Sox Sensation

One of the sensations of the American League season has been Bill Hunsfield, rookie infielder with the Chicago White Sox. "Honey boy," as the fans term him, has been hitting and fielding in stellar style all year. His work on the bases has also been of a high order. Next to Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees, Hunsfield is generally considered the greatest "find" of the 1926 campaign.

Billy Evans Says:

SHOWING OF REDS

One of the interesting features of the National league race this year has been the spirited showing of the Reds under Manager Jack Hendricks.

"I conceded to leave about the best pitching in the majors, a tight defense but only a fair offense, the club has always been in the running.

On such a ball club everything moves along smoothly until the pitching falters. A let down on the part of the twirlers, as a rule, destroys much of the club's efficiency. Often it makes for an immediate slump in other departments of play.

If the Reds fail to go over this year, lack of power will stand out as one of the necessary assets that was lacking in the pinch.

When the Cincinnati pitchers have failed to hold the opposition to a reasonably low score, the club has found the road to victory rather rough.

Many Punchers Sign Up For Roundup at Weiser

VALLE, Ore., Sept. 1.—Cow hands at the Weiser roundup this year, September 9-10-11, have their work all stacked for them.

Already reservations have been filed for more than twenty stellar performers, including such top hands as Charlie Irvin, Claude Sawyer, Mabel and Hugh Strickland, Ed McCarly, Louis Cultr, Cy Gray, H. Slaughter, Myrie Palmer, Fred Hunt, Dona Cowan and Josephine Showy.

pennant chances with Manager Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals he was positive his club had one of the necessary assets to win a championship—power.

While Hornsby didn't say as much, to any student of the game it was apparent that he expected Jim Bottomley and himself to supply much of the power.

Pendletonian Drives a 9th Tee Shot 300 Yards

PENDLETON, Sept. 1.—Dan Bowman is being congratulated by his friends on a long drive made at the Pendleton Golf club last Friday. Mr. Bowman in a beautiful clean, shot, drove the ball from the ninth tee to the home green, a distance of 300 yards. The ball was but six feet from the cup when it stopped.

Even Money Is Wagered On Cardinals' Chances

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—With Pittsburgh at the top of the National League and St. Louis and Cincinnati tied for second place, betting here today was even that the Cardinals will win out in the long run.

The three leading teams are more closely bunched than at any time since 1925, when New York, Chicago and Pittsburgh hit the finish line abreast and a play-off was necessary.

The Yankees are expected to open the American league race and the world series will probably be opened at the Yankee stadium about October 2.

Duke Kahanamoka Won't Accept Prize

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—His amateur standing and the privilege of entering the next Olympic games for a crack at the crown he lost to Johnny Weismuller mean more to Duke Kahanamoka, three-time Olympic champion swimmer, than a $25,000 prize.

The Hawaiian merman announced here that he will attempt to swim the channel between Santa Catalina Island and the California mainland, three weeks hence, but will not swim for the $25,000 prize being up for later competition by William Wrigley, Jr., which would make him a professional.

Round-Up City Planning On Real Football Squad

PENDLETON, Sept. 1.—Bob Quinn, coach of the Pendleton High School Bluejackets, hopes to put a fighting aggregation in the field this year to represent the city of Pendleton. Fresh from two seasons under Paul Schissler at Oregon Agricultural college and summer training under the great Kaute Rockne of Notre Dame, Quinn is well qualified to take over the football reins at the local school.

He has hopes of getting his squad out this week, possibly tonight if the weather permits for pre-season work in getting kinks out of muscles and other preliminary work.
