BASE STEALING IS ON DECREASE
Leaders in Majors Not Expected to Reach 40 Mark This Year.

(By Billy Evans)
American League Cauter
While baserunning in the major leagues may not be a lost art, there is no denying that the business of stealing bases has suffered a decided slump.

One need only glance at the averages to verify such a statement.

Back in 1925, Sam Rice, fleet outfielder of the Washington Americans, won for himself the title of Man O' War, by his ground-speed. He stole 62 bases that year.

In 1915, Ty Cobb led the American League in stolen bases with 96, just four shy of a century of thefts, in 16 other seasons he stole 40 or more bases.

UNDER 10 MARK
To date this season, Sam Rice leads the American League in the matter of thefts, yet his record shows only 20 stolen bases in 112 games.

In practically the same number of contests Hazen Cuyler of Pittsburg tops the National list with 25.

It is very doubtful if any player in either major league hits the 40 mark, in stolen bases this season, a very ordinary performance 10 years back.

Base running may not be a lost art or some inset, but it certainly has strayed considerably.

SLEMP OF GIANTS
The recent slump of the New York Giants in the final invasion of the west, has put a decided crimp in what appeared to be a very good chance of McGraw's club to come from behind to win.

It is a known fact that a club finishing at home in a tight race, has certain advantages over the club that is on the road.

Touring the country in sleepers doesn't help the condition of any ball club. And while playing on the home grounds may not offer any particular help to the players, still the shouts of encouragement from the home fans is more pleasing than the jeers that usually greet a visiting club.

It is a proven fact that no major league baseball club ever thrived on criticism. Cheers have always been a far better tonic than jeers.

FINISH ON ROAD
In this respect, the schedule of the National League favors the New York club, it being at home most of the month or September, while Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis virtually finish on the road.

However, the Giants appear to be slowly drifting out of the pennant picture before the last home stand arrives.

It is a pretty safe bet there will be numerous changes on the New York Giants before the opening of next season.

As I looked over the club in the south, it seemed to me that there was no better club in the National League. Yet there is a chance the Giants may not even finish in the first division.

Failures of the pitching staff to come up to expectations and an off-year for so great a star as Frankie Frisch, are a few of the contributing factors.

WORLD SERIES BEGIN ON OCT. 2

Plans for Annual Baseball Classic Being Made in Pittsburg Today

PITTSBURG, Sept. 11 (AP)—The world series this year will open October 2 in the city of the American league pennant winning club, it was decided here today by Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis and representatives of the leading teams in the American and National leagues. The second game will be played in the American league city also.

The third, fourth and fifth games will be played in the city of the pennant winning national league club.

In the event sixth and seventh games are necessary, they will be played in the American league city.

Games Start 1:30 P. M.

All games of the series will be started at 1:30 p. m. standard time in the city of play.

Should the series be played between New York or Philadelphia clubs except for the armistice day games, negotiations have been started for a game that day with some western Oregon team Salem, Eugene or Corvallis. A letter has also been sent to the Dallas.

The challenger, is confident that he will win the championship, he does not believe that Dempsey's bludgehammer blows can hurt him. For he has convinced himself that he can take it. He believes that he can hit hard enough to knock Dempsey out. The challenger expects to win by a knock out.

DEMSEY OUTLINES PLANS
ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 11 (AP)—Jack Dempsey always fights the other fellows way. And this principle is to be the basis of his tactics when defending his title from Gene Tunney.

"I always fight the other fellow's way," the champion said, "I figure that if I'm champion I ought to be good enough to match any style of fighting that is put before me. If I fought in the same manner in each fight some clever fellow would be able to fathom the weak points in that style and beat me. Therefore I always let the other fellow start something and I try my best to finish it, like he started it."

GENE PLANS TO WIN BY A KAYO

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 11 (AP)—Gene Tunney's boxing program was ordered reduced to four rounds today to guard against the possibility of too fine an edge early. He has been going six rounds each afternoon and much of the time in Speculator he boxed eight rounds.

Tunney is himself pleased with his condition at the moment. Lou Pink, his trainer and Billy Gilson, his manager, share his satisfaction.

The challenger, is confident that he will win the championship, he does not believe that Dempsey's bludgehammer blows can hurt him. For he has convinced himself that he can take it. He believes that he can hit hard enough to knock Dempsey out. The challenger expects to win by a knock out.
