GAINES WON'T PLEA INSANITY

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 21. (AP)—While Wallace C. Gaines today, in the cell once occupied by James E. Mahoney of this city, hanged five years ago for killing his wife, Kate, and striking her body in a trunk in a lake, awaited efforts to cancel or avoid his conviction Thursday by killing Sylvia Howard Gaines, his counsel announced that he "will never enter a plea of insanity."

In the cell every movement of Gaines, whom the jury condemned to death for first degree murder was visible from the office of the county jail, always occupied by keepers.

Privileges Discontinued.—
The prisoner was reported to have rested well in the night. He began the day with a request for a mirror that he might shave. He was told to use a mirror allowed to all prisoners in his section of the jail but that he could not have a special one. Jailers said many privileges permitted Gaines since his arrest June 25 had been discontinued.

Motion for a new trial comes before Judge Jones September 1, when he returns from a vacation on which he departed yesterday after the labors of the Gaines trial, which opened August 2.

Police Chief Spearing announced that he had renewed an inquiry into who received from Miss Thomas Holmes, of Bellingham, Wash., a watch for carrying a pistol & which she found near the spot on Green lake levee, where Miss Gaines was killed and which she gave to a man she took to be a plainclothes policeman. Testimony by Miss Holmes was offered near the end of the trial, but excluded on the ground that admission would occasion unwarranted delay.

Prosecutor Edwin stated that other additional evidence against Gaines had been obtained by Sheriff Sturwicks, under Sheriff Hutchinson, and Luke S. May, a private detective.

More Evidence Gathered.—
"We would have a much stronger case if a new trial were granted," declared Convin. "Some of this new evidence would lessen the weight of testimony by defense witnesses."

If the motion for a new trial is denied, a new defense counsel, "we shall appeal to the supreme court."

Lawyers said the only hope if the supreme court refused to intervene was that Governor Hartley might listen to pleas for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

Spent Night Here—
After spending last night in La Grande Mrs. Carl Snodgrass and son, John, and daughter, Norma, returned this morning to "Telegraph" where they have been living this summer. They plan to move to La Grande sometime within the next two weeks.

Word of Death Received Here—
News of the death of Mrs. Sarah Jessie Elston, sister-in-law of Mrs. D. Scott, of this city, was received here this week. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. P. Forsyth, in Vancouver, Wash., August 12, after several weeks illness. She was 78 years old at the time of her death. The funeral was held last Sunday.

Fined $25 and Cost—
J. W. Collins arrested last night by George Pierce, prohibition agent, on a canned heat charge, was fined $25 by Justice Hugh E. Brady today on charges of assault and battery. Officers report that while Pierce was bringing Collins to the jail an altercation arose in which Collins knocked Pierce down and hit him several times in the face. Policeman Harold Howard came to Pierce's rescue, the police report.

Attended Family Reunion—
Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hodgkin and daughter, Sylvia, returned to their home here this morning after a five weeks' absence. While away they attended a reunion of the Hodgkin family held at Greensboro, North Carolina, when more than 1,000 members of Hodgkin family were in attendance. They also visited in South Carolina. They went to Washington, D. C., New York and other places of interest. They also spent a part of the time in Canada.

Returned to Home Here—
Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Wissler and little daughter, Katherine, returned to their home here yesterday after a trip east by auto. They went from here to Philadelphia where Mr. Wissler attended a convention of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, which he represents here. They also attended the acceptance of the Mutual Life company at Philadelphia. From there they went to New York, Washington, D. C., and other places of interest. They visited Canton, Ohio, and from there went to Chicago, where they left their car before going farther east. While traveling through Iowa en route home they had an automobile accident. Their car was thrown over a 25-foot embankment and all three were hurt. Katherine was the most seriously hurt. She is still under the doctor's care, but is able to be about. She was compelled to use crutches for about two weeks. While their car was being repaired they visited relatives in Lincoln, Nebraska. From there they came through Denver and Salt Lake City home. Except for the accident they had a delightful time. Mrs. Wissler writes: "A trip east makes us like Oregon all the more."

Coroner Halston announced yesterday afternoon that in the event of death, he would hold no inquest. Miss Davis is survived by her parents and sister Edna, and three brothers, Guy, Frank and Claire. Had she lived until Aug. 28 she would have been 22 years of age.

sea, it sprang a leak. Boat Sinks Rapidly
Water rushed into the hold of the boat rapidly, and it was only a matter of a few minutes before the ship sank. The three lifeboats battled the large waves for more than an hour until the Mattland, bound for Canada, crowded their course and was attracted by the distress flares shot from the boats.

Captain Heyman of the Mattland put his car ferry about and picked up two of the lifeboats. The third could not be seen. Captain Heyman, it was announced in a message from the radio operator of the Mattland, stood by until daylight and then started a search for the missing boat.

In removing the water restrictions, the city manager declared that it might be necessary to place them in effect later, if another dry period should come.
