MULDOON WON'T WRITE
NEW YORK—William Muldoon would rather help boxing in New York than take $5,000 for telling what he thinks of Dempsey and Knickerbocker. He has refused an offer to write about them because of his official position.

OUT OUR WAY

Billy Evans Says:

CASE OF CAREY
One short year can bring about a terrific change in the status of a major league baseball star.

I have in mind the case of Max Carey of the Pittsburgh team, world champion.

Pittsburgh acquired the title of world champions last fall by defeating Washington. No player was more responsible for the winning of baseball's greatest honor than Max Carey.

Less than a year has passed and Max Carey, the outstanding star of the 1925 world series, has been erased from the roster of the Pirates.

He has passed to Brooklyn over the waiver route, as a result of certain differences with the powers that be of the Pittsburgh club.

Mistaken as it is, the way the unfair has been characterized by President Heydler of the National

Longfellow stepped in today with another poem. The old nursery rhyme, "Old King Cole" to read as follows:

"Old King Cole,
Lived at the North Pole.
In the land of the polar bears,
He called up Claud Pratt.
For a short business chat,
For he knew he was honest and square.

"Here are no summer breezes,
Your breath fairly freezes,
But they keep up a full head of steam.

It is good Royal Coal,
That they burn at the pole,
All slack taken out with a screen."

Now he said, "Mr. Pratt,
What I want to get at,
Since you are such a good judge of coal,"

That this good Royal brand
Will every test stand,
Has got all and every kind beat."

And his face fairly shone,
As he sat on his throne,
And he called to his eskimoes three.

And he filled up his bowl,
And sang "Royal Coal,"
"Till the place fairly sang with his glee.

And Pratt's customers know,
As they watch the bright glow,
That Royal is king of them all.

And, Oh! What a pleasure,
You get such good measure,
On orders both heavy and small.

And we wish him good will
As we watch our bin fill
With Royal so shining and black.

So do not delay,
Phone your orders today
For Royal. No clunkers or slack."

Buy your coal of Claud C. Pratt,
Then you'll know just where you're at.

win for Pittsburgh by scoring two runs and making the same number of hits in a 6-3 triumph.

In the game that evening up the series at three, Pittsburgh winning 3-2, Carey scored one of the trio of runs so necessary to victory.

It was in the deciding game of the play-off that Carey did his greatest work at the bat. In five trips to the plate against Walter Johnson, he made four hits, including three doubles. His final two-base hit played a big part in the winning of that memorable fracas.

That is all Max Carey did in the winning of the world championship by Pittsburgh last fall.

The reign of the baseball hero is short.

DEMPSEY GETS LICENSE
PHILADELPHIA—Father Poon has done something that Father Knickerbocker refused to do, Jack Dempsey has a boxing license. The number is 3151. Two of the digits indicate that general opinion of Father Knickerbocker's speculative fraternity as to Dempsey's position among the heavyweights after September 23.

GIRL TO TESTIFY
SAN FRANCISCO—Witnesses at the inquest into the death of Rear Admiral George H. Ashley will include Miss Helen C. Ashley, the officers' nurse-financier, to whom he bequeathed $75,000 shortly after his death. The hearing will be held September 1.

Why We Have Salesmen

If, by substituting untrained, poorly paid clerks, who would merely take your money and wrap up your purchases, for our highly trained, well-paid salesmen whose personal interest, advice and assistance is so valuable to you in your shopping, we could serve you more economically or efficiently than we now do, we would cheerfully make the change.

But, since it is too much to expect that everybody shall be "grocery educated"—know the relative value and desirability of different brands and products—and folks are not content with mere mechanical food-vending—we prefer to continue to give you the highest quality foods at the lowest prices obtainable plus the sort of helpful, personal service found only in Skaggs Stores.
