POLITICAL MEN SEE PRESIDENT

PAUL SMITHS, N. Y., Aug. 28. (AP)—A visit to the United States veterans' bureau hospital at Tupper lake and the reception of a few visitors are among the engagements that confront President Coolidge this week.

The trip to the hospital, 20 miles from the summer white house, will be made Wednesday. Today Matthews C. Brush, of New York City, president of the American International corporation and an old friend of Mrs. Coolidge, is a luncheon guest at White Pine camp. Tomorrow Will H. Hays, directing head of the American picture industry, will be received.

Representative Ogden L. Mills, of New York, who with Mrs. Mills had luncheon at the summer white house yesterday, did not discuss politics with the president, it was said. Mr. and Mrs. Mills have been visiting at the camp of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, widow of the former ambassador to London, and Mr. Mills asserted that during his vacation he had lost touch with the political situation. The New York representative who had been mentioned as a possible republican candidate for governor, is the third political figure in this state to visit the president here. The others were Senator Wadsworth and Bernard S. Koenig, chairman of the party's New York county committee.

STARTS PAPER PHISS

PAUL SMITHS, N. Y., Aug. 28. (AP)—Pressing a button at the summer executive offices here, President Coolidge today started the presses for the first edition of the New York Evening Post to be run off in the newspaper's new building located at 75 West street, New York City.

LAYING STEEL FOR NEW ROAD

UNION, Aug. 28. (Special)—The work of building a logging railroad into the timber along Catherine creek belonging to the Grande Ronde Lumber company is well along and will be completed this fall, according to a report from J. P. Hogeman who is superintending the work. Only about three miles remain to be graded and the steel rail gang arrived and began laying the track last week. Mr. Hogeman says that logs will be coming out from the timber holdings by the first of November.

should expect in 1927, prices more in line with world prices. Farmers in sections which normally have a large corn acreage should also keep in mind, in making a shift in wheat acreage, that the present unfavorable situation for corn is not likely to be repeated next year. In planning production, farmers should endeavor to find out what producers in competing countries are doing.

"The areas sown in wheat in competing export countries outside of Russia and the Danube countries expanded considerably during the war and have been maintained or continued to expand since the war. With average yields foreign competition probably will be maintained and may be slightly increased."

KEATON IS BACK TO FILM OREGON

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 28. (AP)—Buster Keaton, motion picture comedian, and a number of the members of his company arrived in Cottage Grove yesterday for about three weeks work on cutbacks and fill-ins for his new motion picture "The General." Mr. Keaton and his company left recently when forest fires made further filming impossible because of dense smoke in the region of the motion picture undertaking.

With Keaton on his return yesterday were Marion Mack, leading lady; Fred Gabourie, producer; Bert Jackson, location man; Christine Francis, scenarist; Frank Barnes, chief of construction; Clyde Blockman, assistant director and Mrs. Brockman; Fred Wright, chief mechanic and Buster's double; Jimmie Bryant, a "raider"; and all of the camera crew.

Rides Horse Six Miles After Shot Breaks Hip

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 28. (AP) —Rowe E. Bissel, 21, of Willamina, Ore., was reported in fair condition at a hospital today after being brought there yesterday suffering from a broken hip, caused by the accidental discharge of a rifle while hunting in the mountainous region near Willamina. He first rode on a horse about six miles to a ranger station. From there he was carried on a stretcher by 25 men until he was taken aboard an ambulance and brought to the hospital.
