she has set for herself—Mary Pickford and Norma Talmadge had better watch their laurels!

It is only fair to give credit to those who deserve it. And so—the names of Percy Marmont, Warner Baxter, Julian Johnston, William Powell, Harry Morey and Joseph Sullivan should be included in this eulogy. Each does full justice to his or her part.
"Aloma of the South Seas" traces the story of Aloma, a South Sea dancer, and her love for Bob Holden, a disillusioned young American, who agrees to marry the girl. His former sweetheart appears on the scene. What happens then and how all problems are solved by means of a tropical storm, a shark fight and a rescue, provide the movie-goer with more thrills than he or she will know what to do with.
Don't miss "Aloma," it will be shown at the Arcade theater today and Saturday.

NEW YORK—Fanny Hurst has sympathy for avenged geniuses whom the world ignores, though they are unmissable. A good lady in Los Angeles who is suing her for $500,000 for plagiarism, Fanny says, is only one of hundreds who feel likewise aggrieved. She gets complaints in the mail daily.
It sounds unreasonable, but if you travel far enough in the open you'll get to where you can't smell hot dogs.

WHEN WE THINK THE OTHER FELLOW KNOWS
Some people would be far better off if they used their own judgment rather than placing so much confidence in the judgment of the other fellow. The lack of self confidence has cost many a man a considerable sum. If we were able to think as fast as the other fellow can talk, likely our judgment would save us money.

The latest and greatest development in motor fuel

GENERAL (?) GASOLINE

$1000.00 in cash for a name!

This gasoline was especially developed for hydroplanes. On May 30th it broke the world's record. Now it is ready for your motor car—the latest and greatest achievement in gasoline production.

There is no sacrifice of gas miles for additional power. It takes less of this new motor fuel to cover the distance.

$1,000 in cash for a name
We want a new name for this new and greater gasoline—a name that will be fitting for a motor fuel that is really worth a higher price but costs the same as ordinary gasoline.

Here's what this new gasoline does!
Gives a noticeable increase in power and pick-up the year 'round
Less carbon deposit
A noticeable increase in gas miles
No fuel knocks
No pitted valves or fouled spark plugs
Lower transportation cost
No crank-case dilution

Here's why you get these results!
This new gasoline is highly volatile and perfectly balanced. Every drop vaporizes and ignites instantly.
No acids or sulphur to pit valves and eat metal. Less carbon-producing compound.

Can you name it?
$1,000 in cash will be paid!
To the man, woman or child in Washington, Oregon, British Columbia or California (excepting employees of the General Petroleum Corporation and their families) who submits the name that is chosen by the judges as being the best, $1,000 in cash will be paid.
Every General Independent Dealer is now pumping this new and greater gasoline that is worth a premium but costs no more. Try the new gasoline. Then submit your name for the thousand-dollar prize.

Entry blanks from dealers
You may write your name on the coupon at the corner of this advertisement, or any General Independent Dealer will gladly supply you with additional entry blanks. Ask for them the next time you buy gasoline.
Drain your crank-case and fill up with Parabase. It's your insurance for as perfect a motor at the end of the run as at the beginning. For Parabase use Parabase.

Rules of the Contest
1. $1,000.00 in cash will be awarded by the General Petroleum Corporation for the name that is the best, in the opinion of the judges, for the new General (?) Gasoline.
2. In case of a tie all tying contestants will receive the full amount of the prize.
3. The contest officially opens August 2nd and closes August 31st. All entries bearing the August 31st postmark will be judged.
4. The following well-known advertising authorities and executives of the General Petroleum Corporation will act as judges:
R. A. Sperry, Gen. Mgr., General Petroleum Corp.; Wm. Walker, Director of Sales, General Petroleum Corp.; L. Hoffman-Phisher, Ad. Mgr., General Petroleum Corp.; W. H. B. Fowler, San Francisco Chronicle; A. G. Raby, Seattle Times; W. M. Hoshing, Long Beach Press-Telegram;
W. J. Hoffmann, Portland Oregonian; S. E. Peacock, Pacific Coast Mgr., N. W. Ayer & Son.
5. In judging the names the judges will award:
Up to 75 points for usefulness of name (descriptive value, adaptability to advertising, sales appeal, etc.).
Up to 15 points for originality of name.
Up to 10 points if name is written on blank obtained from a General Independent Dealer.
6. The decision of the judges is to be final.
7. Each contestant may submit as many names as he likes.
8. Only those names written on blanks or coupons which are completely filled out will be judged.
9. Entries in Washington, Oregon, California and British Columbia, excepting employees of the General Petroleum Corporation and members of their families, is eligible to compete.
